AMSTERDAM, N. Y., April 8.—Three men were killed and between twenty-five and forty persons seriously injured and a score or more less seriously injured in a double collision on the New York Central Railroad at Henrietta, a mile and a half west of here this afternoon.

A freight train was derailed on what is known as track No. 4 and the Empire State Express, No. 51, westbound, dashed into the freight wreck. The boiler of the engine of the expresse exploded, hurling the engineer over 100 feet. He and the fireman are two of the dead.

ALL HANDS JOIN IN FIGHTING FIRE

A few moments later local passenger train No. 16, eastbound from Utica, ran into the wreckage. According to reports from the scene of the wreck, its speed was diminished and damage was not great.

The wreckage caught fire and a carload of blooded horses which were in the freight train was in danger of cremation. All hands fought the fire and assistance from Amsterdam was summoned to help fight the flames.

Ambulances from Amsterdam soon reached the scene of the wreck with doctors and nurses. First aid was rendered the injured and the seriously hurt were rushed to a local hospital. According to reports from the hospital more than twenty-five cases have been received within an hour and a half after the wreck.

COMPANY REPORTS FORTY INJURED

The New York Central issued the following statement at 2 o'clock.

"At 12:20 p. m. a special food train eastbound on track No. 4 had several cars derailed about one and a half miles west of Amsterdam, N. Y. The derailment was caused either by an air hose bursting or something breaking underneath one of the cars.

"Train 51, the Empire State Express, westbound, approaching at high speed on track 2, struck the derailed freight cars, derailing the engine, combination car and coach of No. 51.

"Train 16, east bound, the New York and New England Express, running on track 1, collided with the derailed cars of No. 51, overturning the No. 1 engine and two or three cars of No. 16. About forty passengers were reported more or less injured.

"Physicians from Amsterdam and Schenectady are on the ground

"Telegraph wires are down, interfering with communication and little information is available."

Bryan Summoned As Plot Witness

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Former Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan was subpenaed at Little Rock, Ark., Saturday night and will arrive here Thursday to testify as a witness for Ram Chandra, in the Hindu conspiracy plot, before Judge Van Fleet.

Chandra, who is a defendant in this charge, alleges that excerpts from Bryan's book "British Rule in India" were used by the Hindus as revolutionary propaganda to disrupt the British rule in India.

Dutch Minister to Sail for Home

WASHINGTON, April 8.—There were reports circulated about the Capitol this morning that the Dutch minister August Phillips, is about to sail for Holland. It was understood that this did not mean he was recalled, but it is known that he has not been in the best of health and was undertaking the journey partly for his health and partly for the purpose of conferring with the foreign office at The Hague.

Texas Rangers Kill Chase Mexican Bandits

MARATHON, Tex., April 8.—An engagement betwen Texas rangers and twenty Mexican bandits was reported in a message received here today from Captain Bates of Company F of the ranger force, who telegraphed from San Petuna that his men there killed two of the bandits, wounded several others and chased the remainder into the hills.

THROUGHOUT COUNTRY BOND QUOTAS WILL BE EXCEEDED

CAMPAIGN FOR BOND SALE HAS REAL OPENING

Seventy-Eight Cities and Counties in Eeven Western States Have Right to Fly Honor Flag —Some Double Their Quota

Today's early reports from the seven States comprising the Twelfth Federal reserve district placed the first day's subscriptions to the third Liberty loan at about $95,000,000, with the sales campaign not well started. The district's full quota is $210,000,000.

Twenty-eight honor flags have been awarded to cities and counties for attaining their full quotas. Of these Oregon carried away twenty-two.

Sixty other counties and cities have applied for honor flags. Madera county, California, was the first county to complete its quota. Mosier, Ore., was the first town to report its full allotment subscribed. Both of these subscribed their full quotas before the loan drive opened at 9 o'clock Saturday.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The third Liberty loan will be a people's loan. This was the conclusion taken today from the still uncounted mass of despatches that have flooded the treasury, bearing testimony from hundreds of small towns, entire counties and rural districts, of their right to fly the honor flag for completion of the full quota.

OFFICIALS WITHHOLD EARLY ESTIMATES

Estimates of the amount subscribed during the first few rush hours are still withheld by treasury officials, owing to the unprecedented swarm of claims from every quarter that quotas were oversubscribed, doubled and trebled. This early success has been attributed to pre-campaign activity on the part of the loan committee to secure the honors for first getting their quotas subscribed and the Liberty loan directors are warning against overconfidence at the first bright flush of victory.

The campaign is having its real start today, the first full business day, without the celebration and pageantry. Every community has declared it will not stop at the full quota. New York is ambitious to subscribe one-half of the entire amount of the loan, and having won the right to fly the honor flag, towns and cities are eager to double the quota to wear the additional star. America has taken to the honor flags with the spirit and pride that the homes display the service flag, and the race presses forward among the states to win the first distinguished place on the nation's honor roll.

OPENING DEFERRED CAMPAIGN IN ST. LOUIS

Vice-President Marshall is opening the deferred campaign in St. Louis, because of bad weather Saturday, and Secretary McAdoo is in action in Richmond, Va., on the first lap of his speaking tour.

Treasury officials will endeavor to make an estimate of the first success today and figures will be gathered from the mass of reports to give the first tangible amount from which the Liberty loan organization may base its work.

"Unsinkable" Lucia Is Safe in Europe

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The "unsinkable" American ship Lucia is safe in Europe without having been tested by a Teuton torpedo. Whether she will return without convoy and expose her unsinkableness to the U-boats is not decided, but it became known today that in her jorney across she was under convoy.

Austria and France Pass Lie to and Fro

AMSTERDAM, April 8.—The statements of the French government and ex-Premier Painleve that it was Austria, not France, which took the initiative resulting in the conversation in Switzerland concerning the possibility of opening peace negotiations, are denied by the Austrian government, which insists that France took the first step.

2d Trial of Hammond Continued Till May 20

The second trial of William Hammond of Alameda, for complicity in the forgery of a $30,000 check, was continued today in Judge Quinn's department till May 20 on stipulation of both sides.

Hammond was tried a month ago and the jury disagreed. He is charged with having conspired with E. B. L. Zimmer to pass the check in a Portland real estate transaction. Zimmer is now being held in Portland, where he was arrested.

To Place Bonds With Individuals Who Keep Them

"Sell Third Liberty Loan Bonds to individuals who will pay for them out of their own savings or investment capital and hold them for the duration of the war." That is the appeal broadcasted throughout the Twelfth Federal Reserve District today by I. W. Hellman, chairman of the Liberty Loan General Finance Committee, for the district. Hellman also issued this warning:

"The movement instituted in some quarters to have retailers pay their debts to jobbers in Liberty Bonds instead of cash would, if adopted, simply lead to the bonds being returned to the bank. The jobbers would either have to sell these bonds, thereby further depressing the market, or pay them to the manufacturers in payment of their bills."

PROBE ALLEGED "KAISER PARTY", MAYOR GIER IN DENIAL

Investigation was started today by Chairman Daniel Murphy of the Board of Supervisors into an all-day "hoch der kaiser" party alleged to have been held at Cresta Blanca, Livermore, on March 25. Colonel Theodore Gier, Oakland wine merchant, county representative on the California Development Board and State Board of Agriculture, appeared unofficially before the supervisors and denied the charge that the gathering was of a pro-German nature.

The matter was brought unofficially to the board, which deferred action until Murphy's report is made next Thursday. Colonel Gier, who was present at the board meeting today and personally interviewed all the board members in regard to the investigation which Murphy was known to have under way, denied that seditious utterances or acts had characterized the party at Cresta Blanca.

So far no evidence has been presented officially to the board.

MEMBER OF "HOCH" PARTY IS PRESENT

He admitted that Henry Loefler, one of the "hoch der kaiser" contingent convicted in the Police Court for disturbances at the Faust Cafe some time ago, was a member of the party, but asserts that only French songs were sung and French sentiments expresed.

"It is absurd," said Colonel Gier, "to say that anything of a pro-German nature was aired down at Livermore. There were seven of us in the party —all citizens of the United States—good, loyal German-Americans. We had a good time, but not too good a time. There was some singing; we sang the Marseillaise and several other French songs, but no German songs. There was nothing of that kind. Such talk is the work of someone who is continually picking on me to cause trouble. It is all nonsense."

WITNESS SOUGHT TO GIVE FULL DETAILS

According to Chairman Murphy, he was unwilling to take official cognizance of the party until an employee of the winery, who is alleged to have resented certain things that occurred, could be brought before the board to testify.

Shortly before the opening of the board meeting Chairman Murphy and Supervisor John Mullins had a meeting with Colonel Gier. Gier assured Murphy and Mullins that their information was wrong.

Explosion of Slags Shakes Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 8.—Hot slags dumped into the river at the Sparrows Point works of the Bethlehem Steel Co., early today, caused a terrific explosion, which shook the lower part of this city. It was first thought there had been a serious accident, but Chief of Police James Robb of Sparrows Point said that no accident of any kind had occurred at the steel plant. The dumping of slag into the river is a nightly occurrence, and it is generally accompanied by an explosion. This time, however, it was unusually heavy.

War Is Blamed for Girls' Delinquency

ALBANY, N. Y., April 8.—The war has increased delinquency in the state, especially among young girls, the probation commission stated in its report to the legislature, made public here. The increase was said to be greatly increased by temptations to young girls about soldiers' camps and to the attractiveness of the uniform, it was said.

OAKLAND TO EXCEED BOND QUOTA SOON

Real Work of Third Liberty Loan Drive Begins With the Assurance That All Sections of County Will Come to Fore

General Chairman Garthwaite Says Alameda and Component City Districts Will Go Well Over the Top in Quotas

The following banks of Oakland have qualified for membership in the Liberty Loan Honor Roll of 100% institutions:
Broadway Bank.
Central National Bank.
Citizens Bank of Fruitvale.
Farmers and Merchants Savings Bank.
First National Bank of Oakland
First Savings Bank of Oakland.
Italian Popular Bank.
Oakland Bank of Savings.
Portuguese American Bank.
Security Bank.
State Savings Bank.

With the encouraging knowledge that Alameda county had amassed $470,700 on Saturday with which to start the third Liberty loan drive, the work of exploiting Uncle Sam's war bonds throughout Alameda county and its component cities began in earnest today. Bright and early, under the direction of the general committee in charge of the work, earnest and patriotic workers shoulder the mammoth task which it is believed will be finished with an "over-the-top" record to the credit of the east bay community.

The banks started the ball rolling with generous support. The Saturday collections from Oakland's financial institutions alone showed the substantial sum of $277,850. This amount was diveded among the various banks as follows: Broadway Bank, $500; Central National Bank, $89,300; Citizens' Bank of Fruitvale, $1050; Farmers' and Merchants' Saving Bank, $2050; First National Bank, $48,800; First Savings Bank, $5450; Italian Popular Bank, $1250; Oakland Bank of Savings, $124,100; Security Bank, $1450; State Savings Bank, $3850.

Revisions in the quotas of the various county districts have been made by the Northern California Liberty loan state central committee. These revisions call for a total subscription apportionment of $9,442,500, divided as follows: Oakland, $6,860,500; Berkeley, $1,189,475; Alameda, $481,-725; Livermore, $182,025; San Leandro, $214,125; Centerville, $76,875; Pleasanton, $87,075; Alvarado, $52,-550; Niles, $16,425; Irvington, $24,-150, and Emeryville, $41,160.

One of the heavy contributors to the third loan will be the branch houses throughout Alameda county, according to the general committee in charge. Already notification has been sent the loan headquarters by parent concerns that contributions will be made locally from the local branches instead of through the home organizations. This will materially alter the totals of the present drive as against totals of former drives, where the loan contributions and subscriptions were made by the general headquarters in its own city, with the ensuing result that no credit was given Oakland for such contributions.

OAKLAND WILL RECEIVE FULL CREDIT

I. Harrison Clay, chairman of the branch house committee, announces that he holds communications from various parent concerns in which their employees residing in Alameda county or employed here are instructed to make their Liberty loan investments through the local committee. During the second loan drive more than $640,000 obtained in this way was credited to other cities, which this drive will accrue to Oakland's total. It is estimated that the third drive will net more than $1,-000,000 from this source.

That Alameda and its component city districts will go well over the top of the allotted quotas is the declaration of W. W. Garthwaite, general chairman of the Oakland Liberty loan committee today, who notes an unusual cooperative spirit among all classes of people toward the successful culmination of the drive. Garthwaite says:

"The remarkable conditions with which the banks of Oakland and those of the country districts were confronted Saturday when the Liberty loan of the third issue was launched has convinced the entire committee that not only will the county of Alameda as a whole go over its quota,

TEUTONS ARE DRIVEN TO SUPPORT TRENCHES

Conference Is Held With Gen. Pershing Upon the Work in Behalf of Troops Planned by the Knights of Columbus

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 8.—On the northwest of Toul Friday night the Germans attempted two raids, but both were repulsed. American infantrymen went out of their trenches on the second occasion and chased the Germans from the German first line trenches into the support trenches.

Details of the action were made public in the following official report issued last night:

"The enemy raided our trenches at two points. The first attack was repulsed easily. In the second the enemy was allowed to reach our wire entanglements. Then our fire opened and a moment later the American infantrymen rushed out in attack, driving back the foe. The pursuit was continued until the first enemy trenches were emptied and the Germans had been driven back to their support trenches.

"Enemy artillery activity was followed by extremely active shelling by

PETROGRAD, April 8.—A representative of the commissaries declared last night that not only is Germany not evacuating territories occupied before the signing of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, but is holding those occupied since.

ULTIMATUM SENT ALFONSO; DIVER WAR THREATENED

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Germany has forced Spanish ships that had cleared Spanish ports loaded with supplies for General Pershing's army in France to return to ports. This was learned this afternoon from an authoritative source.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Germany has served what amounts to an ultimatum upon Spain, demanding repudiation of the trade agreement reached between that nation and the United States. It has been made plain to the Madrid government, the Berlin despatches received here today say, that if the trade agreement is enforced, German submarines will inaugurate a general campaign of sinkings against Spanish ships bringing supplies from this country.

Great quanties of supplies that are needed by General Pershing's men are still held in Spain. That these goods have not gone forward is declared to be due to the American war trade board.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, April 8.—Twenty-five divisions (250,000 men) of the ever-decreasing enemy reserves have been sacrificed since Thursday before the French portion of the battle front alone.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—"Each day that passes now finds the Allies in a better position to resist with definite success. Each day reserves, which are already considerable, are being swollen by fresh contingents from our armies and that of the United States."

This was the summary of the west front situation today by Major General McLachlan, British military attache.

"Doubtless the Germans will make further great efforts before they acknowledge the failure of their 'great spring drive,' but it is safe to LONDON, April 8.—On the southern bank of the Somme the British last night made a small advance, it is announced officially.

The statement follows:

"We advanced our line slightly during the night on the south bank of the Somme, east of Vaire-Sous-Corbie.

PRISONERS, GUNS ARE CAPTURED

"North of the Somme a few prisoners and a machine gun were captured by us in the neighborhood of Neuville-Vitasse.

"The enemy's artillery has shown increased activity during the night on the whole British battle front. Heavy hostile gas shelling has taken place also between Lens and La Basse Canal and east of Armenteries."

PARIS, April 8.—Violent artillery engagements occurred last night, especially on the left bank of the Oise river, says today's official report.

No infantry actions on the principal battle front are reported. The statement follows:

"The night was marked by violent artillery actions, especially on the left bank of the Oise.

"French patrols were very active, bringing in prisoners.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 8.—Twenty-five divisions have been used by the Germans in the last four days in efforts to break through the French line and reach the railroad running south from Amiens. All attacks have been checked by the wonderful resistance of the French, some of whom were thrown into the line as soon as they arrived on the battlefield.

The Germans are obtaining only insignificant results in their attempts to advance, considering the number of troops engaged, as the German force is at least three times as great as the number of French defenders.

FRENCH TROOPS ARE CHEERFUL

The cheerfulness and confidence with which the French troops go into action is remarkable. They feel they are better than the enemy and make light of the German superiority in numbers. The French command continues to work on the principle of using the smallest possible number of troops to stay the German rush, thus retaining the reserves for some place else.

Powerful trench mortars have made their appearance behind the German infantry, but up to this time have not influenced the situation to any extent and in some places the guns have been unable to approach within an effective range.

On the other hand an enormous number of machine guns pour an intense barrage into the French lines and at the same time the German infantry attempts under cover of this fire to get close to the French line in small groups and establish pockets from which to leap forward at the proper moment.

This procedure was quickly neutralized by the French and the Germans are now resuming massed attacks in which their men come under direct fire of French machine guns, rifles, grenades and 75s, which inflict terrible losses. The 75s do terrific execution, cutting wide lanes through the enemy ranks.

BERLIN CLAIMS GAIN.

LONDON, April 8.—Shifting their main attack from the region of Montdidier and Albert, the Germans have advanced a maximum depth of four miles on a five-mile front at the extreme southern flank of their offensive front, according to yesterday's day statement of the Berlin war office.

The German night communique said a continuation of this attack had "brought fresh successes" and that Pierremande and Folembray had been captured. Pierremande is three miles south and east of Chauny on the southern bank of the Creve river, while Folembray is three miles farther southeast and about two miles northwest of Coucy. The day statement said the Germans had reached the line of Bichancourt, Autreville and Barisis. These towns are on an east and west line through Pierremande, Barisis being six miles south of La Fere and three miles due north of Coucy.

This is the first advance of any consequence by the enemy in this region since the offensive developed.

The German statement further reported the repulse of British and French attacks along the Ancre and Avre. On the east bank of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector, a successful German raid was reported. The London war office announced the re-establishment of former positions in Aveluy Wood north of Albert, and the breaking up of enemy attacks opposite Albert and south of Hebuterne.

A German attack in the region of Hangard, west of Demuin, was broken up by artillery fire, the French communique said.

Take Your Medicines

This combination is having wonderful success everywhere.

It is relieving rheumatism, expelling humors, restoring lost appetite, giving the glow of health to the cheeks, making faces bright and complexions clear, and literally giving worn-out, brain-fagged people new ambition and the strength of iron.

For it combines that most useful of all metals—iron—in a course of medicine that is peculiarly effective.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is made from an unsurpassed formula of blood-purifying and stomach-toning remedies, and Peptiron from pepsin, iron, nux and other blood and stomach tonics that physicians prescribe.

In cases where a cathartic is needed Hood's Sarsaparilla and Peptiron are very effectively supplemented by Hood's Pills, relieving biliousness, constipation and all liver ills.—Advertisement.

For Itching Torture

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, blackheads in most cases give way to zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

German Gun Shock Recorded Here by Quake Detectors

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 8.—Professor John A. Curtin, who has had charge of the seismograph at Canisius College in this city for years, declared that the shocks of the explosion of the long range German gun with which Paris is being bombarded, have been recorded on seismographs over all the country. The shock, he explained, causes the needle to record a small dot on the smoked paper on the cylinder of the earthquake detector.

Since Palm Sunday Professor Curtain said instruments all over this country have been showing the dots and the opinion is now that they are caused by the German cannon.

Professor Curtin said he thought the cannon was securely bedded on concerte which rests on rock strata.

AMERICANS CHASE HUNS FROM LINE

SAYS GERMAN LOSS IS AT LEAST 300,000

An American officer who has just returned from the battlefields of Northern France, where he has been since virtually the beginning of the German offensive, estimates that thus far the Germans have lost at least 300,000 men in killed, wounded and missing.

This officer formerly was in the British army, and is familiar with all the conditions.

Walter N. Kernan, overseas commissioner of the Knights of Columbus, and J. Bennett Nolan of Reading, Pa., and Major James N. Connolly of New York, representing the Catholic hierarchy of America, have just held a conference with General Pershing at general headquarters upon the work in behalf of the American troops planned by the Knights of Columbus in France.

Executive offices will be established in Paris and recreation quarters will be provided for the officers and men of the American army.

Eighteen secretaries have been assigned by Kernan to the main debarkation ports and to the field forces. Another contingent of secretaries is expected soon, and it will be followed by others.

ALLIED DEFENSE UPSETS HUN PLANS

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Improvement in the strategic position of the allies on the Picardy battlefield is noted in the War Department's review of the military situation published today, and an announcement is made that the allied forces under General Foch are operating efficiently in holding the German attacks.

The German plan has been upset by the stubbornness of the allied defense, the review says, and now the Germans are being forced to throw fresh troops into battle to gain limited objectives. For this reason the situation for some time is expected to be uncertain.

The department makes no mention of the movement of American troops to the fighting front to join the British and French.

Board Is Named to Pick Aviation Sites

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—The appointment of a board of five army officers and one civilian to select sites for future aviation bases on the Pacific coast was received by the western department of the army here today.

Both bases are to be fully equipped with scouting and defense planes. The board consists of Major Edward B. Lawrence, chairman; Captain Frank Stockdale, Lieutenants C. D. Spencer, T. B. Faber and another officer to be named by Major Lawrence.

Handwriting Experts Disagree in Will Case

Charges were made in Judge W. H. Donahue's department today by Carl Lisenscomel, that J. E. Williamson forged the contested will of Mrs. Matilda Gosiee under which he is the principal beneficiary.

The will is in pencil and leaves all the estate, amounting to less than $1000, to Williamson, with only $5 each to two nieces. The will states that Williamson, a friend of the deceased, was "like a son" to her. Other handwriting experts testified to the genuineness of the document.

Air Line Planned for Eastern Mails

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Besides the saving of time to be effected in the delivery of letters to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, the Postoffice Department expects the aerial mail service between these points to save considerable time in the delivery of first-class mail for other cities by making connections with earlier trains to sections beyond the terminals.

TENACITY OF ALLIES SPOIL KAISER'S PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 8.—French and British tenacity has upset the ambitious plans of the German high command, for the battle of Picardy, says the war department's weekly military review, and now the enemy, determined to get in some sort of success at any cost, is throwing fresh forces into the battle in an effort to secure limited objectives. Because of this, the situation is expected to remain uncertain for some time to come.

General improvement in the strategic position of the allies is noted, and the review declares that under General Foch the allied military machine is working smoothly and efficiently in stemming the German assault.

There is no mention whatever of the American troops reported hurrying to the front to join the British and French, though the deparment again mentions that several American transport sections have taken an active part in the batle and that the American aviation service is cooperating with the British.

"At the opening of the third week of the German offensive we find that the enemy is still far short of obtaining his principal objectives," says the review.

"It is now evident that the German high command contemplated overwhelming the British at the outset, between the Oise and the Sensee, and driving a wedge ino the Franco-British forces.

PLANS FAIL.

"The enemy fully expected to achieve a decision in the field in the course of one great battle.

"Evidence of prisoners tends to confirm that the enemy hoped to gain the line of the Somme by the evening of the first day of the offensive. As a matter of fact, it took the Germans ten days to cover the ground they expected to overrun within forty-eight hours. The stubbornness of British resistance and the severe casualties inflicted by them compelled the Germans to draw more heavily than they had anticipated on their own reserves.

"The German high command is now throwing fresh forces into battle in an effort to secure some of its more limited objectives.

"Under the leadership of General Foch, the allied military machine is functioning with precise smoothness, insuring greater economy, harmony and efficiency in the use of all of the forces now united in stemming the German assaults. The morale of the allied troops remains high.

"The German offensive has not spent itself, and the situation will continue uncertain for some time to come. However, the general strategic and tactical position of the allies is becoming more favorable.

MASS FOR ATTACK.

"After a period of relative calm early in the week during which the enemy was busy bringing up his heavy guns and repairing the wastage of battle by replacing tired units by fresh troops, another powerful attack was launched along the segment of the line now held by the French, stretching from the Amiens-Roye road to Grievesnes. The enemy was able to make slight headway. Fierce fighting continues.

"Allied forces are massed to check the invaders in this area.

"There has been relatively less activity north of the Somme, though the Germans have made a number of serious attempts to encircle Arras. All attacks in this sector have been beaten off by the British and the important Arras defenses hold firm.

CONSTANT ATTACK.

"Allied aircraft have been particularly active throughout the week, not only in maintaining superiority in the air and keeping the skies clear of hostile craft, but more especially in bombing enemy dumps, convoys, trains and rail heads.

"A number of American transport sections have taken an active part in the battle and the American aviation service is cooperating with the British.

"Our own forces engaged have been relatively busy. Under the cover of a heavy barrage the enemy raided one of our outposts in the Woevre area and the increase of artillery activity is noted in this sector.

"Our troop units have taken up a new position in the line and are occupying well-prepared entrenchments along the Meuse hills south of Verdun.

"In the Italian theater there has been an increase in hostile activity.

"Reports continue to be received indicating that the enemy contemplates launching an offensive thrust. The Austrian armies, with the exception of a few units operating in the Ukraine or in the western area, are now in the Italian theater.

I. W. W. Halls Raided; Meeting Broken Up

SEATTLE, Wash., April 8.—Two halls of Industrial Workers of the World in Snohomish county were sacked by citizens, according to word received here. The interior of the hall at Everett, 32 miles from Seattle, was virtually demolished by a crowd. At Arlington, 33 miles from Everett, following a patriotic parade, in which hundreds of persons outside the town took part, the I. W. W. hall was ransacked for literature, a large quantity of which was seized and burned. No arrests were made.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 8. — Headed by Colonel Charles W. Burpee, a large delegation of home guardsmen, all in civilian clothing, marched into Socialist headquarters here in the midst of a Socialist meeting, took possession of the hall and held impromptu patriotic services, and announced that the hall was now dedicated to the American policy of "freedom and liberty."

Seeks to Relieve Coke Shortage Here

So serious a shortage of coke exists on the Pacific Coast that Albert E. Schwabacher, Federal fuel administrator for California, is endeavoring to secure immediate relief of the situation to obviate the possible necessity of hundreds of machine shops, foundries and factories, dependent upon their small store of coke on hand, from closing down. To this end Schwabacher has wired to National Fuel Administrator Garfield as well as the United States Shipping Board and the Railroad Board.

but that each of the several districts will do likewise.

"In accordance with previous instructions all of the principal banks of the country districts were instructed to telephone us at the earliest possible moment regarding the total sales of bonds during banking hours last Saturday, that is between 10 and 12 o'clock. When these reports were not forthcoming we communicated with them. In every instance we were informed that the demand for Liberty bonds had been so heavy that the banks had been unable to handle the business.

"Hayward, for instance, reported that hundreds of buyers had been turned away from the banks and told to come back this morning. Livermore experienced the same condition, but was able to report that in excess of $84,000 had been subscribed out of its alloted quota of $182,025. Pleasanton, Niles, Irvington, San Leandro and Centerville made similar reports. In fact, every district outside of the city reported finding itself in the same general predicament—not being able to handle the business.

"These reports indicate that the various district committees will have a decidedly busy time during the present week, for many of the ranchers, orchardists and vineyardists of the county will find it inconvenient to go to their banks again until next Saturday. In the meantime, the district chairmen and their staff of workers will have to call on the buyers individually and take their subscriptions."

DEPARTMENT UP TO LEVEL.

Augmented by the subscriptions of the police department, the total amount of Liberty bonds subscribed in the department of public health and safety is now $20,950, according to a report turned over to the bond committee by Commissioner F. F. Jackson today. Subscriptions amounting to $15,950 were turned over Saturday, representing the other departments under Dr. Jackson. From the Central station $3450 was subscribed, from the inspectors' bureau, $950, the Eastern division (Melrose), $400 and from the Northern, $200.

A big mass meeting to arouse enthusiasm for the third loan drive, and give the public an opportunity to hear competent speakers outline the purposes and scope of the work, will be held Wednesday evening, April 10, at Plymouth Church, at 8 p. m. Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills' College, will be the speaker of the evening. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Women's Club of Plymouth and the Women's Liberty Loan Committee. Community singing of patriotic airs is also to be featured.

The pulpit of the Fruitvale Methodist Church was occupied at yesterday morning's service by William Hamilton Cox for the Liberty loan committee. At the close of the service the showing of hands indicated that the congregation will purchase more liberally of this issue of Liberty bonds than of the last though it bought freely of that.

The pastor, Rev. C. W. Koehler, pledged himself to purchase at least one bond if he had to work in the cannery to pay for it and also added that he would donate it to the church. The Sunday school in addition pledged itself to purchase a bond.

WARM PLEDGE GIVEN ALLIES BY PRESIDENT

LONDON, April 8.—Replying to greetings on the occasion of the anniversary of the entry of the United States into the war, President Wilson has telegraphed the following message to King George:

"Permit me to express my warm gratification. Your generous message has been received and I assure you it is with the greatest satisfaction that the people of the United States find themselves side by side in this final war for free self government with such steadfast and indomitable associates.

"Permit me also to assure your majesty that we shall continue to do everything possible to put the whole force of the United States into this great struggle."

Funeral Is Held of Hospital Corps Man

Funeral services were held today for Private Lawrence McGuire, C company, Field Hospital Corps, 22, a native of Oakland, and well known here, who died last Monday at Camp Custer, Mich. McGuire's remains were shipped here for interment. The funeral took place from St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock. The dead man is survived by a father, Fred T. McGuire; a brother, Fred T. McGuire Jr., stationed at Camp Fremont, and four sisters living in various parts of the state.

U. S. IS AHEAD OF PROMISES IN PREPAREDNESS

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Complete reports summing up the increased activities of the war machine of the United States since President Wilson took it in personal charge ten days ago were compiled today. They tell a very remarkable story.

While it is impossible to cite statistics, it is intimated in official circles that the speeding-up movement of troops is far in advance of the strongest hopes of the war department officials in charge. Men are going forward by regiments and brigades and supplies and munitions are going overseas at a rate that is inspiring to the men in charge. Thanks to the new convoy system, it is possible to move both men and supplies at double the rate of speed formerly possible.

The United States will meet German force with equal force, officials in charge said today. The shipping problem has been temporarily solved, and today there are more vessels engaged in the transport trade than at any time since the nation entered the war. Every promise that has been made to the British and French regarding supplies, men and munitions is being carried out, and in certain cases some already have been exceeded, it was declared in official circles today.

VICE EVIDENCE FROM GRANT BEFORE HYNES

District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes and Myron Harris, his deputy placed in charge of the red light abatement cases, received from Senator E. E. Grant today the evidence on which Grant asks that two red light abatement acts against alleged houses of ill fame in this city shall be commenced. Harris announced that the evidence would be examined and if found sufficient to hold in a court of law, would immediately be made the basis of filing complaints.

Maggie Crawford and Dorothy Cullen, two women arrested in raids by federal agents in Oakland Saturday night, were arraigned in San Francisco today before Federal Commissioner Thomas Hayden. Their bail was fixed at $500 and the cases were continued till Wednesday morning.

The raids conducted by the federal authorities and the police in Oakland resulted in the seizure of a quantity of liquor and the arrest of drunken soldiers in two places, as well as the arrest of Maggie Crawford and Dorothy Cullen, who were taken in a lodging-house at 903 Franklin street. Twelve soldiers were taken into custody and turned over to the government agents. The raid at 903 Franklin street was conducted by Walter E. Miller, deputy United States marshal, and Patrolmen Dan Fleming and L. P. Neilsen.

LIQUOR IS FOUND.

Police Corporal James Pullman and Patrolmen J. Dolan, J. Phillips and G. G. Underwood went to a house at 422 Jefferson street, occupied by Harry Burroughs. There they arrested eight soldiers and seized a large amount of beer.

Corporal E. W. Brock and Patrolmen J. F. Sternitsky and F. A. Schuler investigated a report made by Patrolman Cox that there was a drinking bout at 216 Second street, and on investigation found a number of men and women, including two soldiers, who were taken into custody. All are being held for further investigation.

CONFERENCE DELAYED.

The conference to have been held this afternoon at the office of Chief of Police Henry Nedderman, at which Mrs. Helen Swett Artieda, secretary of the Public Welfare League, and Senator Grant, of the State Law Enforcement League, were to have presented their evidence of the existence of houses of prostitution and other resorts in Oakland for debauching soldiers and sailors was called off because of the illness of Chief Nedderman.

Senator Grant will address a mass meeting to be held at the First Congregational church tomorrow night, at which Oakland conditions discovered in the recent investigation will be disclosed. William Nat Friend will preside. The meeting was called by the Public Welfare League.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels yesterday was called upon to take a hand in the protection of the soldiers and sailors who visit Oakland while on furlough. Telegrams were sent to him from the congregations of the First Baptist church of Oakland and the First Congregational church of Alameda. Immediate action for reform and the declaration of a fifteen-mile "dry" zone, with Goat Island as the center, were urged.

Do You Suffer From Diabetes?

Diabetes is invariably the result of impaired nutrition and assimilation—this results in an excess of sugar in the blood and failure of the food to nourish, hence a gradual wasting away while eating well.

Symptoms of the disease are, increased thirst, excess of urine, emaciation and dry skin, often with sweetish odor.

Notwithstanding the fact that medical science admits of no definite cure for Diabetes, Warner's Safe Diabetes Remedy has been used with gratifying results and is worthy of your attention. The sale of Warner's Safe Diabetes Remedy has increased 100% during the year, and this gain may reasonably be attributed to its merit in benefiting sufferers. Following are a few words of interest from a grateful doctor:

"I had been troubled with Diabetes for 8 years. I heard about Warner's Safe Diabetes Remedy and I tried some of it and got myself in good condition and went to work again. I am much pleased and so thankful for your life saving remedy that I cheerfully recommend it to anyone troubled with Diabetes and I hope this will be the cause of helping many sufferers." (Signed) James Platt, Nat'l Military Home, Dayton, Ohio, U. S. A.

Warner's Safe Diabetes Remedy is made from a formula tried and tested and used with remarkable results during the past 40 years. As the name indicates, Warner's Safe Diabetes Remedy is absolutely safe and is made solely from herbs and other beneficial ingredients. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. Sample sent on receipt of ten cents. Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 363, Rochester, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Control of Disease Here Is Given Praise

Commissioner F. F. Jackson today received from Dr. Franklin Martin, member advisory commission of the Council of National Defense, a letter congratulating the Oakland city health department for its report on the eradication of the social diseases.

"We are pleased to note that the cooperation of your police department with the Federal authorities is resulting in a control of the social diseases. We especially wish to congratulate you on the spirit of your city officials in entering in so whole-hearted a manner into the execution of these measures which are so essential to a successful military program," the letter read.

MERCHANT STRICKEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Benjamin Liebes, 56, part owner of the Liebes Fur Company, died at his home in this city following a sickness extending over several months. Liebes had been in business in this city for more than thirty years. He was born in London. He leaves a widow, three brothers and three sisters. Funeral service will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

WILSON'S DEFI IS ACCEPTED BY HUN STATESMEN

AMSTERDAM, April 8.—A semi-official statement was issued in Berlin commenting on the speech made by President Wilson at Baltimore on Saturday night. It says:

"President Wilson turns the historical event upside down. The world knows that the gigantic struggle now being fought in the west is a consequence of the will of the entente for war.

"President Wilson now calls for force to the utmost, and in so doing, at last clearly describes the policy of the Americans and their allies; namely, force against everything that opposes them. Germany will not suffer from this yoke of force."

BRITISH AND HUNS ATTACK AND COUNTER

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 7.—Attacks and counter attacks continue to spring up at various points along the British battlefront. While none of them has seemed large as compared with the intense conflict waged in the first days of the German offensive, yet all of them are important in that they represent the foundation work for bigger events to come.

Twice last evening and again this morning the Germans undertook to advance at points in the sector north and south of Albert.

The Germans were seen coming while they were still a mile away and the British artillery and machine guns put down such an intense barrage among them that the projected assault was stopped. Some time afterward the enemy reformed his forces and made another effort, but this was checked without the use of infantry.

HEAVY BOMBARDMENT.

One of the attacks last evening was delivered southwest of Albert where the enemy had been battling so determinedly to get a strong hold on the Albert-Amiens railway. Under cover of a heavy machine gun barrage the German infantry surged against the British line, but was met with such a withering rifle and machine gun fire that it was compelled to retire. Intense artillery work has been proceeding at various points along the British battle front throughout the night and this morning.

Further fighting occurred today at Hangard Wood, which has been the scene of much cruel fighting in the last few days.

The British in the early hours, delivered counter attacks by which they forced the enemy back somewhat and took a few prisoners. According to the latest reports the British are holding on to the western edge of this wood.

At this point the Germans are holding a very sharp salient along a line roughly represented by Bucquoy, Heburtern, Colincamps, Auchonvillers and Hamel.

Within the salient is an inhospitable zone which formed a part of No Man's Land in the first battle of the Somme. It is shell torn and altogether is an unpleasant place over which to conduct operations.

IN BAD POSITION.

If the Germans were to start the second phase of their grand offensive now and were forced to "kick-off" from their present position in this salient, they would encounter tremendous difficulties in maintaining satisfactory communications across the desert which lies just back of their front line. They need the high ground before they can begin an attack so that they can get their guns forwarded, or otherwise the artillery would be out-distanced and everything would depend upon the infantry.

It was because of this situation that attacks were made last Friday by the Germans. Four more or less fresh divisions were brought up and a huge number of guns were brought into play, especially over the back area.

They failed to advance at most points about the salient and even lost a considerable stretch of ground in a counter-attack by the British between Hebutern and Roisgol Wood. The enemy casualties were very heavy because of the dominating positions held by British machine gunners and riflemen.

It seems certain the Germans will try again to capture the heights for they cannot sit where they are.

BRITISH COUNTER ATTACK.

The British counter attack at Aveluy Wood, south of Mesnil yesterday, was an entire success and the old positions were returned. The men who went through this fight declares that the Germans lost three killed to one for the British. It was a desperate fight. The British stormed the wood after battling forward with machine guns and rifles and then continued the battle with hand grenades and bombs. The Germans clung tenaciously to their positions but were gradually forced to fall back, leaving many dead.

A German airman taken prisoner said that the British had more and better airplanes than the Germans. He said the Germans could not run the risk of wasting machines in this sort of warfare.

The prisoner, formerly a school master, was convinced that the war would end this year. He implied that he thought the Germans would wear the allies out, for he declared that the Germans would keep on attacking.

Heavy Explosion Rocks Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 8.—A terrific explosion which shook the city occurred between 1 o'clock and 1:30 this morning. The explosion, which is said to have been the loudest since the blowing up of the Alum Chine in Baltimore harbor several years ago is believed to have been in the lower Baltimore harbor in the vicinity of Sparrows Point.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The offices of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation here today denied that there had been a serious explosion at the plant at Sparrows Point near Baltimore. It was said that hot slag, coming in contact with water, made a loud noise resembling an explosion, but that no damage was done.

Miller & Lux Firm to Sell 150,000 Acres

The rule under which Henry Miller founded the immense firm of Miller & Lux, California's second largest corporation, has been broken for the first time in the history of the firm, in the placing of 150,000 acres of the land holdings of the company on the market to pay the inheritance tax for the founder's heirs. Miller never would sell any land he once purchased. The land now to be sold, according to the announcement today, is among the best owned by the big cattle and land company, and is valued at from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Enough land will be sold out of the parcel put aside to pay an inheritance tax which, it is estimataed, will run to over $2,000,000.

One of Miller's fundamental rules was never to sell land he once bought. Under this rule the firm of Miller & Lux operated farms all over the state and amassed millions of dollars' worth of farm lands.

Kaiser Leaves Front to Save His "Prestige"

THE HAGUE, April 8.—The report that the kaiser probably will go to Rumania within a few days aroused much speculation here today. At the opening of the Picardy battle, when the Germans were surging ahead, it was announced that the emperor was in supreme command. Now that the Germans have been halted, it is believed that he is leaving the western front in order to maintain his military prestige with the German people.

OVER-SUBSCRIBE, KAHN APPEALS TO CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Congressman Julius Kahn has telegraphed from Washington an appeal to the people of California to oversubscribe the loan. His telegram, in part, said:

"Let me express the hope that California will again show the nation that she is ready to make all needed sacrifices to win this war. Our boys are ready to give their blood, their lives for our country's cause.

"Surely, we stay-at-homes, who cannot carry a rifle, or serve with our military or naval forces, should be willing to lend the government such sums as we can afford, in order that the boys at the front may be effectively fed, clothed and supplied.

"California, when put to the test, has never been found wanting. Show our countrymen, once more, that we are ready to respond to the nation's call. Show our countrymen that the old California blood still flows in our veins, and that California's spirit is still undaunted."

TRIPLE FUNERAL IN ONE FAMILY

FRUITVALE, April 8.—In a triple funeral at Sacramento, the first to be held in this end of the state, services were held for Mrs. May Celio Fetheroff, wife of Albert L. Fetheroff, 2362 Boehmer street, her mother, Mrs. Ysabel Leiva, and brother, Joseph Leiva. The triple funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the parlors of a Sacramento undertaker. A pathetic circumstance was the fact that Mrs. Niade Watts, a sister of Mrs. Fetheroff, arrived from Toledo, O., to attend her mother's funeral, to learn of the deaths also of her sister and her brother.

Ysabel Leiva, aged widow of the late Joseph E. Leiva, of Sacramento, died at her home there, April 2, leaving to mourn her death, the son, Joseph Leiva, Mrs. May Fetheroff of Fruitvale, Mrs. M. Taylor, Oakland, Mrs. Niade Watts, Toledo, O., and Arthur Leiva of Sacramento.

The day following, her son, Joseph, died at Sacramento, and on April 4, the daughter, Mrs. May Fetheroff, died at her Fruitvale home. In the latter two cases pneumonia was the cause of death, the mother dying of heart failure.

When word was sent to the sister at Toledo, Ohio., announcing the mother's death, a reply came announcing she would start at once to attend the funeral, and requested delay of arrangements pending her arrival. She was apprised upon her arrival of her triple bereavement.

"I don't think much of Oakland," sneered the pessimist.

"You don't? When were you there?"

"Bout two weeks ago."

CHICKERING PREDICTS LOAN'S OVERSUBSCRIPTION.

Allen L Chickering, director of the Bureau of Speakers for the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, predicts that the communities of this district will raise their Liberty Loan quotas in quicker time than in either of the preceding loans. For six weeks Chickering's department has been feeling the public close through the medium of Liberty Loan meetings in every section of the seven states of this district, and everywhere has found patriotism at third loan in quick time.

"I don't know of a single place in the entire district that is not more keenly alive to the seriousness of the situation than in former campaigns.

"I will make the prediction that the number of investors in both former loans will be greatly exceeded in the third. Even now we are centering our efforts on seeing how far we can exceed the quota assigned us. We feel that the quota will be raised in record time."

WHY, OF COURSE, MAYOR HAS HIS PREROGATIVES.

Does a city ordinance apply to a mayor, or is a mayor exempt?

The police force is scratching its collective head and asking itself the question. Likewise the park department. Likewise several gardeners.

Oakland has been proud of its jonquil beds. It has cherished, particularly, those in the City Hall plaza. It has been generally understood, that he who picked city jonquils was due for a long rest at the city bastile, up where the wheels of the city hall clock go 'round. But—

Yesterday, Mayor John L. Davie climbed the chain that shuts the common herd out of the plaza pasturage, and picked a nice bouquet of jonquils. Very carefully he took them up to his office where they now ornament a vase.

Question: Should the Mayor be arrested for violating a city ordinance?

DENTIST PULLED BAD ONES, AH LEEM USED GOOD ONES.

Dr. T. B. Mohney, manager of a local dental office, likes ready subjects when he demonstrates painless extractions on the streets—but he doesn't want them too ready. There is Ah Leem, for instance.

Leem is an ancient Chinaman who wanders about the city selling vegetables, and whose soul is thrifty and whose teeth were bad. One night, when Mohney was demonstrating on his auto truck, Leem came up and had a large aching molar pulled. He beamed with satisfaction—and two nights later came again and had another molar pulled.

Several times after he came—until he had only a few teeth left—and these very bad ones.

"Why don't you come to the office and get fixed up?" finally asked Mohney.

"Oh—you pullem here, no cost me nothing—and byembye I use good teeth!" announced Leem.

"Me buy—three dolla!" and he produced an old set of second-hand false teeth, he had bought in a pawnshop, and was only waiting to lose the rest of his teeth to use.

But then he had to pay for the rest of the teeth being pulled.

After this Mohney won't pull more than six teeth free for anyone!

"THERE GOES DAD" TO WAR: DO YOUR PART; BUY BONDS!!

"Stiffen up, Tommie! There goes Dad. Show your teeth, grin, don't cry! He's gone too, now. It's The Home for us before they know we're out. Hustle let's run."

He was just an Oakland laddie, twelve years, maybe, and held fast to the hand of a smaller boy. I saw them waving their hands and shouting something at a man in khaki on the passing car at Sixteenth street, but in the din of a troop train pulling out nobody could hear.

"The Home" was the usual institution that offers shelter, discipline, oatmeal and potatoes. Mother had died four years ago. Father had worked to keep them all together until the call for men for the army. Then, though over age, he felt that he must go back to the service.

"My laddies? Maybe some one will give them a better home than I could, but I'll trust their blood and you, sir," the father said when he brought them to the Home.

And to the children as he gathered them in his arms for the last time: "Be good soldiers, now and always. Don't cry, remember Dad loves you, but Uncle Sam calls all his loyal sons and it's for my honor and most of all for your honor, that I must go. Do you understand, son?"

"Yes, Dad, I'll take care of brother and be a soldier, too. Goodbye. I know I will. It's to the colors, Daddie dear."

Have you bought your Liberty Bond?

SALMON SELLS FOR HALF PRICE

Saving of 100 per cent marked the first experiment of selling fish direct from fisherman to consumer, according to reports received by market authorities here today from San Francisco, where, at Fishermen's Wharf yesterday, the first experiment of its kind was tried. Salmon sold at the wharf at 15 cents a pound as against 30 in the markets.

The plan was tried out as a result of conferences between Food Administrator Ralph P. Merritt and F. E. Booth, who started the project under the name of the Harbor Fisheries Company.

Definite rules on food restrictions have been issued again today from Merritt's office.

With the exception that there are no meatless days, other than "porkless" Tuesdays, the restricted days are unchanged. Mondays and Wednesdays are still "meatless" days, and the evening meal of all the other days in the week is wheatless.

The definition of wheatless is that no food containing wheat flour or wheat products should be eaten on these days or the evening meals. On "porkless days," no ham, bacon, lard or cured pork products, should be used.

The board of directors of the San Francisco Commercial Club announced yesterday that a resolution to absolutely eliminate wheat foods and wheat products had been unanimously adopted.

The IDEAL way to fuel saving!

If all houses and their coal bins could have held a meeting on any of the many severely cold days of last winter, they would have cast a solid vote endorsing the IDEAL heating comfort, the unequaled fuel-economy and the domestic labor-saving of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

Call your dealer and get him to submit an estimate for your building at once

With IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators, there can be no over-heating requiring you to open the windows—no under-heating causing chills, colds and discomfort. Fuel waste is cut out. Every heat unit is made to do its full work. Every pound of coal is burned economically.

Automatic regulation gives regular and exact heat supply

IDEAL Boilers are designed, built and tested by highest engineering talent. Our engineers will not permit an IDEAL Boiler or AMERICAN Radiator to pass the testing laboratories that does not measure up to the exact scientific requirement as stated in our catalogs. Therefore, when you buy IDEAL heating you start on the right basis to get the utmost amount of heat from the least fuel.

IDEAL-AMERICAN heating saved millions in coal waste last winter

It is of the greatest importance that you should specify IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators for your new or old building because now more than ever it is necessary to practice the most rigid fuel economy. Furthermore, IDEAL Boilers burn the cheaper grades of hard and soft coal, screenings, pea coal, lignite, coke, wood, gas, oil, etc.—thus offering you this means of saving.

An unfailing, stationary Vacuum Cleaner

You should also know about our ARCO WAND Stationary Vacuum Cleaner, for dustless, complete cleaning through an iron suction pipe running to each floor. Fully GUARANTEED. Lasts as long as the building—like radiator heating. In sizes at $190 up. Send for catalog.

Send at once for catalog "Ideal Heating"—it should be read by every one interested in heating. Call your dealer today to get an estimate for equipping your building.

U.S. TO KEEP 'HANDS OFF' IN VLADIVOSTOK

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Official confirmation received by the state department today that British forces had landed with the Japanese at Vladivostok to preserve order, was followed by authoritative statements that this country would continue its "hands off" policy in the matter.

"There appears no reason, it is stated, "for a protest from the United States, although it is deemed probable this government will answer the Russian soviet's request, when officially received, for a declaration of principles and intentions in Siberia.

"Fifty Britishers were in the landing party and were sent ashore solely to protect the British embassy.

"The department also was advised that 250 Japanese were landed April 6, following the landing of the two companies of Japanese on the 5th.

"No armed resistance was offered. Authoritative quarters let it be known that the landing is only a protective move and that it is by no means a beginning of Japanese armed invasion of Siberia as feared in Moscow."

RUSSIA DOUBTFUL.

MOSCOW, April 8.—The Japanese representative at Vologda has sent a communication to M. Tchitcherin, the Russian foreign minister, minimizing the significance of the landing at Vladivostok. The incident was local and Admiral Kaloa acted on his own initiative and without specific orders from his government. M. Tchitcherin, however, is reported to be skeptical.

By RALPH H. TURNER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, March 25 (by mail).—"The Japanese government is perfectly aware that the war situation is fraught with the most momentous consequences, but the people may rest assured that Japan will never embark on an unnecessary war. We will not hesitate to go to war to uphold the interests of Japan and those of the allies, but such a step has not yet been justified."

This statement by Premier Count Terauchi in the National Diet is an accurate summary of Japan's attitude today toward the possibility of Japanese intervention in Siberia.

This statement, coupled with the sympathetic policy of President Wilson toward Russia, has just about quieted the clamor for an immediate Japanese military expedition to Siberia which was resounding throughout the island empire only a few days ago.

MANY WILD RUMORS.

Two weeks ago a country-wide mobilization order was expected momentarily. Reservists had been directed to remain at home. Wild rumors of a landing at Vladivostok were reported.

Then, almost over night, came the realization that an expedition to Siberia might be impracticable, that the German menace was yet a long ways from the Orient.

Most important of the factors which determined calmness in dealing with Russia was probably America. It is now recognized in the most responsible quarters that the United States is not opposed to intervention in principle, nor does she question Japan's motives. But she does not want to run the risk of arousing Russian hostility against armed intervention unless the German penetration eastward makes such a policy absolutely imperative.

Regardless of the outcome of the German menace in Russia, it promises one significant result. That is, cooperation between Japan and China and adjustment of China's internal disputes. The latter prospect was the hope expressed by Secretary Lansing in the note to Peking which caused such a flurry in Tokyo.

Commercial Key Men Organize Bay Union

The bay cities commercial telegraphers for the first time since the strike of 1907, have a local of the telegraphers' union. Organization was completed yesterday, the new organization to be known as Liberty Local of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union. Temporary officers are today in charge of the last details of organization.

The formation of the new local, according to the telegraph operators, is in accordance with the declaration of United States government officials recognizing the rights of workers to organize, to have an eight-hour day and to obtain the same rate for women as for men. There are a number of women telegraphers in the bay region.

New Harbor Lease Is Asked
Third Proposal Before City

With the rejection of one counter-application for the lease on the western waterfront sought by the Parr-McCormick Steamship Line, the city council was today presented with another and similar application, which resulted in postponement of final action on the Parr-McCormick lease until Wednesday when the intent of the council toward the lease will be definitely expressed.

Interests headed by Paul Garrett, an Eastern merchant, made proposals to the council that the Parr lease be rescinded and put up a $10,000 Liberty Bond as forfeit to assure that the coterie of capitalists and shipping men will, at the proper time, make a legitimate bid on the lease after it has been revised to eliminate what is designated as monopoly features.

The council in postponing action on the Parr lease ordinance until Wednesday arranged for an executive conference to be held tomorrow afternoon in the mayor's office, when the new proposition will be discussed.

LEVY PLAN REJECTED.

The proposal of Lawrence Levy of San Francisco to bid on the Parr lease, minus certain features, and to pay a rental of $75,000 a year to the city on a total investment to be made amounting to $2,000,000, was turned down by the council after consideration, and the $2500 cash guarantee that a bid would be made in event the Parr lease be canceled was ordered returned.

Levy appeared before the council and refused to disclose the identity of his principals in the matter, whereupon Commissioner Edwards moved that the proposition be dismissed.

The new proposal, which is characterized by James J. McElroy, its sponsor, as the "most business-like proposition yet presented to the council," is made by McElroy, Paul Garrett, H. J. Brunnier, a San Francisco construction engineer, and L. A. MacBride, a San Francisco steamship chartering agent and president of the American Asiatic Company, operating cargo carriers on the trans-Pacific routes.

The new proposal eliminates the shipbuilding feature of the Parr lease and the specification for the bunkering of Alaska coal at the wharves.

TWO PROPOSITIONS.

Two separate propositions of harbor development were submitted in the offer. The first of these is prefaced with an offer to place $10,000 in escrow as a guarantee to bid on the lease as proposed by the Parr-McCormick interests, with the following modifications:

That the streets connecting present city streets with the proposed improvements be provided for.

That the condition be imposed that the track facilities shall be accessible to all railroads and not exclusively to the Southern Pacific Railroad, as they maintain the present lease proposition provides.

That actual work shall commence as soon as jointly prepared plans for the development of the city property in the Key Route Basin are approved by the city, and lessee, in order that such development shall not conflict with a system of development of the rest of the waterfront. The installation of coal bunkers on this property would be dependent on how it fitted it with the rest of the plan of development of the harbor. At any rate, it would be to handle Alaska coal only. It is also stipulated that the conditions of the lease should be modified in all particulars to conform to the plan of development decided on; provisions as to sailing of vessels readjusted to invite the patronage of all vessels. For such a lease the four proponents agree to pay $20,000 per annum for a twenty-five-year lease and $30,000 per annum for a ten-year extension. The proponents state that there will be nothing to prevent the use of the docks by the Parr-McCormick interests or any other shipping interests, and they further agree to commence work within six months of the granting of the lease.

SECOND PROPOSITION.

The second proposition is that, in view of the growing sentiment in favor of public ownership of public utilities, a provision be made for 2,000,000 square feet of class A factory space on the land in question, with suitable dockage of permanent character. The cost is estimated at $4,000,000 and an additional expenditure of $1,000,000 a year for ten years more. It is proposed the city provide a $5,000,000 bond issue and the proponents at the same time agree to form an operating company capitalized at $1,250,000 to be managed by directors on which the city is represented and to pay the interest on the bonds out of its receipts for ten years, then create a sinking fund to pay dividends on their stock and out of the profits to pay to the city 25 per cent for the first ten years, 33½ per cent for the second ten years and for the last thirty years 40 per cent. After the first unit has proved a success the city may issue bonds for further units.

The proposal offers at once to deposit $10,000 in escrow for the security in case the first proposition is accepted, and in case the second proposition is accepted stand ready to deposit a second $10,000 to pay the expenses of the election.

LOCAL EASTERN MEN.

The proponents represent both local and Eastern interests. J. J. McElroy is a real estate man of 960 Seventh street and a heavy owner in West Oakland property. Paul Garrett is president of Garrett & Co., Bush Terminal, New York. H. J. Brunnier is a San Francisco harbor and construction engineer, with offices in the Merchants' Exchange building, and L. A. McBride is president of the American Asiatic Company, which has operated eleven trans-Pacific steamers for the past year, including the motor ship Erris, now en route to Japan.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN SYSTEM IS APPOINTED

The State Board of Education at Sacramento today appointed a committe, representative of the school interests of California, to work out a plan for reorganizing the school system of the state. This action was decided upon at a conference between the state board and presidents of the state normal schools last week.

Two Oakland men are included in the committee, which follows: Dr. M. E. Dailey, president normal school, San Jose, chairman; S. M. Chaney, superintendent of schools Glenn county; A. J. Cloud, deputy superintendent of schools, San Francisco; Minnie Coulter, principal elementary schools, Santa Rosa; E. Morris Cox, president State Council of Education, Oakland; Dr. Elwood P. Cubberly, dean of school of education, Stanford University; Merton E. Hill, principal high school, Ontario; Charles C. Hughes, superintendent of schools, Sacramento; Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of schools, Oakland; Mark Keppel, superintendent of schools, Los Angeles county.

Dr. Alexis F. Lange, dean of school of education, University of California; E. W. Lindsay, superintendent of schools, Fresno county; Dr. Margaret S. McNaught, state commissioner of elementary schools; Dr. E. H. Moore, president of Los Angeles normal; Champ S. Price, superintendent of schools, Santa Cruz county; Agnes Regan, Board of Education, San Francisco; Dr. Albert Shiels, superintendent of schools, Los Angeles city; Dr. Edwin R. Snyder, state commissioner of vocational education; Mrs. Grace C. Stanley, superintendent of schools, San Bernardino county; Dr. Thomas B. Stowell, professor of education, University of Southern California, and Will C. Wood, state commissioner of secondary schools.

PLOT TRIAL WAITS NEW YORK ACTION

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—A preliminary hearing of Attorney W. A. Wotherspoon, his wife, and Eluma Zalaznick, for alleged violation of the espionage act, was continued by United States Commissioner Thomas E Hayden this morning at the request of United States Attorney John W. Preston, who said that the trio must be indicted in New York City.

They are charged with seeking to aid in the escape of Professor S. N. Ghose of the University of Calcutta, who is wanted in the Hindu Ghadr case as a defendant. Wotherspoon and Miss Zalaznick are also charged by the government with a violation of the act in that they disseminated their propaganda in the United States.

The defendants were represented today by Attorney John G. Lawlor of the International Defense League and [illegible] Federation. He said that if an attempt was made to take the trial to New York he would fight extradition. It is rumored here that they have already been indicted in San Francisco and that the indictment has been placed on secret file.

Cutting's Stock to Be Sold at Auction

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—The interest of Henry C. Cutting in the stock of the Point Richmond, Pinole and Land Company, Richmond Dredging Company and Monetary Trust Company of which he is president, will be sold at auction by United States Marshal James P. Holohan on the steps of the federal building here April 15, to satisfy a judgment of $8,159.42 given to H. J. and F. A. Woodward by District Judge Van Fleet, February 13, 1918.

Cutting, who resides in San Leandro, is at liberty on bonds of $1500 pending his appeal to the Circuit Court from a jail sentence in the Alameda county jail by Judge Van Fleet for contempt of court, upon his refusal to pay master of chancery fees of $500 to H. M. Wright, growing out of the case.

Attempt at Suicide Probably Sucessful

Mrs. Ann Mendoza, 921 Pine street, is at St. Anthony's Hospital where she is between life and death as the result of the second attempt to commit suicide within three days.

Three days ago she swallowed iodine and was saved from death at the Receiving Hospital. Last night she severed her windpipe with a knife and her condition is serious. Ill health is said to be the reason for her desire to die.

Papst Successor of Detrick on Commission

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Rudolph A. Papst has been appointed acting-secretary of the State Railroad Commission, vice Charles R. Detrick, whose resignation was accepted today. Detrick will manage the Heney gubernatorial campaign. Papst has been assistant secretary of the commission since Colonel Henry G. Mathewson entered the National Army.

ASK DAMAGES.

Alleging that their son, Jay Parsons, was killed by careless operation of the elevator in the Union Savings Bank building last September, D. W. Parsons and Lydia Parsons, parents of the deceased, began suit today in Judge W. H. Waste's department against Ansell M. Easton, owner of the building, for $10,000. The trial is before a jury.

News of the Churches

At the First Presbyterian church in the evening, Judge F. T. Ostrander delivered an address on Liberty Bonds and the pastor, Dr. F. L. Stisley, preached on "The Word of God and Cyrus, World Conqueror," with modern applications.

He said:

"There is a common belief that the Almighty has nothing to do with world affairs, that he is neither active in the movements of nations, nor the acts of individuals, and that at best He is a mere spectator of Germany, England and America. As a result many fall into panic and tremble for the outlook of the Kingdom of God on earth. But what the historical record of Cyrus, Persian world conqueror, teaches, is that God makes even world-conquerors agents of His purpose, and servants to carry out His design for the race. Cyrus was filled with the lust for conquest, and subdued the mighty empire of Babylon. Yet God used him to restore the Jews from captivity to Jerusalem, their native land, and thereby prepared the way for the coming of Christian civilization, for Christ was born in Judea.

"Moreover he contributed to the cause of Christian civilization by permitting the chosen people to rebuild the temple at Jerusalem and keep alive the worship of the true God for there can be no Christian civilization without the church. Heathen and pagan though they may be, God will make ambitious world-characters of today creatures to work His will.

"The mission of America is to conquer the world for Christian idealism and establish a through line for democracy in every nation. The president of the United States is a Christian Cyrus, to restore weaker peoples to their countries and to rebuild the temple of Christian liberty and worship. We are individual and national agents to promote God's will."

UNITED BRETHREN.

At the United Brethren church, Bishop William H. Washinger preached on "The Problem of the Age and How it May be Solved."

He said: "The greatest danger to Protestantism today is not in a fallacy of views, not in false doctrines and isms, but in materialism. The world is becoming too modern to worship God or has a tendency to spell God, G-o-l-d.

"A few years ago Tolstoi, the great Russian writer, said: 'Within twenty-five years the great cities of Europe, London, Petrograd, Berlin and Paris, will be sunk into hell unless a radical change occurs.' Some of them are undergoing a change for the better. The final solution of all our problems is to worship God in spirit and in truth."

In the evening Bishop Washinger spoke on "The All-Sufficient Christ."

"Christ is the manifestly overtopping figure of all time. The history of the world is the footsteps of Christ in the path of time. To the angels who sounded his advent in song, Christ was the Saviour of the world. To the shepherds he was the babe of Bethlehem. To Pilate he was the faultless man. To Judas he was 'innocent blood.' To the Roman centurion he was God's son. To Theodore Parker he was "a youth with God in his heart." To Robert Ingersoll he was a star of hope. Christ is the center of all grandeur. His grace is the most inspiring theme that poets sing. His love for man is the acme of all graces.

"He is all and in all, the Alpha and Omega of the written word.

"He is the all in all of the thirsty soul of man, the all in all of our real home—the heavenly."

One happy feature of the services of the day was the raising of about $1000 to free the church from debt.

TWENTY-FOURTH AVENUE M. E.

Sunday morning the venerable preacher, C. O. Milnes, father of the district superintendent, filled the pulpit.

In the evening a service of song was given, entitled, "The Negro and the Flag." On Friday evening, April 12, at 8 o'clock, Miss Alma Wagner gives a three-act reading "The Foot of the Rainbow."

TRINITY M. E., BERKELEY.

The young married folks of Trinity Methodist church, Austin and Ellsworth streets, Berkeley, will give a district school entertainment this evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlor. Everybody is cordially invited. A silver offering will be taken for patriotic work.

53RD AVENUE M. E.

On Sunday morning Rev. H. E. Mines, D. D., district superintendent, preached at the Eighty-third Avenue Methodist Church. On Thursday evening he will give a stereopticon lecture on "Methodism's World Mission."

Special revival services will be held at this church from April 14 to 26 (except Saturday), conducted by Dr. J. B. Chynoweth, Rev. C. W. Koehler, a gospel team and the pastor, Rev. J. E. Jackson.

A vocal solo by Miss Alice Zwillinger and a violin solo by Harold Hilton will also have place on the program.

MONDAY CHURCHES

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

Yesterday, the first anniversary of America's entrance into the war, was celebrated by patriotic addresses by many of the pastors, supplemented by addresses by laymen, mostly attorneys, in behalf of the third Liberty loan.

One of the most stirring addresses was delivered by Rev. William Day Simonds on "The American Flag in Peace and War."

At Plymouth Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. C. L. Kloss, spoke in the morning on the subject, "For Their Sakes." At the evening service both the pastor and Hon. William T. Satterwhite, delivered addresses on "The Third Liberty Bond Issue."

At the First Methodist Episcopal church in the evening, J. R. Munsell delivered a fifteen-minute address on the Liberty Bonds and was followed by the pastor, Dr. John Stephens, who emphasized the Liberty Bond issue and then spoke briefly concerning the disclosures of moral conditions in Oakland.

FIRST CHRISTIAN.

In the Sunday school it was "Honor Roll Day." The relatives of the 56 boys in the service from this congregation were out in full force. There was an appropriate program of music and recitations. Mrs. Brooks sang "Somebody's Boy Has Gone to France"; Miss Treadwell recited James Whitcomb Riley's poem "Old Glory" and some verses on the service flag.

The members of the families represented on the service flag were asked to stand and were presented to the congregation. The Sunday school closed by singing "America." The sermon by pastor H. A. Van Winkle was "In the Name of Patriotism."

He called attention to President Wilson's great message at Baltimore, and said the President spoke like a big hearted, red blooded American. He said, "Patriotism is not confined to love of one's country, but it must take in all countries. We love every flag that stands for truth and righteousness. How many abominable and outrageous things of patriotism are done in thy name!

"Under the name of patriotism Babylon was conquered, Alexander crushed under his feet the innocent, the Caesars swept everything before them. Ancient history is being repeated today. The iron hand reached into Belgium a few years ago with the sword of carnage and the leader said he did it in the name of patriotism.

"How shall we meet this issue? With prayer? Yes. But if I should pray in front of the kaiser I should keep one eye open. Prayer alone will not save little children now, but we must go with prayer in our hearts against one of the worst nations the devil ever organized. The Armenians are being crucified and slain by the Turks in the name of patriotism. I believe in patriotism but the kind that takes in humanity first."

The evening sermon was also patriotic on the subject, "Selling a Cloak and Buying a Sword." It was preceded by a short stirring appeal in behalf of the Third Liberty bond drive, by Attorney Earle D. White.

MOVE GUNS, NOT SIGHTS, TO GET RANGE CORRECT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Mahomet, who gained fame by going to the mountain when it wouldn't come to him, had nothing on the Russian Bolsheviki.

When the guns with which they were bombarding Irkutsh overshot the city, according to Nels Johnson, who arrived from Siberia today, they moved the guns back two miles. Then when the shots fell short they moved them up again.

They never thought of adjusting the sights.

CONCRETE SHIP WILL BE BUILT

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Fifty million dollars will be asked of Congress tomorrow by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board for development of concrete shipbuilding. The plan is to establish at once five government yards, two on the Pacific Coast and three in the south.

Sites for the plants already are under consideration and will be announced shortly. The three in the south probably will include one already planned for Wilmington, N. C. Transportation facilities and easy access to cement and sand will govern the selections.

The first vessels turned out by the government yards will be 7,500 ton tankers, both because of the shortage of oil carriers and because in the present stage of concrete ship development the board is more confident of success with the tankers than with the general cargo craft.

Three San Franciscans Sentenced in Portland

PORTLAND, April 8.—Three San Francisco men drew six months' jail sentences today as bootleggers. They were Gus Temp, J. McKenna and Fred Tibbets. All three pleaded guilty and asked for fines instead of jail terms. But the court refused to "license" them in that manner. Walter Hardy and Howard Edmonds, also of San Francisco, pleaded guilty with the three named. They will be sentenced in June. It is alleged the five men shipped huge quantities of liquor here and catered to the more exclusive set.

TRAIN STRIKES AUTO.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 8.—Six persons were killed and four seriously injured and $700 in gold was scattered along the Wabash Railway track when a passenger train struck an automobile in which ten persons were riding here. The gold belonged to Steagman who would not put his money in a bank and who had placed the $700 in a can under the seat. Police found $550 of the money.

HIGH GIRLS WILL GIVE KIRMESS

Miss Safa Smith

A Kirmess to be given by the Girls' Association of the Oakland high school for the wool fund, in the school gymnasium on the afternoon of Friday, April 12, promises to be one of the most notable benefits held by the school. Many of the students will take part in the entertainment and it is expected a substantial sum will be raised. Miss Safa Smith is manager of the Kirmess and is assisted by a number of the other girl students.

Oakland high school has already done its "bit" in no uncertain way. It has a 100 per cent membership in the Junior Red Cross. Nearly every student has purchased a baby Liberty Bond, plays have been given for the war fund, and large numbers of books have been contributed in the Library drive. The girls are furnished with wool, and are kept busy knitting articles for the soldiers and sailors.

Sergeant of Police Vised Alien's Card

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Sergeant W. H. Walmuth of the Alameda police force, believed that he could give permission to a registered enemy alien to leave the country. His vise to Herman Blaiser, 1612 Grant street, Alameda, written across Blaiser's registration card, led to Blaiser's arrest by Deputy Marshal W. E. Miller as he was boarding the Alaska Salmon Company's schooner, Emily F. Whitney, at pier 54, this morning.

Blaiser was taken to the United States marshal's office and an investigation will be made by the federal authorities to determine the reason for Walmuth's action.

Judgment Rendered in Plaintiff's Favor

Superior Judge Joseph S. Koford today gave judgment in favor of J. S. Fertado and Ina Grace Shipman, against Mary J. Perry and her husband, their mother and step father, restoring to the children plaintiff's property valued at $10,000.

It was alleged in the trial that when differences arose between the mother and her two children, she married Perry and transferred to him property left to her in trust by their father, which on her death was to pass to the children, and that she had no right under the will to transfer it to Perry. Judge Koford found the allegations to be true and ordered the property restored to the trust.

I. W. W. SUSPECTS DENY CHARGES

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—Pleas of not guilty to a charge of conspiring to obstruct the government's war program and to encourage treason and sabotage were entered today by 48 of 55 alleged I. W. W. of the World named in an indictment returned February 8, by the United States grand jury here. United States District Judge Wm. C. Van Fleet overruled a demurrer to the indictment and the case was continued until April 23, to be set for trial. The demurrer, which was offered by Nathan Coghlan of San Francisco, attorney for the defendants, recited that not sufficient facts were stated to warrant the indictment. There were no allegations of an attempt to use force to execute the crimes mentioned in the forty-five alleged overt acts named in the indictment, he said.

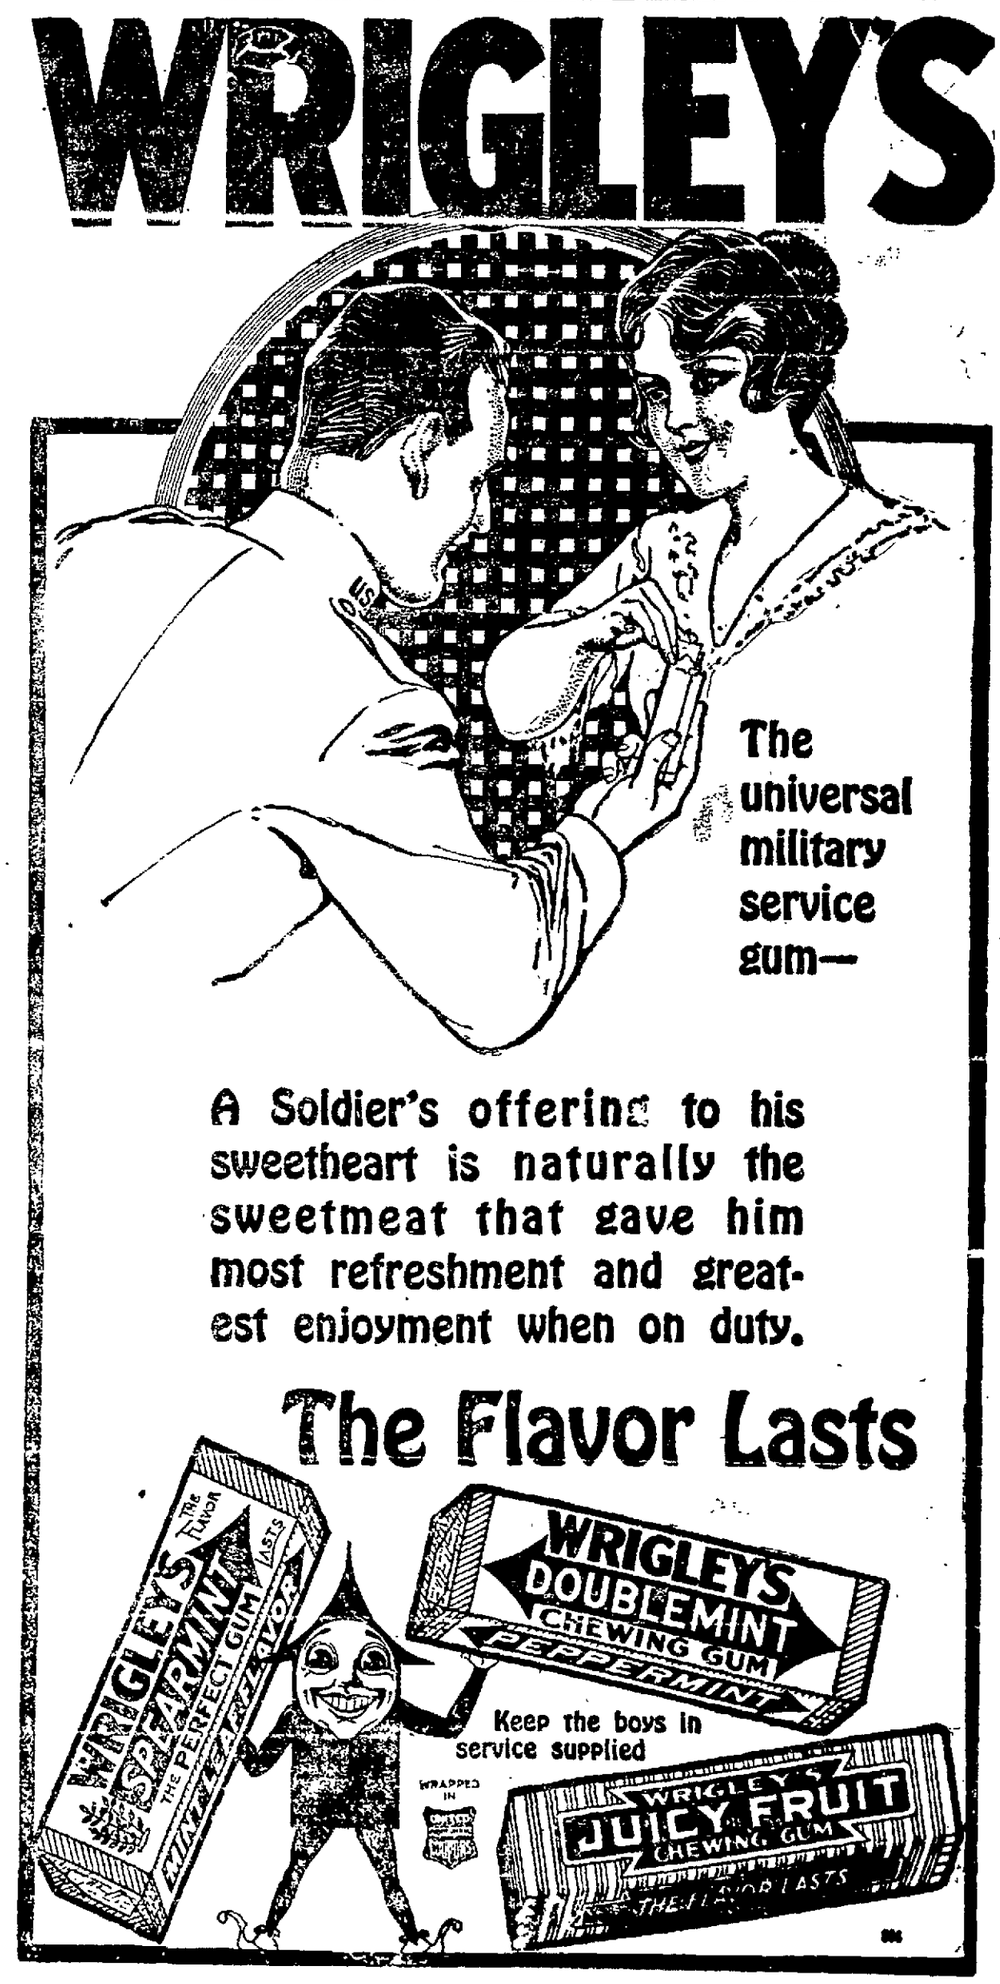

Attention was called by Attorney Coughlan to the claims of Jos. Stevens, John Dalrymple and Wm. T. Bruggs, defendants, that they were not affiliated with the I. W. W. of the World. He said it was understanding that the indictment was intended to be only against members of that organization. P. P. Johnson, assistant United States District Attorney, said the charges against them would be dismissed if an investigation of their claims warranted that action.

Judge Van Fleet ruled that it was not necessary as Coghlan had claimed to set forth separately in different counts the alleged acts of the conspiracy. The court disagreed with the contention of the defendants' counsel that the question of whether labor had a right to strike was involved in the indictment. Judge Van Fleet said it was an unimpeachable right of labor to strike when it is not satisfied with conditions, and that striking under such conditions did not constitute an overt act.

'MORE WHEAT' TO BE HIS THEME

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Immediate plans for increasing wheat production will be urged by Ralph P. Merritt, federal food commissioner for California, in his address tonight at the big "get-together" meeting of California cattlemen at the University Farm at Davis. All the livestock associations of the state will be represented at the conference which will be in session today and tomorrow.

Among the other speakers who will address the gathering are: Professor Gordon H. True of the university farm; Dr. Elwood Mead, of the California Land Settlement Board; Dean Thomas F. Hunt, of the College of Agriculture of the University of California, and Dean H. D. Van Norman, of the university farm.

BANK HOLDUP AN 'INSIDE JOB' CLAIM POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8. — The daring daylight hold-up at the Yokohama Specie Bank, Sansome and Commercial streets, March 19, was revealed today, with the arrest of Thos. Frazier, at Charlotte, N. C., as an alleged "inside job," according to Captain of Inspectors Duncan Mathewson this morning.

Frazier, according to Mathewson, is the brother of Archie Frazier, special officer of the bank, who was absent at police headquarters on an errand at the time of the hold-up. It is believed by the police here that Thomas Frazier, who was the alleged leader of the gang, obtained his knowledge of the ease with which the bank could be held up from his brother.

According to despatches from Charlotte, Thomas Frazier has made a full confession, and a part of the $10,420 in currency which was taken has been recovered. Detective Frank Lord and David Murphy will leave for the southern city to bring back Frazier and his wife and their two children as soon as extradition papers can be obtained from Governor Stephens.

The hold-up, which was one of the boldest in the annals of the police department here, was made by three men driving a high-powered car, early in the afternoon of March 19, who shed the bank employees against the wall and escaped with cash and checks amounting to over $23,000. The others alleged to be involved, Miles A. Bennett and a still unidentified man, have not as yet been apprehended. Frazier formerly resided with Bennett at 1505 Laguna street.

Reputed Raider Owner Is Arested As Enemy

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—Miss Maude Lochrane, reputed owner of the auxiliary schooner Alexander Agassiz, which was seized some time ago as a German raider by a United States war vessel, is under arrest in San Diego today, according to United States Attorney J. Robert O'Connor, after federal officials had been informed she had denounced the United States government and commended the emperor of Germany.

According to information reaching O'Connor, Miss Lochrane's alleged statements were made in a San Diego restaurant shortly after she had been released from jail on her own recognizance pending her being brought to Los Angeles for a federal grand jury investigation in connection with the affairs of the Agassiz.

I. W. W. Headquarters Wrecked by Angry Mob

EVERETT, Wash., April 8.—The I. W. W. headquarters here today presents the appearance of having been in the path of a cyclone. The work of a mob which broke into the place last night was complete. The wrecking was done after the policeman on the beat had been decoyed to another part of the city.

[illegible] lington yesterday afternoon was the breaking into the I. W. W. hall and taking a large quantity of printed matter and burning it.

Three Headliners at Orpheum

"Innocent" Hit at Macdonough

"Strong" Is a Word Descriptive of Play

"Strong" is the right word to use when you talk about "Innocent," the play at the Macdonough theater this week. It is more than strong, for it is beautiful, and it has much charm, but at the end of "Innocent" the big impression that is left in the mind of theater-goers who have seen it, is the impression of power.

One thinks of the power of evil forces that make Miss Innocent the plaything of men. One thinks of the power of fate that shifts strong men about and makes puppets of them for a girl to play with. One thinks of the power of inherited evil—the poison descending from a dissolute father to a seemingly pure girl, who is "innocent" by name, but whose end is the tragic end that sometimes is called "the easiest way." It was the easiest way with Innocent.

Preachers might look at "Innocent" and then preach a sermon, one more sermon about the "sins of the fathers." That is the story of "Innocent." There can be sermons on the stage, perhaps, as well as in the pulpit, and assuredly "Innocent" is a powerful sermon.

Crane Wilbur never plays anything badly, but some things he plays better than others. Perhaps he is at his best in strenuous dramatic situations that call for the explosive power of a young volcano. That is the sort of role he has in "Innocent." He plays it magnificently. Indeed, he plays it so well that it becomes torture at times to watch his own agony as he is twisted about in the little white hands of the girl "Innocent."

He who sees "Innocent" as produced at the Macdonough will look upon the adventures of a beautiful girl, left an orphan by a dissolute Englishman—a prodigal in the Orient. The girl's beauty makes her a shining mark for attention. She is in the care of her father's pal, a fine fellow named Bela. Crane Wilbur is Bela.

This "Innocent" girl is then sifted about from the hands of one man to another—from the hands of a diplomat to those of a rake, and down through a procession of incidents while the man Bela, in whose hands she was placed to be cared for, is obliged to watch this colorful tragedy worked out before his very eyes. That is some tragedy.

The play was adapted from the Hungarian by George Broadhurst. That is probably a sufficient guarantee of its craftsmanship. It is a splendidly written play. It is very well acted indeed by Crane Wilbur and Alice Elliot and Will Lloyd and Hugh Knox, and their associates.

It is so well acted that it harrows the emotions and leaves one with the impression that he has seen an actual photograph of a terrific tragedy.

Possibly "Innocent" is not a play for children. Those who are merely children might misinterpret the truth. They might see nothing but glamor, while those who are wiser see the rocks and poison beneath the smooth colored surface. Those who are children in mind, meaning those who are of shallow minds, might object to the striking realism of some of the scenes in "Innocent," where the clash of primitive passions is plainly revealed.

These persons we have always with us. No more need be said of them, or their point of view. But, leaving children aside and leaving aside also those who are narrow between the eyes it remains true that "Innocent" will be found a magnificent play, a strong picture, teaching a powerful truth for those who, in the matter of intellect, are something more than a little brother to the caterpillar. —R. "In the Zone" Is a Big Vaudeville Surprise

When you are going up grade on eight cylinders you feel a comfortable reserve of power, just as at the Orpheum this week you sense a gratifying surplus of talent. The splendid show, comprising three acts of headline merit, moves along with the evenness and sweetness of a twin-four. You realize that not one of the artists makes an effort in the sense of striving to please; that there is in each of the acts a reserve of genius for entertainment, which, if extended, would sustain your interest to even greater heights.

When artists of the calibre of Gradkin and Jean Tell cater to popular tastes they suggest rather than attain the sublimity of which they are capable, just as a sunset painting serves to call up in memory and revivify the splendor of the real. This is not to intimate that Fradkin slighted his art; the true artist cannot do that. When he gives he gives from the depth of his soul. But the song of the violin, when it sings with the passion of art emancipated, soars in cadences that attain beyond the power of popular concept. So, for vaudeville, that passion is subdued, so that it may not burn too intensively for those whom its fire has not touched with consecration, giving pleasure in whatever measure we are capable of receiving.

It is not to be marvelled that Fradkin and Miss Tell were obliged to come back to bow again and again.

We nerve ourselves for an explosion of the ammunition ship in "In the Zone," the second of the headline acts; but the explosion that occurs is only in the brain cells. We understand something of the intensity of life when death lurks in every corner of the land and beneath every wave of the ocean, and when spies move in and out among us revealing us to the assault of the foe.

The third headline act is Mother Goose reincarnated, the story book come to life. While it is appreciated by the children it caters to the grown-ups. Bert Kalmar and Jessie Brown are artists of attainments in the line of song and dance, and as the pages of the book turn over they step out into the world, as Little Boy Blue, Mother Hubbard and the others and entertain with the witchery of their art.

The Lachman Sisters, two little girls of decidedly unusual cleverness, please immensely with a diversity of features; Marion Harris, a girl of fascinating personality, beautiful gowns and a remarkable voice, sings in the spirit of King Syncopation; Vardon and Perry work together like the wheels of a clock in demonstrated songs and surprising specialties; La Zier-Worth Company demonstrate how Atlas held up the world, two remarkably human parrots sing and dance and imitate, and a Christie comedy and Pathe News features over-fill the time of the show to make entertainment fit for a hero from over there. OTIS SKINNER IN "MISTER ANTONIO"

In the comedy of cheerfulness, "Mister Antonio," by Booth Tarkington, that distinguished actor, Otis Skinner, will come to the Oakland Auditorium Opera House tonight and April 9 and 10, with a special matinee Wednesday, April 10.

Skinner's role of Tony Camaradonio, who turns to hurdy-gurdy, but at heart is a philosopher and optimist, is one which ranks with that of his famous [illegible] Tony, although an itinerant organ-grinder, nevertheless is a lover of all that is beautiful. He believes in sunshine, cheerfulness, and in laughter rather than tears. He says that no man is mean—only asleep.

Otis Skinner is right in his element when playing jovial happy-go-lucky roles. He believes, and rightfully too, that there is just as much ability and artistry required to interpret many comedy roles as in roles where the tragic predominates. In portraying Tony Camaradonio, the Italian hurdy-gurdy man, Skinner's artistic work is apparent. He makes the character stand out prominently and at all times Tony seems genuine. "Mister Antonio" was written especially for Skinner and comedy predominates. The heart interest, however, has not been forgotten, and there are as well several dramatic climaxes.

No actor on the American stage today has a greater hold on the theater-going public from coast to coast than has Skinner. Not only is he an actor of exceptional ability, but he is a man of remarkable education and refinement. He has given to the stage some of the most picturesque characters of theatrical history, and his portrayals have always been artistic and well worth while.

Skinner is under the Charles Frohman management and will be seen here supported by the original cast, including Ruth Rose, Joseph Brenna, Robert Harrison and others. Seats are on sale at Sherman & Clay Co.

"SON OF DEMOCRACY" AT THE NEW T. & D.

Patriotism, thrills and laughs were unleashed in copious quantities at the T. and D. theater. Benjamin Chapin supplies the patriotism in his wonderful impersonation of Abraham Lincoln in "The Son of Democracy," while the sensations were left to Frank Keenan in "Loaded Dice." Polly Moran, the inimitable comedienne spreads an infection of laughs in "Sheriff Nell's Tussie," a Mack Sennett comedy that shows the laugh-provoker funniest in the role of the female sheriff.

Chapin's impersonation of Lincoln is flawless. He has made a study of the great man and fairly makes him live again. "The Son of Democracy" is founded on historical fact, an epoch taken from the great emancipator's life, and it is a drama of intensity as well as instruction. The feature as a whole strikes the chord of patriotism—which, by the way these days, is a sure tonic to entertainment. To the child or adult, or the student, "The Son of Democracy" will afford genuine interest.

Frank Keenan's character portrayal in "Loaded Dice" is his finest screen accomplishment. It is that of an unscrupulous, unprincipled man who defies religion and morality in his quest for success. The moral is contained in the man's undoing. He is stricken down at the end and forced to admit that the forces of the Almighty are not to be opposed. The drama is a trifle melodramatic at times but pleasing and not without its thrills—what the screen fan really seeks these days.

"Sheriff Nell's Tussel" is a succession of laughs. Polly Moran is alone in the field as a screen comedienne. A Pathe News picture contains some unusually interesting war pictures and a fine musical program is provided by Allen Lane, the wizard organist, the Remi Duo and Tickner's big orchestra.

HART DRAMA AT FRANKLIN

Today and tomorrow the Franklin theater presents Wm. S. Hart in "The Hell-Hound of Alaska" and Zeena Keefe and Allen Hale in "One Hour." "The Hell-Hound of Alaska" is a thrilling, virile, vivid story of life in the Yukon regions, and shows how men from the states, who have left their homes to escape the consequences of some rash deed, can wreck the lives of the simple folk of the Klondyke. In this picture Hart has the part of an Alaskan miner who has a great interest in a girl who runs a supply shop, and who has fallen for the flattery of a certain man from the states and, marries him. Hart never ceases to be a friend to the girl and when he finds that her husband is neglecting her and is searching elsewhere for amusement he sets out to right the wrong that her husband has done. The picture is a strong drama, full of deep heart interest, thrilling adventures and in fact has every element that goes to make up a first class Hart vehicle.

The other picture on the program, Zeena Keefe and Allen Hale in "One Hour" is a delightful drama built along the same style as Eleanor Glynn's "Three Weeks." The excellent manner in which "One Hour" has been directed deserves special mention. In many of the modern photoplays the end can be foreseen from the beginning, but this is not the case with "One Hour." The suspense and speculation starts the moment the picture is first flashed on the screen and you are kept guessing until the last scene has been shown. This is a most excellent quality for any picture to possess because one can become interested so much more easily if he has to speculate and study the picture in order to know just what the end will be. Although "One Hour" has been called the sequel to "Three Weeks" it does not border in the least on the immoral, but is a clean enjoyable romance that all the motion picture patrons will enjoy to the utmost.

AMERICAN HAS DOUBLE BILL

The American presents Harold Lockwood in "The Landloper," an adaptation of Holman Day's novel of the same name, and also Peggy Hyland in "A Debt of Honor," a thrilling modern romance. An especially fine program of accompaniments, an overture by John Wharry Lewis and his orchestra, and an Animated Weekly containing the world's front page news, completes the double bill.

Featuring rustic scenes in Florida, fashionable social affairs of Palm Beach and other summer resorts, and a thrilling romance, "The Landloper," provides Harold Lockwood with a becoming role. Lockwood, giving up his clubs and galeties, wagers that he can find happiness as a knight of the road, and proceeds to prove his theory. Dramatic, romantic experiences whirl through his adventure before he emerges the victor. "The Landloper" is a colorful story of romance and adventure, and is of the type most successful with the star.

Peggy Hyland, one of the daintiest of the recent Fox acquisitions, in "The Debt of Honor," has a charming role. As an adopted orphan, the origin of whom is unknown, she repays her foster parent, Senator Stanley Middleton, with a devotional sacrifice which proves her sterling qualities. She knows nothing of father or mother, but she knows the meaning of gratitude. The production draws a sharp contrast between deceit and frankness.

MANY VISIT IDORA PARK

Another avalanche of fun seekers swept through the gates of Idora park yesterday, bringing laughter and smiles and joy.

Two feature events marked the afternoon, the parasol parade and the national 150-yard backstroke swimming championship for women.

Across the board walk milady and her parasol swung jauntily in parade, forming a colorful, joyous pageant. Thousands crowded the inland beach to glimpse the sunshade display. The Liberty Bond parasol made its appearance—a red, white and blue affair with the legend, "Buy a Liberty Bond" written across its top. Sunshades of all colors, textures and designs were displayed.

Dorothy Burns, the marvelous Los Angeles mermaid, flashed across the line in the 150-yard national championship, the aquatic feature of the afternoon.

Meanwhile Idora's funmakers, its wide variety of joyrides, are attracting and holding the throngs. Every afternoon and evening the concessions are running, the park is open to visitors, the skating rink invites lovers of roller skating, while the free dances each night except Sunday are equally alluring.

Next Saturday is Family Shoe Day at Idora, with a batch of $5 shoe orders to be awarded as gate prizes at 5 p. m. and 10:30 p. m.

And Sunday afternoon and evening the wrestling champions of the U. S. army will struggle for honors in the amphitheater.

DOROTHY DALTON AT THE KINEMA

We may all be Americans, but our ideals, our ethics, our morals, differ with our station in life and with the burg in which we have been raised, so that when Dorothy Dalton, man-reared westerner, butts into the heart of a sedate and conservative eastern family, she runs up against many corners that hurt.

However, she is as near man as a big hearted, out of doors, red blooded girl could be, and the opportunity comes to her, one that holds you, grips you and makes your want to get up and cheer. "Love Me" is the play and is being shown all of this week at the Kinema.

Fatty as the heavyweight "Bell Boy" is also at the Kinema, and if it were not Fatty, he would be dead, for any other man couldn't possibly do the stunts he does and live. He's bell boy, barber, street car chauffeur, bank robber and above all, a ton of laughter.

1000 TO ATTEND AMARANTH RALLY

More than 1000 delegates from all over the State will attend the twenty-first annual convention of the Grand Court of the Order of Amaranth of California, which will be held in Scottish Rite Cathedral from Wednesday to Friday inclusive. Grand Royal Matron Mrs. Minnie P. Tipton of Los Angeles and Grand Royal Patron Arthur H. Zigler of this city will preside at the opening session at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A concert will be given at the Cathedral Wednesday night, and on Thursday night there will be a ball for the delegates. Newly elected officers will be installed Friday night.

Mrs. Johanna J. Lange of San Francisco, grand associate royal matron, will be advanced to grand royal matron, and George McGinnis of Los Angeles, grand associate patron, will be advanced to grand royal patron.

The Order of Amaranth is composed of members of the Eastern Star. There are thirty-two courts and 2700 members in California.

Police Searching for Runaway Boys

Believed to have run away in an attempt to return to Clovis, Fresno county, whence the family moved several months ago, Franklin Larrabee, 14 years old, missing since Thursday, is being sought by his father, C. F. Larrabee, of 1633 Sixth avenue.

According to the father the youth left home without his coat, took no money with him and probably set out to go to his brother, who is still in Clovis. The police are working on the case, but so far have found no trace of the missing boy. At the time he disappeared young Larrabee wore dark corduroy trousers, gray sweater and a soft blue hat. He is of fair complexion, blue eyes and dark hair.

HIT BY AUTO.

Charles Duer, resident of Brook street, was hit by an automobile driven by H. Hutchinson, 1484 Harrison street, yesterday afternoon at Eleventh avenue and Foothill boulevard. He was found to have sustained concussion of the skull.

COLONEL GUTHRIE DIES.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8.—Colonel William L. Guthrie, commanding the 309th regiment of the 84th division, an active officer, died at Camp Taylor hospital today of pneumonia. He was a graduate of West Point.

CLERK ADMITTED.

Chester French, for some time night clerk at the Hotel St. Mark, has been admitted to the bar at Carson City, Nev., according to letters received by friends here from Elko, Nev., where the former local hotel man is now living. French studied law at the University of California while working through college as a hotel clerk. He finished his law education in Nevada.

ELCHO CLUB SOCIAL.

RICHMOND, April 8. — Success attended the first social night given Saturday by the Elcho Club, an organization of Richmond young men. The affair was invitational. A program was rendered, luncheon served and dancing enjoyed.

SOCIETY

The Defenders' Recreation Club of Oakland at Thirteenth and Harrison streets is to be the scene of a large banquet this evening when the committees of the War Camp Community Service of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda are to enjoy a Hoover supper, the dishes to be those especially favored by Herbert Hoover, food administrator, and served under the direction of Miss Mary Vale, professor of home economics at Mills College. The menu is to be as follows:

"Hoover" meat pie, creamed carrots, lettuce with French dressing, dessert—Ambrosia, coffee. War bread only is to be served. This is an example of what the committee must live up to and which one hundred are to partake of at this evening's gathering which in purpose is to discuss the work of the War Camp Committee and future plans. The price of the dinner it is understood will not be made known until the close of the repast, but this much is understood each guest will pay the fee required—that not to exceed the cost.

The committee chairmen who are responsible for the attendance of their members are Mrs. John H. Perine, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, Mrs. Frederick Page Cutting, Mrs. William H. Ketcham, Mrs. J. W. Esberg, Miss Dita Powell, Messrs. J. B. Nash, Grant Miller, Professor E. G. Linsley, George Cummings, James Hartsook, Dr. C. J. Gaddis, Fred Hunter, Joseph N. Borroughs, Max Horwinski, and Samuel Hubbard.

Another event under the direction of the War Camp Community Service Committee for Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda is the vaudeville contest between the Marine Barracks of Mare Island and the Presidio, which is to be staged at the Oakland auditorium opera house Saturday evening, April 13. Among the special guests of the evening will be Colonel Lincoln Karmany of the U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Karmany.

The following will serve as patronesses for that event:

Mrs. John H. Perine, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, Mrs. Samuel M. Marks, Mrs. Arthur O. Gott, Mrs. Frederick Page Cutting, Mrs. A. S. Larkey, Mrs. C. J. Youngberg, Mrs. De Ver McLaren, Mrs. Vere W. A very pretty wedding was solemnized Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore, 1223 Hopkins street, the ceremony taking place at 8:30 o'clock when Mrs. Mary Moore became the bride of Ralph C. Juhl of Kansas City, Kansas. Rev. T. A. Story of Berkeley read the marriage service of the Methodist church. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore and recently came from New York to Oakland. The bridegroom is a student of the University of California, having taken the agricultural course in the class of 1918.

The bride was gowned in white net and silk and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and maiden hair. Only a very few intimate friends were witnesses to the marriage service.

Mr. and Mrs. Juhl left that evening on their wedding trip and are to make their future home at Davis, California.

Miss Allison Stone was hostess to one of the smart dinner parties Saturday evening at the Hotel Oakland, the event the Ladies' Relief dinner and ball, and chaperoning the party was Mrs. Edgar Stone, mother of the hostess. Other guests were Miss Beatrice Dredge, Edgar Stone, Dr. Hans Lisser, and Carroll Smith and Gilbert Tyle of Yerba Buena.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Gatch and Miss Orytha Gatch have given up their apartments which they occupied throughout the winter on Van Ness avenue across the bay and will make their home in the future at the Hotel Oakland.

The Claremont Country Club auxiliary of the Red Cross has started a free wool fund and for its benefit a number of the smaller children planned an entertainment during their vacation period, and realized the sum of $7.15 which they donated to the auxiliary. It was the first effort of the children whose ages ranged from 10 to 12 years to aid the auxiliary. "The Snow Queen" was the play presented with the following cast: Marina Machinoff, Ellen McPherson; Snow Queen, Arthurinne Horton; Princess Valeska, June Raymond, Ivan, Emerson Hershey; Paul, the Princess' sleigh driver, Don McPherson; Foma, June Raymond.

The presentation of the play took place at the home of Mrs. Jack Thorton in Desmond street and the program also included the "Dance of Three Nations"—America, France and England—impersonated by Golden Rod, Fleur de Lis and the Rose.

Mrs. John Heidt of Alameda will hold a matinee musicale at her home in San Antonio avenue this coming Saturday when Miss Audrey Beer of Oakland will preside over the program. Miss Ruth Heidt will assist her mother in receiving and those who are to present the musicale numbers that afternoon are Miss Laura Miller, Miss Elizabeth Clay, Miss Grace Ziegenfuss, Miss Mollie Spencer, Miss Helen Heidt, Miss Alyce Allen, Miss Maxine Sabrecht, Miss Dorothy Conrad, Miss Muriel Todd, Miss Emily Jones, Miss Miriam Linnell and Miss Cornelia Armour. Wesley Heidt will assist in the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hogan expect to go to Washington, D. C., and New York for a brief visit in the near future. They will visit with their son, Howard Hogan, who recently received an appointment to Annapolis.

Winifred Black Writes about "The World's Justice"

Hurrah! The villain's going to be punished! I saw it at the end of the last chapter, just as it was time to shut the book and go to bed last night. I'm so glad I chose a Dickens book to read aloud, if for no other reason than that villain.

He's such a gorgeous villain, with never a decent thing about him to make you sorry for him, so mean and plotting and scheming, so deceitful, so mercenary, so cowardly and so cruel.

He looks it, too. You could tell he was a villain if you got a glimpse of him a block away. Why, his very shoes are villainous! And as for the way he holds his hat and carries his umbrella, even a baby would try to creep away from him at the very sight of that hat or that umbrella.

THEN AND NOW.

And, oh, when he coughs, of all the mean, irritating, aggravating, nagging coughs! And that sneeze of his—well, he simply is the most villainous villain that ever lived. But I'm not worrying about it a bit.

I love to read about him and fairly drink in all the details and glory in every mean word and every cruel plan, because I know that at the end of the book I'll have the time of my life laughing to see him slink away with his old hat in his hand, and his umbrella trailing behind him—foiled, defeated, crushed—for good and all!

Now, if Dickens were a modern author, such wouldn't be the case. Oh, no, indeed! Far differently would the villain fare.

He would marry the heroine and poison the hero, and inherit the money and discover the gold mine, and sail away on his yacht all in white flannels with the string orchestra playing "Hearts and Flowers" on the deck and all the prettiest girls in town down to see him off.

And you'd be expected to say, "This is life as it really is," and to smile and be quite pleased with the book and the author and yourself and the poor, discouraging, disheartening, disillusioning, cynical, unhappy world.

And all the time you know it isn't true—not half as true as the old Dickens book, with virtue triumphant and vice punished as it should be punished in the very last chapter.

I've known a villain or two in my life—oh, yes, there are some—and I don't envy one of them, not for a minute.

There's the villain who is always managing other people's affairs and bossing other people's lives and scheming for other people's money—and getting it.

He's rich and prosperous and successful, or at least people think he is, but I really believe he's the most miserable man on earth.

He was ill not long ago, and all his relatives were so afraid he wouldn't die that they didn't know what to do with themselves, and he knew it and lived—just to spite them.

WHAT EACH DESERVES.

There's the woman who wrecked another woman's life, and told cruel stories about the young girl who was struggling to make her way in the world and crushed the spirit of her own little sister and broke the heart of her own mother, and made her father wish that he was dead.

She has diamonds and sapphires and rubies, she has a smart trotting frock and runabout boots, and her limousine is a beautiful affair—all mirrors and cushions and a vase of solid silver for the flowers—and her chauffeur is in livery, and she has a box at the opera, and all the cut flowers she wants whenever she wants them. But no one loves her, not one single person, and she knows it—and I have seen her looking at a plain, little woman in a plain, little dress with a rosy little baby in her arms, and envying her with all her poor, little spiteful, malicious, shrivelled-up heart.

There is something very just in the way this world is run, after all. We all come out about as we deserve, it seems to me.

What a nuisance it must be to be a polished villain and have all the people you cheat and try to hurt get the best of you in a good, hearty, generous, light-hearted laugh, after all!

Kitchen Economies

by Isobel Brands of the Applegreen Experiment Station

As milk is one of the non-transportable foods, we should substitute it as much as possible for other things which can be shipped. People have an idea that milk is only children's food, but the drinking of milk "in the raw," without cooking or the addition of any other ingredients, should be made a habit with adults as well.

Milk is a perfect food in itself, and it can be prepared in so many ways that one could include it as one of the chief dishes at each meal and yet not make it monotonous. The three methods in which milk can be taken are:

As a drink.
As a basis for cream soups.
In desserts.

Here are some recipes for its use:

EGGLESS MILK SHAKE.

½ cupful of milk
1 tablespoonful of cream
2 tablespoonfuls of chocolate syrup.

BREAKFAST CHOCOLATE.

1 quart of scalded milk
1 cupful of boiling water
4 tablespoonfuls of chocolate
1 inch stick of cinnamon
½ cupful of sugar
½ teaspoonful of vanilla

Scald the milk with the cinnamon. Melt the chocolate, add the water, and when smooth add it to the milk with salt and sugar. Cook the whole about one hour over hot water, add to vanilla, beat with an egg-beater and serve.

Here is a good economical soup which those who are fond of the plebeian will like:

BROWN ONION SOUP.

4 medium-sized onions
2 cupfuls of milk
1 cupful of water
2 tablespoonfuls of flour
3 tablespoonfuls of butter
1½ teaspoonfuls of salt

Slice the onions and put them in a buttered pan. Add a little water, cover them and put them into the oven. When tender remove cover and allow them to brown. Rub the onions through a colander, add the water and white sauce (made by adding the hot milk to the butter and slightly browned flour rubbed together until smooth), cook ten minutes in a double boiler before adding the onion. Heat the whole, season it, and serve.

CREAM OF CHESTNUT SOUP.

1 pint of Spanish chestnuts
2 cupfuls of cold milk
1 tablespoonful of flour
1 tablespoonful of butter
2 cupfuls of hot milk or stock
1 egg

Celery salt and cayenne pepper

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter and the two cupfuls of hot milk or stock. Stir it until smooth. Add to this the chestnuts, which have been shelled and blanched, a dash of celery salt and cayenne pepper. Boil the whole for half an hour, rub through a colander and add the cold milk and egg, stirring in carefully. Season all to the taste, let it boil and serve it at once.

CHOCOLATE JUNKET.

2 tablespoonfuls of boiling water
2 teaspoonfuls of sugar
1 teaspoonful of chocolate
1 cupful of milk
1 teaspoonful of cold water
½ junket tablet
Few drops of vanilla

Mix together the chocolate, sugar and boiling water. Cook the mixture over hot water and rub it to a smooth paste. Add the milk and heat all until lukewarm; then add the vanilla and the tablet dissolved in the cold water. Allow the whole to solidify in a warm place without stirring. Then chill in a cool place and serve.

VANILLA CREAM.

1 cupful of milk
1 tablespoonful of cold water
2½ tablespoonfuls of sugar
1 egg yolk and white
1 teaspoonful of granulated gelatine
A few grains of salt and a few drops of vanilla

Soften the gelatine in the cold water then scald it with milk in a double boiler. Beat the egg yolk, add the sugar and salt, then gradually the hot milk. Return to the double boiler and cook it until it coats a spoon, always stirring. Add the vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Pour it into small moulds to set.

Any reader desiring additional recipes for the use of milk can have them by writing to Isobel Brands, Applecroft Experiment Station, Greenlawn, N. Y., enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

CHAPTER LXII.

What Dicky Said About Madge's "Inconvenient" Engagement.

It is not often that I have what women call "a good cry." But when I remembered that my engagement to meet Mrs. Smith was the same day that Dicky had planned such a delightful jaunt to the country, I shed angry tears.

Now he had gone for some cigars, and when he returned I must spoil all his pleasure.

Knowing Dicky's explosive temper and his persistence when he had set his heart upon anything, I dreaded his return and the moment when I must tell him that I could not go, and worst of all my reason for not going. I knew that he would consider it no reason at all, disapproving as he did of the whole affair of the history class leadership which Mrs. Smith wished to discuss with me.

He noticed my red eyes and woebegone face the moment he came in with the cigars.

"What's the matter now?" he queried. His tone sounded a trifle impatient. "I thought I had chased away all your blues, and that you were all ready for a good time tomorrow."

"Can't go tomorrow! What do you mean?"

"Why, when you were talking about your plans, I forgot that I had made an engagement to meet Mrs. Smith at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon."

"Who in thunder is Mrs. Smith?"

"Mrs. Helen Brainard Smith," I explained painstakingly, "the secretary of the Lotus Study Club, the woman who wants me to take the leadership of the club's history class."

"I knew it," he said, raising his hand high above his head, a way he had when angry. "I knew if you began that stunt of going out washing for pin money there'd be something like this every time we planned any pleasure trip together." x "Going out washing!" I exclaimed. "What on earth do you mean?"

"I'd like to know what else it is," he returned sardonically. "The janitor's wife goes to the homes of these clubwomen and washes their clothes. My wife goes to their clubs and launders her brains with a course of lectures in history. What difference does it mean? You both are earning money to help your husbands out. And the time of neither of you is your own. You both are at the beck and call of other women. A nice state of affairs for me, I must say."

"You know you are saying what is untrue, Dicky," I said patiently. "I explained to you fully when we discussed this that I was not trying to add to your income. You have more than enough for our every wish. But I felt that if I acceded to your wish and kept a maid for the housework I must earn the equivalent of the extra expense in some way. I do not want to be a parasite wife, Dicky, neither doing any work inside the house or out."

"Please spare me any more lectures on that subject." Dicky's tone cut like a knife. "I told you once that I would give in to you about this, and I am going to keep my word. But why in creation can't you telephone this woman and tell her you will have to change the day of your engagement to meet her?"

"Oh, Dicky, I couldn't do that. It is a business engagement. You ought to know I couldn't change that appointment only for the gravest reasons."

"Fiddlesticks. I'll bet she'll change it fast enough if she happens to think of any little thing like getting her hair dressed or her nails manicured, that she wants to do!"

"How absurd! Mrs. Smith is a well known club woman. I have heard of her frequently. She is a woman of poise and experience. I wouldn't have her think I would change an appointment lightly for anything. She would be justified in thinking I might not always keep my appointments with the history class."

"That wouldn't grieve me any," Dicky muttered. "See here, I've got it. I'll call this precious Smithy up, though the Lord knows I hate to do it, and tell her you're sick. You are, too sick of having to keep that appointment. I know you."

"I am so sorry, Dicky," I tried to smile as I spoke. "But I cannot break this appointment. Why can't we go Wednesday instead of tomorrow?"

"For two good reasons." Dicky's tone was extremely unpleasant. "In the first place, there'll never be such good luck as to have more than two January days like this. The predictions say warm tomorrow, followed by a drop in temperature. In the second place, I have a very important engagement with Fillmore, the art editor of Sumter's Magazine, on Wednesday.

"My dear girl" (Dicky's voice was patronizing as if he were trying to explain things to a child) "considering that Fillmore throws about $3000 worth of work a year my way, I think I may be pardoned for considering an appointment with him a trifle more important than yours with Mrs. Smith."

"The principle of the thing is the same," I insisted stanchly.

"Oh, you and your principles," snarled Dicky. "I'm getting eternally tired of hearing about them. Anybody would think to hear you that you had a patent on all the virtue and righteous dealing in the world. Come out of it. There's somebody in the world besides yourself and your little two by four rules of right and wrong, although you'll never find it out."

He flung into his room and came out again with his hat, overcoat and stick.

"Don't bother to sit up for me," he said formally. "I'm going for a long walk, and I may be late."

The telephone bell rang loudly. As I answered it Mrs. Smith's clear, vibrant voice came to my ears.

"Mrs. Graham? I wonder if it will inconvenience you greatly if I change our appointment for tomorrow. You said you had no special engagement for this week, so I am venturing to ask you this favor. I had forgotten when I made the appointment that tomorrow my masseuse is coming."

"Any other day will suit me as well," I heard myself saying.

I hung up the receiver with a feeling of bitter anger against Mrs. Smith. I had given up a delightful outing and antagonized my husband to keep an appointment with her, only to have her throw up the engagement for an appointment with a masseuse.

What would I ever say to Dicky

Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY

Make the Most of Your Beauty Points

by Lucrezia Bori famous Spanish Opera Singer and noted Beauty

Finding Your Faults.

It is to be deplored that so many women vainly long for beauty when a fair substitute for it is at their finger ends. You may not be able to change your features even with a surgeon's knife, but the power to change your expression is yours, and to correct the numberless defects you will find after taking an inventory of your faults and virtues. Not many women can be ravishing beauties, but there's scarcely a woman who cannot be graceful.

If awkwardness is one of our defects, make up your mind to acquire grace and poise. You will gain muscular control of your body, which leads to grace, by properly exercising. Few persons are naturally graceful, and the rest should follow a systematic course in exercise and dancing.

Perhaps you possess a charming grace, but lack a beautiful complexion. If the texture of your skin is coarse and rough you are in need of a remedy that will refine and soften it. The simplest way to bring about this change is to soften the skin by rubbing it well with a face cream. Then to bathe it carefully and after drying it with a soft towel apply the following lotion:

Elderflower water..... 1 ounce
Rosewater ..... 3 ounces
Simple tincture benzoin..¼ ounce
Tannic acid ..... 5 grains

A sallow skin is most unattractive and every effort should be made to restore it to its normal clearness and transparency. The remedy most highly recommended for this purpose is "Honey Bleach." The formula for this excellent preparation is printed below:

Strained honey.... 1 ounce
Lemon juice..... 4 teaspoonfuls
Tincture of benzoin 25 drops
Glycerine .....½ ounce

Mix the lemon juice with the honey, then add the benzoin and glycerine. Apply the lotion twice a day, the last time before retiring.

Bleaching the Neck.

Stir the honey bleach into the unbeaten whites of two eggs and add enough almond meal to make a thin paste. Spread a coating over the neck and throat at night, and cover with a layer of antiseptic gauze. In the morning wash this off with hot soapy water and rub the skin with cold cream.

Superfluous hair is a deadly foe to beauty. If there are only a few hairs they may be pulled out with a pair of tweezers or they may be removed by electrolysis. The French method of discouraging the growth of superfluous hair may usually be relied upon if you don't lose patience and discontinue the treatment at the end of a month.

Pour a small quantity of peroxide of hydrogen into a shallow dish and to it add a half-teaspoonful of ammonia. Use the preparation generously on the hairy skin and allow it to dry before making a second application. In addition to bleaching the hairs, and so making them less noticeable, this remedy will in time weaken the roots of the hair.

Perhaps your defect is an ugly, stiff hairline, which makes some women look as if they wore wigs. It is possible to coax the growth of hair further down by the application of a nourishing hair tonic or vaseline. Apply either remedy to the bald places and don't neglect the massage. The formula for an excellent hair tonic is given below:

Quinine sulphate.....20 grains
Tincture of cantharides 2 ounces
Fluid extract jaborandi. 2 drams
Bay rum ..... 6 ounces
Eau de cologne..... 2 ounces
Rosewater .....16 ounces

Stubby finger tips can be made to appear more tapering by shaping the finger nails rather long and a trifle pointed.

There is a remedy for all defects, such as freckles, tan, pimples, blackheads, wrinkles, scanty and falling hair and scraggy eyebrows. These and many more have been discussed on this page.

While small defects are more vexatious than those that are obviously irremediable, time and patience will correct them.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

by Dr Leonard Keene Hirshberg A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University)

HEALTHY IF YOUR SKIN TANS

An albino is a person or animal without color in the fur, skin, hide, hair, eyes or other parts of the living structure, which ordinarily are colored by nature, black, brown, chestnut, blue, green, hazel, grey or other pigment. The albinos are, therefore, characterized by snow-white flesh, circassian beauty hair and pink or red eyes, from the transparent reflection of the blood through the albino tissues.

Albinos do not sunburn, tan or "become as red as lobsters" from the heat and ultra violet rays. Unlike the average individual with colored particles called pigment in their blood, skin, hair and other structures, the albino, despite sunshine and shadow, heat and cold, wind and weather, remains "as white as a sheet."

In the mountains, at the seashore, and wherever the sun shines strongly, with seldom a cloud to mar its rays, advantage is taken of this fact to use its radiant effects to increase human health and to destroy bacteria. The unseen vibrations and radiations from the sun, not the wonderful shaft of its rays, are the parts which destroy disease germs and electrify living tissues of animals and plants. In the Alps, around Geneva, Switzerland, Dr. L. Jeaneret and F. Messerli have devoted particular attention and study to this treatment called helio-therapy, from the Greek words helios, the sun, and therapis, treatment.

TESTS THAT TELL.

Tanning of the skin or pigmentation—coloration—was discovered by these investigators to be an index of the powers of recovery and resistance to disease. Those who tan easily and deeply appear to be in better physical condition than those who burn red and do not tan at all.

At a mountain sanitorium they investigated three groups of children, numbering 200, 720, and 800, respectively. Different tints in tanning were observed and standards were thus established to correspond to degrees of health.

Tan or pigmentation, it appears, is a normal, healthy response of living things, as a defense against chemical injury. It largely depends upon the proportion of the red stuff called hemoglobin present in the blood. If the doctor registers your amount and percentage of hemoglobin he may fairly judge how much you will tan at the seashore or how effectively you will fight some maladies such as tuberculosis.

SUN BATHS VALUABLE.

Premature disappearance or fading of the tan is a sign that your blood is not rich enough in the red principle called hemoglobin—your supply of it has begun to give out.

Tuberculosis is the infectious disease, above all others, evidently, which infects the individual with a virus—tuberculin—which drags down the hemoglobin to a serious degree. The anemia thus produced gives a waxy, sallow skin that tans very little, if at all. The prospects of recovery and the benefits of treatments given to victims of tuberculosis is evident in the depth or absence of the tan. Other conditions of ill health are similarly predicted.

To tan normally there must be an ample supply of real, hemoglobin—red blood. Sunlight treatment will continue to leave its benefits if there is plenty of hemoglobin in the victim's blood.

The sun bath acts on the skin first. This stimulates the capillaries, veins and arteries in its surface and arouses the muscles from their lassitude and lethargy. This in turn nurses the blood and augments the hemoglobin, which nourishes the tissues generally and devours bacilli and other disease germs.

This effect seems to be so constant that sunlight, when not interfered with or diminished by shades, is evidently one of the ideal remedies for debility, laziness, anemia, tuberculosis and other disorders, especially if they can be combined with physical training.

Heliotherapy gives a good coat of tan and stirs up the debilitated tissues. It arouses the anti-toxic, immune powers of the human fabric, and has a special effect upon tuberculosis bones, glands and lungs.

S. L. Q—What causes my hair to split at the ends?

A—This is often the result of officiousness by barbers, scalp masseurs and others who know little of dermatology, singeing and cutting the hair too much. Washing the hair in soaps that have too much alkali and egg shampoos cause hair to split at the ends. The ends should be waxed and the scalp massaged and treated with electricity.

PHYLLIS. Q—What causes freckles, and how can I get rid of them?

A—Freckles are often a sign of good health and inheritance. Some so-called freckle remedies contain irritants such as mercury. These cause serious local as well as other trouble. No matter what is used freckles usually return, and if the skin peels it is better to stop the use of all remedies, because much more harm than benefit may result.

LOTTIE V. Q—I am very much annoyed by a red nose. How can this be remedied?

A—You evidently eat too much food that is rich, highly seasoned and hot. Avoid soups, eat little, and live on a hermit-like fare. Most persons deny overeating and do not realize what is consumed until an inventory is made. Have a dermatologist scarify the nose.

Garis' BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BECKIE'S NOSE.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily! Wait for me, please!" called a voice after the bunny rabbit gentleman, as Mr. Longears was hopping along over the fields one day.

"My! I hope that isn't the skillery-scalery alligator or the nose-pulling babboon!" thought the bunny, as he looked around.

And when he saw Beckie Stubtail, the sister of Neddie, the nice bear boy, Uncle Wiggily felt better and not afraid at all.

"What is it, Beckie?" he asked. "Don't run so. I'll wait for you. What is it you want?"

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" exlaimed the little bear girl. "Do you s'pose mine will ever be like yours?"

"Your what like mine?" asked Uncle Wiggily, a bit puzzled and camouflaged.

"My nose," answered Beckie. "Oh, I just hate the big, black, rubbery nose I have to carry around with me! I want a nice, pink, twinkling one like yours. Do you think I'll ever have one, Uncle Wiggily?"

The bunny uncle rabbit shook his head.

"I'm afraid not," he answered. "Bears' noses are not like rabbits'. Each one of us has to have his own special nose. And yours is a very good one, Beckie."

"No, it isn't," said the little sister of Neddie. "Today in school one of the animal boys said my nose was like a lump of black rubber."

"Who was that?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It was Billy Wagtail, the goat," answered Beckie. "And I told him his tail was like a clock pendulum, always flapping back and forth."

"Oh, my!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "What with you wanting to change your nose, and Neddie his claws and Jimmie the duck not liking his quack, I wonder what the animal world is coming to?"

"Oh, but Neddie doesn't want to change his claws now," spoke Beckie. "Since he dug his way out of the log trap with them he thinks they're all right."

"Well, I'm glad to hear that," said Uncle Wiggily. "Now, if I can only make you think your black, rubbery nose is better for you than my pink, twinkling one would be, I think you'll be happier."

"But my nose isn't a bit stylish, like Susie Littletail's," said the bear girl.

"And there's a good reason for it," said the bunny. "Come with me and take a walk. Perhaps we may have an adventure and at the same time find a use for your nose."

"I'm sure we never will," spoke Beckie.

Still she started off with Uncle Wiggily over the fields and through the woods, and pretty soon they came to where Grandfather Goosey Gander lived. And out in front was the automobile of Dr. Possum.

"Why, I'm afraid Grandpa Goosey Gander is sick," said Uncle Wiggily.

"He is," said Dr. Possum, coming out of the house just then; "Grandpa Gooser is very ill, and unless I can get him some honey he may never get better. But I can't find any honey at all. There is none to be had in the five and ten cent store, and I have sent away over the Orange-Pineapple mountains for some. But there may be none there, and if there is, it may not get here in time. Poor Grandpa Goosey!"

"Oh, dear," said Uncle Wiggily. "Can nothing be done for him?"

"Nothing unless he has honey pills," said Dr. Possum.

"Then he shall have some!" cried Beckie Stubtail.

"Where can you get any?" asked Dr. Possum, unbelieving like.

"In a tree not far away," answered the little bear girl. "I have sniffed with my nose and I can smell honey. We bears can do that better than anything else. I smell honey not very far away!"

"Humph! That's funny. I can't smell any," said Uncle Wiggily, twinking his pink nose as hard as he could.

"Nor can I," said Dr. Possum, wrinkling up his brown nose.

"But I can," said Beckie, and then sort of twitching her black, rubbery nose to one side she smelled her way through the woods to where there was a lot of bee honey stored away in a hollow tree. Beckie clawed some honey out and brought it to Dr. Possum, who made pills of it for Grandpa Goosey, and soon the old gentleman duck was all better.

"Ahem!" said Uncle Wiggily, solemn like, and portentious. "After this, Beckie, never tell me your nose isn't stylish."

"I never will," said the bear girl, and she never did.

FOR WAR STAMPS

HONOLULU, T. H., April 8.—School children of Hawaii are earning money for thrift stamps by picking castor beans, which have just now reached the ripening stage. The children sell the beans to Director J. M. Westgate of the Federal Experiment station at 5 cents a pound, after which they are prepared for shipment to the mainland. There are two kinds of castor beans grown here, the small variety from which medicine is made and the large kind, which furnishes oil for airplane engines.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Danderine rubbed into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents and save your hair. After several applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any falling hair, and the scalp will never itch.—Advertisement.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

"WITHOUT STINT OR LIMIT."

President Wilson has expressed in thirty-three words the position of the United States in the war, the goal for which we are fighting and the program we expect to follow until complete victory is attained. They are words of encouragement and assurance for the American people, words to sustain their confidence that the government under President Wilson will not turn aside from nor become unmindful of the things in the heart of the people. In no other phrase has the President so nearly approximated the wish and the determination of America as in this:

Force—force to the utmost, force without stint or limit—the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world, and cast every selfish dominion down in the dust.

These words are simple and easily comprehended. To Americans they mean war until the Prussian military autocracy is without the power to wage war in the name of the German people. They mean that the United States will mobilize its last able-bodied man and its last dollar of resources to win a complete victory. The people surely know that the more quickly the full force of their power is thrown into the battle the more quickly will that victory be achieved.

To the enemy—the government and the people of the Central Powers—the President has repeated his warning that the war cannot end until those whose ambition is selfish dominion over other peoples, that power "without honor, without conscience or the capacity for covenanted peace," is overthrown. The President has fully grasped the significance of the treachery of the German government in staging the peace conferences with Russia; he is convinced more than ever that the power that has brutally and ruthlessly violated the solemn pledges it gave when it sent its emissaries to Brest-Litovsk can never be trusted to keep faith.

The tenor and promise of President Wilson's speech will win a hearty welcome among our Allies. They will receive it as a solemn and determined pledge to stand against the enemy until the safety of the world is assured.

Now to make good the President's words! The money for carrying on the war and the armies with which to win the war will be forthcoming in generous measure, "without stint or limit." The task of administering the forces of men and material rests upon the government. May it never falter or suffer one minute of unnecessary delay. May it not underestimate the strength necessary to win, or hesitate to ask whatever is required.

FIGHTING WITH SHIPS.

Over one hundred and thirty-two shipbuilding plants of the country are now flying flags of the United States Shipping Board. This pennant signifies that the plants are engaged on government work—the construction of ships to carry men, munitions and food to Europe. The federal government has control of all the work being done, and while there may be some differences in the contracts with the several shipbuilders, the plants are in effect government enterprises. The government has the power to commandeer them at any moment and may take this action whenever the methods of operation is not satisfactory.

Consequently the men of the plants, from owners and managers to the unskilled employees, are working for the government and for the country. Their part is a vital one to perform. Their services in upholding the strong arm of the United States against its enemies are indispensable. They are in a position to fight for liberty on a scale commensurate with the sacrifice of the men on the high seas and at the battle front.

The status of the shipbuilders is more like that of a soldier of the government than private employee of a private operator. In the mobilization of the nation's resources for war they are called upon to render faithful, honest, patriotic service for a fair compensation and the profit goes to the government in the form of necessary transportation facilities to conduct the business of the country.

None may doubt that the workmen are pleased with the new situation in which they find themselves, that they are happy over the opportunity to give a good return for their exemption from military service under the draft laws. The country is counting upon their fullest cooperation and surely the country will not be disappointed.

STOP THE PROPAGANDISTS.

A curious despatch is that which comes from Washington to the effect that Acting Secretary of War Crowell was moved to announce that the casualties in General Pershing's forces had been absolutely minor in number by the activitiy of German propagandists in seeking to spread the idea that American losses have been unusually heavy.

Is official denial the only method at the disposal of the government for proceeding against enemy agents? How long will it be before the government is able to seize the perpetrators of lies invented and uttered in behalf of the kaiser and thrust them in prison?

The answer remains to be given in large part by the loyal citizens of the country. When unverified tales of disaster are heard, when calumnies against the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the soldiers and sailors or against the government or the people of any of the Allied nations, a report should immediately be made to the federal authorities.

If the people generally will coöperate with the government in exposing enemy propagandists that work in the dark; if every citizen will refuse to become a party to anti-American efforts by repeating falsehoods, the task will be largely accomplished. But the government should set a wholesome example by silencing the aids of the enemy who work openly and in perfectly well-known quarters with obvious methods.

Discussion has begun of the seemliness of the Willard-Fulton prize fight. That it should be assumed that the world is suffering for a champion pugilistic struggle at this time, when the fate of nations is more or less in the balance, is a legitimate subject for discussion; and that it should be announced to the public that the sum of $125,000 is involved, and that the event has been set for July 4th, brings the subject up to make it one of acute timeliness. Well-ordered persons, even if they acquiesce in fistic events, will realize that all such enterprises might well be held in abeyance until this great question that is absorbing the attention and the better energies of the people shall have been settled. It will be time enough then to demonstrate who is the physically best individual.

More than a billion dollars of American agricultural exports were sold to the European nations at war with Germany during 1917. Had this nation maintained peace at the price of obedience to the German war zone decree, this European market would have been closed and this billion dollars worth of agricultural products would, most of them, have rotted on farms and in warehouses, or been used in unprofitable ways, with consequent stagnation and ruin to the American farmers. Interest as well as duty urges the American farmer to give financial support to his government in this war. Buy Liberty bonds.

"Right shall be the law of the world," says President Wilson. All civilization applauds. The kaiser, the German crown prince, Bernhardi, Von Hindenburg, the Emperor of Austria, the Sultan of Turkey, the German junkers and the 180 German professors who signed a manifesto that not a single Belgian citizen had been harmed by the Prussian armies, and others of the same ilk, will disagree.

LET US LEARN THE LESSON.

To Theodore Roosevelt, Leonard Wood and a small number of far seeing and patriotic Americans whose names are less famous but deserve to be immortal is due the fact that some little beginnings of preparations for war had been made when war broke upon the country, then dreaming the easy dream of assured, eternal peace.

But for these men the word preparedness would have had even less meaning than it possessed for us a year ago at the beginning of April. For while they had been uttering their warnings of the inevitable, their prophecies of urgent, imminent need, their entreaties to national action, a large part of the community was complacently regarding them as victims of a sort of war hysteria. It seems scarcely credible now that such was the case, but the experience is too recent to admit of question. Millions of generally sensible Americans either turned tired ears away from these pleaders for preparedness as from pestilent alarmists, or paid attention only to denounce them as dangerous public enemies who for political or professional reasons were trying to start the republic down that fatal course of militarism which Prussia has been traveling since Frederick the Great pointed the way.

General Wood comes back wounded from the front across the water to give Congress and the nation the frankest and fullest revelation yet vouchsafed of the actual deficiencies of the present situation, so far as our part in the war is concerned. He does not hesitate to tell the truth, and today his words reach ears that hear. He tells us plainly that we have deceived ourselves or allowed ourselves to be misled about the rate of progress the United States has made to date. He tells us plainly that we are not yet a factor in those great defensive operations in which our interest is as direct as that of France or Britain or Italy. He tells us plainly of the disappointment of our allies at the slowness of America's preparations. A year after the war began, he tells us that there are no American airplanes, no American heavy ordnance in France. He tells us that where we ought to be contributing war machinery to the defeat of the Germans, we are borrowing what we use from the resources of our hard and long pressed allies. He tells us that the fight is going to be difficult and protracted. And he tells us, finally, that the nation needs at the front, for its own safety and for its liberties in the future, not merely half a million men, but five times that number, with another 2,500,000 in readiness here at home.

This is hard truth, but it must be told, and now is the time to tell it. Von Hindenburg is telling us exactly the same thing this week, and the object lesson he affords illustrates General Wood's remarks to the Senate committee on military affairs in a manner which no nation in its senses can disregard. —New York Sun.

NOTES and COMMENT

It is undoubtedly true that, if it were called "corn flour" instead of "corn meal" a very agreeable substitute for the wheat product would be recognized, and especially if there were a pretense that a new method of milling justified the change.

There is much discussion of the Cave Man poster. It is not a real pleasant object to contemplate, but it exemplifies an idea in a striking way—and it keeps us from forgetting what General Sherman said about war.

Bone dry conditions in South Dakota have promoted the ingenuity of the residents. The authorities interrupted a funeral, opened the coffin, and confiscated twenty gallons of booze which was usurping the functions of a cadaver. A bootlegger had had the coffin shipped from the East and followed up the realism to the extent of having a grave dug.

The seriousness of disregarding food laws is illustrated by what happened to millers at Chaska, Minn. For volating orders not to sell flour in excess of a thirty days' supply their mills were shut down for a month. Anybody carrying on a manufacturing business can realize what that means. But such severity is in a way to correct the lackadaisacal way in which laws are regarded by some persons.

It is not extravagant to predict that henceforth all who are employed in institutions of learning supported by public tax will be required to give satisfactory assurances of their patriotism. Some recent instances demonstrate the need of this. And we cannot be assured that there are not still in our colleges those in position to undermine the patriotism of the country.

The Morse (Canada) News is willing for everybody to guess: "We made an awful muddle in our last issue in announcing the arrival in town of Mrs. C. L. Whitby and her sister, Miss Robb, getting Mrs. Whitby's name in as Mrs. Miles and Miss Robb's as Miss Ross. We apologize for the error and leave our readers to form their own conclusions as to what was wrong with us."

The Enterprise tells how they do at Chico: "The discovery has been made in New York that the butcher holds one of his hands on the scale when he weighs a piece of meat. We congratulate the New Yorkers. In this part of the country he holds both hands on it."

The Cloverdale Reveille tells when it is a sign: "When Bill the Blasphemer rolls his eyes to heaven it's a sign some weak nation has been stabbed."

There is some warrant for saying that San Jose is not unanimous in its approval of its city manager. Some 2300 voters have signed petitions to have an amendment to the city charter that would oust the incumbent of that office. He is an importation, and the amendment would require prior residence in such an official.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The labor board of Mare Island has sent out a call for men to work as machinists and laborers. Laborers will be rated on physical ability only, while machinists will be examined as to physical ability, training and experience. There is also need for several machine operators, including those who have had experience in the operation of turret-lathes, etc., and also those who have had at least six months' experience in handling and operating power-driven addressographs, graphotypes and multigraph machines.—Vallejo Times.

When the wife insists that the mushrooms are O. K., that she purchased them from the neighbor boys, the head of the family feels that he is taking a "long chance" and experiences an uncertain feeling similar to that of the candidate who peruses his political record in the home organ a day or two before election.—Richmond Terminal.

In San Francisco they are making sausages from fish. Up to the present date almost 20,000 pounds have been manufactured. In the curing process the fish odor and taste have been eliminated. With its spices the fish product is said to be very palatable. Now we have real "meatless sausages"—but nourishing, nevertheless.—Avalon Islander.

What a great privilege it is for the people of foreign countries to come here and engage in the fisheries! What a privilege it is for one of their number to have the right to walk up to the Fish and Game Commission and demand and receive a commercial license to fish! Our State laws give them this right, naturalized or unnaturalized, and the commission is powerless to refuse, irrespective of the fact that the applicant is a well-known law-breaker. The alien takes the license and may be arrested every day in the week and pay a fine, or, politically, be excused for his wrongdoing, and the commission is powerless to take the right to fish from him as long as he pays the license.—Avalon Islander.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

The steamer Charles Nelson was launched from the shipyards of Hay & Wright. The christening was performed by a daughter of Charles Nelson, owner of the vessel, which was built for the Pacific Coast lumber trade and was one of the largest craft constructed by Hay & Wright.

The Associated Charities decided not to close its woodyard under any conditions.

The Seventh Ward Republican Club reorganized in Judge Lawrence's courtroom at Twelfth avenue and East Twelfth street. H. D. Rowe was elected president in place of City Attorney Dow.

The estimated value of the estate of the late Ann Jane Stiles was $361,515.77.

J. Cal Ewing, at a meeting of the Reliance Club, advocated having two umpires and a referee at the club's boxing contests, so that fair decisions could be depended upon.

SO FAR AND NO FURTHER

PROTECTION FOR THE SOLDIERS

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I wish to extend to you my earnest congratulations for the patriotic, manly stand you take in your editorial of the 3d instant in regard to vice conditions in Oakland. It is refreshing to see a great daily newspaper throw the weight of its immense influence on the side of decency, morality and law-enforcement. You are entirely right when you insist that at such a time as this, when the world's best interests hang in the balance, and the life of our nation may be at stake, that nothing shall be permitted by our officials which will injure or destroy the physical and moral fiber of our city's best asset—which is its citizenry.

If the recent report of Senator Grant is correct—and we have very good reason to think that it is—a situation exists that should receive earnest attention and prompt action on the part of the people if our officials longer refuse or neglect to do their duty. Senator Grant says that he and his young sailor companion visited thirty saloons on Broadway, and in twenty-eight of them the sailor in uniform was directed to houses where he could find immoral women, and at one place a police officer was openly furnishing the information. Can you beat it? A great information bureau that.

Here we see what is plainly a combination between the saloonmen and the fallen women of Oakland to debauch, degrade and destroy the defenders of the nation. For the few dollars that they may gather in they are willing to spread disease, destruction and death among the men on whom we depend to defend the nation's life. Has the Kaiser any more efficient helpers than these men and women, or the United States any more dangerous enemies?

Now that the matter has been brought so prominently into public view by the report of Senator Grant, we may expect a show of official activity for a season, but judging by past experiences it will be of short duration.

Probably an investigation (?) will be started, and as a result of that we will be told hat "Oakland is the cleanest city of its size in the United States." Someone will say for the 'steenth time that "the lid has been put on and nailed down tight." A liberal amount of whitewash will be applied in various quarters and a large quantity of mud will probably be hurled at Senator Grant in an effort to defame his character, undermine his reputation, and discount his evidence, and then the incident will be closed, and remain so until some horrible outrage is committed in one of these dark places that will arouse the public and start another agitation.

What Oakland needs is a thorough house-cleaning, and a good place to begin is in the upper story.

GEORGE E. MOREY.

NO HODGEPODGE WANTED.

We do not share the apparent enthusiasm of Governor McCall for the direct primary, but we have only commendation for his action in vetoing the bill that provides for the nomination of secretary, treasurer, auditor and attorney general by party convention, while leaving the governor and lieutenant governor to be nominated by popular vote. We should have one method or the other, not a hodgepodge of both.—Springfield Union.

E. B. WATER CO. PLANS HEAVY BOND ISSUE

The East Bay Water Company was authorized today by the State Railroad Commission to issue $500,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds, payable in 1946, or a similar amount in one-year notes at the same interest.

The bonds are to be sold at not less than 94 per cent face value, plus accrued interest, or be delivered by the company at not less than 92½ per cent, plus accrued interest, in the payment of notes issued under the present order. Bonds may be pledged to secure the payment of the notes, and notes issued shall be sold for cash at par.

The proceeds of bonds or notes are to be deposited in a special fund and used to finance in all or part the company's expenditures upon its San Pablo dam project from January 1 of this year.

The company estimates the San Pablo project will cost it $1,171,820, from January 1 of this year, and the company believes that the $900,000 bond or notes issued will enable the company to complete the scheme with the exception of a filtration plant, which it estimates at $400,000.

The company has also been authorized to issue in addition $218,084.71 as first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds, payable at 1946, to pay in part the $220,000 notes outstanding or construction expenditures last year.

PEACE TALK IS THREE MINUTES

PARIS, April 8.—General Smuts, South African delegate in London for the British cabinet, was, according to Le Matin, the "figurehead in the council of the entente allies" referred to by Premier Clemenceau in his statement April 5, denying the assertion of Count Czernin that the French prime minister had sought to open peace negotiations with Austria-Hungary.

The representative of the dual monarchy who met General Smuts in Switzerland was Count Mensdorff-Pouilly-Dietrichstein, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at London when the war broke out.

Immediately upon being introduced to Count Mensdorff, says the newspaper in relating the interview, General Smuts, taking the initiative in the conversation, bluntly said:

"Is it true that you wish to make a separate peace?"

This direct query was too much for the trained diplomat, and the count began a long evasive reply.

"Yes or no?" reiterated the British representative.

Obtaining no direct reply, General Smuts said:

"Then———good night!"

The interview lasted barely three minutes.

Premier Clemenceau in the course of his statement in answer to Count Czernin's charge said:

"It would be too easy to recall to what extent Austria has importuned Rome, Washington and London with solicitations for an alleged separate peace, which has no other aim than to slip upon us the yoke which she professes to find to her taste. Who does not know the story of a recent meeting (in Switzerland, of course,) of a former Austrian ambassador, a figure high in the councils of the entente allies? The conference lasted only a few minutes. Hence again it was not our ally who sought the interview. It was the Austrian government."

Adventist Predicts Return of Christ

Carlyle B. Haines, of Atlanta, Georgia, was the speaker last night at the Seventh Day Adventist convention at the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco. Many from the local churches were present. He traced the belief of the Adventists through history, reading from the scriptures, and asserting that throughout the Bible may be found prophecies that some day Christ would return to earth. Pastor M. N. Campbell, of England, the only delegate to brave the submarine zone, also spoke, as did W. H. Anderson, returned missionary from Africa.

LOCAL SOCIALISTS VOTE FOR WAR

The "Peace platform," placed before the local Socialist party for ratification, is today a "war platform," instead. As the result of a heated debate, the Socialists at their Sixth Congressional District Convention yesterday struck from the platform the demands that standing armies be abolished, navies disbanded, and manufacture of munitions by private firms forbidden.

The platform as adopted yesterday carries the usual Socialist principles, with the exception of the anti-war recommendations. Attempts to introduce the "peace principles" met with heated objections. Two proposed platforms were discarded during these arguments.

The platform as finally adopted provides for a peace of no annexations, no indemnities, freedom of the seas, international disarmament after the war, and popular control of diplomatic affairs.

No candidate for governor was mentioned at yesterday's session, as a state referendum is to be held later by the party on this matter. Dr. Luella Twining was named candidate for Congress from the Sixth district. Fred H. Voigt, Joseph Johnson and W. T. Drake were nominated from the 36th, 39th and 40th districts for Assembly candidates. A resolution opposing compulsory military training in the schools was adopted, and Mrs. Rena Mooney spoke. A demand for Thomas Mooney's pardon was addressed to the governor.

S. F. Bank Burglar Suspect Is Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Thomas Frazier, arrested in Charlottsville, South Carolina, in connection with the robbery of $40,000 from a San Francisco bank, and today waiting orders from San Francisco, may be brought back for trial. The police are now waiting further wired details of the capture. Frazier is accused of having robbed the Yokohama Specie Bank with two other men on March 12. Detective Bradley of the Charlottsville police recognized him from photographs, according to the wire to the local police. He was at an expensive hotel at the time. His wife and two children accompanied him.

The three men concerned in the robbery entered the bank at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, locked twenty-eight employees and patrons of the bank in one of the vaults, stole the money and made their escape. They had planned to leave in a stolen Cadillac automobile, but were compelled to leave the car as it had no gasoline.

Western Schedules Will Be Curtailed

Curtailment of freight and passenger schedules on western terminal railroads to conform with the reorganized transportation system throughout the country is provided for in a definite plan adopted by the freight and passenger agents of all the Pacific coast lines, after a series of conferences. Their report has been presented to William Sproule, chairman of the presidents' committee of the western roads, and will be considered within the next few weeks by the presidents. It is expected that the greater number of the recommendations will become effective as soon thereafter as sanction shall be obtained from Rail Director William G. McAdoo. Complete elimination of all competition, both in freight and passenger business, is recommended.

Convict Buyer of Third Liberty Bond

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—A feature of the sale of bonds of the third Liberty loan issue in Sacramento was the subscription of former Supervisor George Helmuth of Siskiyou county, who owns a string of seven stores in Siskiyou county, and who now is serving a prison sentence here for conspiring to obstruct the army draft to obtain the freedom for service of the manager of one of his stores. Helmuth subscribed $500 and his wife signed for a $50 bond.

Rev. S. Fraser Langford was delivering a Liberty loan speech from a street corner, when Miss Margaret Marshall and Lester Hastings, both of this city, interrupted him long enough to have him marry them in the presence of a great throng.

Martinez Shipyards to Build Stone Ship

MARTINEZ, April 8.—The Motor Ship Corporation, incorporated today by a group of shipbuilders, structural, mechanical and civil engineers and naval architects, is negotiating for the entire available waterfront here for a mammoth plant to build concrete ships, according to Jesse Olney, general counsel for the new company. Olney is an attorney with offices in San Francisco.

The board of trustees of Martinez has been asked to make the necessary arrangements for the site for the new concern, and it is announced that as soon as the preliminary arrangements have been concluded, work will be started.

Will Raise Traitors Up to American Flag

SISSON, April 8.—"As long as I live in Sisson the American flag will never be lowered to be kissed by a disloyal citizen, but, rather, will we raise the traitor to his country up to the flag."

That was the edict of Mayor Frank Lawrence which was impressed on all "disloyalists" today after its delivery at a Liberty loan meeting. At the meeting Emil Rupp was forced to salute the colors.

BASEBALL FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., April 8.—Soldiers at Camp Lewis are to have plenty of baseball this summer. Dozens of baseball grounds, some of them resembling the corner lot variety and others approaching the standard of those on the professional leagues, have been supplying recreation for hundreds of soldiers in the afternoon and just before sunset, after retreat has been sounded.

At least two games a week with teams of the Pacific Coast International league have been assured. These will be played when the teams are at Tacoma. Either the Tacoma games will be cancelled on days when they play at Camp Lewis, or the games will be played late in the afternoon, after retreat has been sounded.

The daylight saving law is giving a great impetus to baseball. It means another hour of daylight after retreat, which is sounded at 5 o'clock and full nine-inning games can be played without any trouble with darkness.

There are inter-company teams playing for regimental championships; interregimental teams, playing for the division championship and a division team, drawn from the best baseball talent of the camp, which will meet outside teams at Camp Lewis and other cities of the northwest.

Baseball practice has been going on at intervals since February, whenever a few days of sunshine dried the rain-soaked grounds sufficiently. Baseball paraphernalia is carried into the training grounds and trenches, where this sort of recreation is popular during the noon hour. Virtually every company has its own equipment, and to this has been added equipment supplied by the Young Men's Christian Association in its athletic work.

Boy's Life Ends in Collision of Machines

SAN JOSE, April 8.—An accident which cost the life of Fred Harris, aged 14 years, son of J. M. Harris, a rancher residing on the Infirmary road, with serious injuries to his companion, Theodore Carney, aged 15 years, son of William Carney, an orchardist of Hamilton avenue, and Miss Maydene Doty, a young woman of 31 Yosemite street, Oakland, occurred at the intersection of the McKee road and Alum Rock avenue, yesterday afternoon, when the motorcycle on which the boys were riding crashed into the automobile of E. R. Danielson, of 3974 Piedmont avenue, Oakland.

Danielson stated that, with his wife and three friends, he was driving slowly at that point when in making the turn he saw the two boys but a few yards away, coming at a rapid rate of speed, Harris being seated upon the handle bars of the motorcycle. It was too late to avoid a collision and the motorcycle crashed into the automobile.

'Round-the-Bay Boys Grow Fat in Camp

Army life agrees with boys of the bay district at Camp Lewis, according to Captain C. C. Quigley, former regimental adjutant, who arrived here today en route to the East. Quigley has been with the 363rd Infantry, composed for the most part of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Alameda county and San Francisco boys. He has been succeeded by Captain A. J. McCallen of San Francisco, and detailed for special duty on the Atlantic coast.

"The men are in prime condition and well housed," he said, discussing the welfare of the local contingent. "The regiment has the lowest death rate in the cantonment, but two having died since it became a unit. The boys are well fed and contented."

U. C. Air Students Raise $450 for Band

BERKELEY, April 8.—The sum of $450 has been raised by the students in the School for Military Aeronautics at the University of California as a means of purchasing instruments for a band.

At present the only music marking the daily retreat of the aviators is that which is furnished by buglers and drummers. A fund for band instruments is being raised by means of subscriptions among the men in the aviation school.

No Pardon for Bolo; President Refuses

LONDON, April 8.—President Poincare has refused to pardon Bolo Pasha, convicted of treason, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Paris. His attorney had appealed to the president as the court of last resort.

LASSEN IS OUT OF RUNNING IN CITY ELECTION

Unable to secure his final citizenship papers in time to run for municipal office, Mayor F. P. Lassen of Livermore, who, it was recently discovered, had inadvertently failed to register as an enemy alien, was unable to be a candidate to succeed himself at today's municipal election, although that had originally been his intention. Mayor Lassen, it transpired, had mistakenly believed that his father had become naturalized when he came to this country. The mayor accordingly voted and held office until it was found he was an enemy alien. He had taken out his first papers and the authorities have shown a disposition to permit him to take out his final papers almost immediately. In the meantime Lassen is debarred from being a candidate for municipal office.

On account of this state of affairs unusual interest centered in the municipal election at Livermore, which is one of eight similar elections being held today in east bay communities.

THREE VACANCIES.

There are three vacancies on the Livermore town board, the candidates for which are D. D. Emminger, R. A. Hansen and E. G. Utendorffer. For city clerk, Fred Mathiesen, incumbent, has as his opponent E. G. Still. L. H. Morgan, incumbent, is a candidate to succeed himself as treasurer.

Voting is taking place at Livermore on the proposition as to whether the treasurer shall be appointed or elected.

In Albany two women, Mrs. Laura Isom, incumbent, and Mrs. Freda Brown, are seeking the office of treasurer. The office of city clerk of Albany is being closely contested by George W. Nickerson, incumbent, and Lisle C. Greene. For two vacancies on the board of trustees the following are candidates: R. F. Daniels, Fred Brown, John Gill, H. P. Hoyt and Matthew Stanley.

In Emeryville the following candidates are seeking reelection: Mayor, W. H. Christie; for trustees, J. T. Doyle and H. H. Emery; treasurer, Frank P. Poulter; assessor, William Siebe.

Candidates for trustees in the election in Piedmont are Oliver Ellsworth, Lawrence F. Moore, Walter A. Starr and Frederick M. Grimwood.

IN SAN LEANDRO.

In San Leandro the following five candidates are contesting two vacancies on the town board: Allen E. Pelton and Manuel Rodrigues, incumbents; Benjamin F. Mason, George W. Cowie and L. J. Toffelmier. W. L. Gorge, incumbent, is out to succeed himself as city clerk of San Leandro, and Leo Brisacher, incumbent, and J. J. Bailey are candidates for city treasurer.

Those seeking election in Hayward are: Trustees, Arthur E. Manter and Lester Perry, incumbents; treasurer, Leo P. Haas, incumbent; clerk, J. D. Armstrong, incumbent, and M. B. Templeton.

At Martinez two incumbent city trustees are seeking election to office: Judge C. H. Hayden and Mayor J. C. Colton.

No Will Contest Due Over Flagler Wealth

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8.—There will be no contest of the codicil to the will of Mrs. Robert Worth Bingham, formerly Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, in which she bequeathed to her husband, Judge Robert Worth Bingham, of Louisville, $5,000,000. The state of Kentucky will also collect, without contest, between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 in inheritance tax or enough to liquidate the state debt.

Whether there will be a contest by Judge Bingham of the will itself, which left the bulk of an estate approximating $6,000,000 to Mrs. Bingham' niece, Mrs. Louise Wise Lewis, is not known.

SUPERVISE MATTRESSES.

JURY WOMEN'S VOTES FAIL TO FREE SLAYER

It was only the women jurors who sat through the long days of the trial of Malcolm McGown for murder who championed the man who killed to revenge his daughter's honor. Not one of them was moved during the twelve hours of balloting to change her mind nor swerve from her purpose of acquitting the father who shot the man who had offered violence to his 16-year-old child.

Through the argument, the weighing of evidence, the reminders of the judge's charge to the twelve who must pass the solemn sentence upon the fate of the old man who killed Rasmus J. Grodem, his old friend, the women sat unmoved and mechanically cast their ballot acquitting the defendant against whom the State had brought its serious charge of murder.

BALLOT IS CHANGED.

When the jurors went out to luncheon they left behind them a ballot standing five for acquittal, five for conviction, with two offering a verdict for manslaughter. But after the noon recess the ballot was changed and remained throughout the anxious hours nine for conviction and three for acquittal.

When it was seen that the jury could not reach an agreement after the twelve hours, they were discharged. The case will be set for retrial on Tuesday.

McGown shot Rasmus J. Grodem on the night of January 29, immediately surrendering himself to the police. The tragedy followed the revelation of the betrayal of the defendant's 16-year-old daughter.

ON WAY TO LAWYER.

McGown and Grodem were on their way to an attorney's office in the Bacon building when the shot was fired which snuffed out the life of the younger man. There were no witnesses.

McGown is in a serious physical condition. It is doubted by physicians and family that he will be able to endure the suspense of a retrial.

The three women on the jury were: Mrs. Mary Williams, 1615 East Twelfth street; Miss Kate Morgan, 2946 Brookdale avenue, Mrs. Josephine Pigman, 1432 Third avenue.

Soldiers and Sailors in Competitive Stunt

Whether the soldiers are better vaudeville artists than sailors or whether a sailor is superior as a saxaphone soloist, monologist or jazz banger is a question about to be determined by the theatrical entertainment committee of the War Camp Community Service League.

Through their efforts a contest has been planned to take place Saturday evening, April 13, at the Auditorium Opera House.

The program will be all "dolled up" on specialties and will include selections by the Marine Jazz Orchestra, saxaphone feats, vocal and instrumental numbers, burlesque and monologues.

The judges will be George B. Keefe, general manager of the Auditorium, Harry Cornell and Charles Neimeyer, of the Orpheum and Pantages theaters.

The money realized from the performance will be applied to the fund for maintaining the Defenders' Club, at Thirteenth and Harrison streets, Oakland.

Overcoat of Paint Panacea for Cold

That's how Miss Katherine Booth, of 1745 Third avenue, the "Liberty Bond Girl" rode through the two-hour parade Saturday, maintaining her effective pose with never a shiver, despite the lightness of the costume necessary to the part.

"How did she do it?" wondered the 95,000 people who saw the parade, today the committee asked.

"Oh—easy," she said. "I had a massage and a coat of grease paint before I went out. After the parade—a bath! and ready for another."

Witnesses Are Held in New York Murder

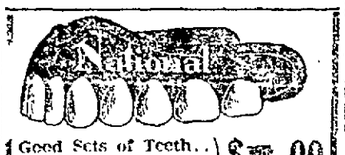

NEW YORK, April 8.—More than 100 witnesses were examined at the district attorney's offices today in connection with the murder of Harry Cohen, alias Harry the Yot, a gambler, for which Morris Rothenberg has been indicted. The witnesses were captured in raids on all-night cafes early yesterday that resulted in two hundred and fifty arrests.

PRISONERS ARE GIVEN WORK ON DISCHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Prisoners are serving as employment agencies, due to the stringency of labor caused by the war in San Francisco. Tom Lewis, vagrant, in the county jail, was hired today between bars; Will Thompson, held as a drunk, was also given a job on his release, and several other employers visited the jail seeking help from men about to be released.

IRISH FACTIONS IN NEW DISPUTE

Resolutions, condemning a speech made at a recent banquet in honor of T. P. O'Connor and adopted by the United Irish Societies, and a heated reply by Garrett McEnerney, who made the speech, have started a new dispute among the different Irish factions on both sides of the day.

McEnerney's statements at the O'Connor banquet are characterized in the resolutions, adopted at a meeting at Hibernian Hall, as "the wilful misrepresentation of the Sinn Fein movement by a grossly ignorant attorney who does not understand the subject."

McEnerney's reply is that the Sinn Fein movement is "frankly anti-British and pro-German," and that therefore the Sinn Feiners are fighting America. The resolution sets forth that McEnerney's statement that Americans who insist on England vacating Ireland are disloyal is untrue, and states that the loyalty of the Irish in America has never been called into question. Provost Marshal Crowder's reports are quoted to prove this.

"Resolved, by the St. Patrick's day convention of 1918, representing sixty-four Irish societies in San Francisco, with a membership of more than 50,000 American citizens, in regular session assembled, that we emphatically denounce the aforesaid statements and aspersions on our race, as expressed at the said banquet to T. P. O'Connor, as being untimely, misleading, untrue and un-American, and as being characterized by a gross ignorance of the Irish question, as well as a complete failure to comprehend the true spirit and ideals of the American people."

McEnerney's answer urges immediate drafting of Irishmen between 21 and 31, as being not subjects of an allen country or neutral country. "If they cannot be drafted I suggest that they be returned to Ireland," he says.

"The whole trouble is that many young Irishmen have been poisoned by the Sinn Feiners," says McEnerney.

President of Stanford to Speak at Ebell

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University, who is so closely allied with the work of the Federal Food Administration, will be the speaker at Ebell tomorrow afternoon, bringing to the clubwomen a new patriotic inspiration. Ebell, with a full April calendar, had arranged to omit the regular Tuesday program tomorrow, but the opportunity of obtaining Dr. Wilbur for the address offered, and the program was hastily arranged.

HOUSE SPEEDS WAR BILLS TO AID PRESIDENT

United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Backing up the President's warning to the Kaiser, the House today took up fifteen military bills, intending to pass them all before adjournment.

With leaders urging elimination of all needless debate, three of the measures were quickly disposed of. Though they appear of minor importance in the program of force, outlined by the President at Baltimore, their speedy passage indicates that Congress is in working fettle.

The measures passed by the House provide protection for carrier pigeons in the military or naval service; restores to widows and dependents of men killed in the war the six months' additional pay they received prior to enactment of the war risk insurance laws and allows high authorities to suspend sentences of courts-martial for minor offenses, so the men may be used for useful work instead of being imprisoned.

All these bills have passed the Senate. The Senate debate on the sedition bill was marked by an attack on Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, by Senator Sherman.

Sherman declared that the constitutional forms of government of the United States are spoken of contemptuously in nearly every issue of Post's paper, the Public.

Incendiary Attempt to Burn Lumber Fails

An evident attempt to destroy a carload of lumber by setting fire to it was frustrated early this morning when the fire department put out a blaze in the Key Route freight yard at Twenty-second and Linden street. FIVE OUT OF SEVEN FROM SEALS GIVE OAKS A GOOD START

By Carl E. Brazier

Pacific Coast League pennant hopes of 1918 are one week old and Del Howard's Oaks, rated two weeks ago by some of the wise birds as the jokes of the league, are setting the pace for the other clubs. An even break with the Seals yesterday gave the Oaks five out of seven wins from the Seals, the league champions of a year ago. This week the Oaks stay home to meet the Salt Lake Bees and bay fans should see some better baseball competition, although with Pitchers Dubuc and Penner on the Bee hospital list, there is no particular reason to argue that the Oaks cannot stay right out in front where they are at the end of the first week of the thirty-week campaign.

The Oaks might have made it six out of seven against the Seals if Del Howard had not wanted to see just what young 18-year-old Gene Caldera, the San Leandro southpaw, would do under fire. And even with the youngster out there on the mound, the Oaks might still have had six out of seven if Eddie Mensor had not got off to a bad start at third. Eddie is not a third baseman by trade; he is merely filling in there while "Pop" Arlett is on the disabled list, but Eddie is staying over on third long enough to give Harvey Christensen a chance to show a lot of class at second and to start some of the boys wondering just how Chris can be benched.

MENSOR STARS IN MORNING.

Mensor had a good morning, his three base hit in the second frame chasing in two of the Oaks' four runs for that inning, and his walk in the ninth paving the way for the sixth Oak run of the 6 to 4 win after the Seals had tied the count. But in the afternoon things were different. Eddie connected for one of the three hits that figured in an Oak run in the third frame, but in the sixth he failed to run out an easy roller to Baum and when the Spider kicked it all over the lot there was plenty of time to head off the runner. If Eddie had run out that ball he would have been safe and with a single and a long double coming right after it, there would have been at least one more run added to the Oaks' short end of the 5 to 2 score. And that one run might have paved the way for several more.

But Eddie's worst shortcomings were all bunched in the fifth inning and were really the cause of young Caldera's defeat. Spider Baum started the frame by taking a mighty swing and chopping a weak, slow roller down the third baseline. Mensor was playing back and had no chance to make a play for Baum at first, and yet just as the ball showed distinct signs of rolling foul, Eddie pounced on it and kept it in fair territory. Indian Smith followed with a bunt down the third base line and was safe at first when Mensor's throw to first pulled Christensen off the bag. Mensor came up with the ball and a handful of mud that he gathered somewhere, and that explained his bad throw.

SEALS FILL THE BASES.

The Seals had found a weak spot and they kept playing it; Charley Pick dumped one in the same direction, but Caldera handled the ball; he had it in plenty of time for a forceout at third, but Mensor had not gone back to the bag and there was no chance for a play anywhere. The bases were filled and Hunter's single and an infield out made three runs easy for the [illegible].

Those three runs were just the margin of victory for the Seals, but Caldera could be blamed for only the first of them. Of course Mensor can not be blamed very heavily, for third base is not his position, and with the exception of yesterday afternoon, Eddie has been playing a great game for the Oaks this year. He has been showing more speed than last year and he has been hitting the ball hard all the time.

FIRST CHANGE IN PITCHERS.

A walk, two singles, another walk, and an error by Croll, who let a hard hit ball go through him, had given the Seals two runs in the second frame, and of these two, Caldera was responsible for only one, the second scoring on the error. So the San Leandro youth was responsible for only two runs in the seven innings he pitched before giving way to a pinch hitter. When Caldera was removed from the mound, it was the first time this season that the Oaks had changed pitchers during a game—that is some tribute to a pitching staff for the first week of the season—six games straight without more than one pitcher to the game.

Caldera showed all kinds of nerve out on the mound, and while he did not appear to have much on the ball he had enough so that he had the Seals chopping down weak ones or popping up easy ones. If Mensor had not had an off-day and if the Oaks had not been up against Spider Baum, it might have been a different story for Caldera today. At any rate he looked good enough to deserve another start and to figure on better luck next time.

For the Spider was out to get revenge for that eighth and ninth inning mauling that the Oaks gave him on this side of the bay Thursday. And the Spider was in just the right kind of shape to get that revenge. He turned the Oaks back in order in all but three innings and he has an argument on his side in saying that the Oaks should have been shut out.

SMITH PLAYS TOO DEEP.

In the third inning Caldera poked a single back of second; Indian Smith was playing center field after Maggert's bad knee had given the Seals a morning alibi; the Indian is not a center fielder—if he had been would probably have been playing in closer and would have grabbed that drive from Caldera's bat. Mensor followed with a single to right and Middleton poked another safety to short center that a center fielder could have grabbed if he had been playing in closer than Smith dared to play. That safety of Middleton's chased in the first Oak run. But with runners on second and third, the Oaks lost their best chance when Pick took care of Leifer's roller.

In the sixth Middleton singled to center and scored all the way from first when John Hummel, the veteran big-time boy who does not look good enough for a Coast League job, misjudged Miller's drive to the right field fence and lost a chance to catch it. The drive counted for two bases, but Gardner could not chase Miller home.

HAWKS BEATS ONE OUT.

Outside of these chances in the third and sixth frames, the Oaks had only one other frame with men on the paths. Chick Hawks, batting for Caldera, started the eighth by beating out a roller to Baum. Mensor flied out to Hummel. Middleton forced Hawks at second; Hunter's error gave Leifer a life and there were two Oaks on the paths when Hack Miller strode up to the plate and somebody remarked that there had not been a home run on the Seal lot this season. But Hack did not hear the remark and ended the inning with a weak pop to Downs.

SPEED HAS BAD INNING.

Speed Martin was on the hill for the Oaks and he had one bad inning—the third. He mixed in a couple of walks with a couple of strike-outs and then came along three singles in a row by Hunter, Koerner and Downs, to count four runs. The Seals had men on third twice in later stages of the game, but each time the Seals could not hit Martin's offerings beyond the infield when a [illegible] would have counted.

The Oaks did not waste any time solving O'Doul to get out in front again. Christensen started things in the fourth with a single to left and scored on a sacrifice and Martin's single. In the ninth Mensor put the game on ice when he scored the sixth Oak run. He started with a walk, moved up on Middleton's single and Leifer's infield out. Miller was purposely walked, filling the bases. But O'Doul made the mistake of hitting Gardner, forcing in a run. Christensen could not get the ball past Hunter and the chance faded for a few more runs. But 6 to 4 was bad enough for the fifth straight beating that the Oaks had handed the Seals.

Angels-Bees Swap Compliments With Two Shutout Games

LOS ANGELES, April 8. — Yesterday was whitewash day for the ball teams here. Killefer's Angels smeared the Salt Lake Bees with a 14 to 0 coating in the morning, and the Bees did their best to return the same compliment by coming back in the afternoon and pasting a 9 to 0 one on the Angels.

Otis (Doc) Crandall, pitching for the Angels in the morning, again showed that he is still there by allowing the Bees to make only one hit.

In the afternoon, McCabe was sent in to the box for the Bees by Manager McCredie, and the pitcher behaved in good manner, only five hits being garnered off his delivery, while the Bee batters hammered Brown, Valencia and Boles all over the lot.

Union Iron Works Defeats Alameda 2-1

The Union Iron Works and Alameda teams met in a practice game at Lincoln park yesterday afternoon, and the iron workers under the management of Al Earle, slipped over a 2 to 1 win on Fred Krumb's boys. Earle did not have his full quota of players out, but just the same what he did have indicates that he should have a strong team in the Shipbuilders' league. Rives worked in the box for the Alamedans, while Birbeck and McFarland shot them for the iron workers. The score:

Union Iron Works	2	3	3

Senators Make Only Two Hits, But Nose in for 2-to-1 Win

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—The fans of this town are satisfied that Manager Bill Rodgers has a collection of fighting ball players in his lot of Senators. Yesterday afternoon the Senators defeated the Vernon Tigers, 2 to 1, and broke even on the series, 3 and 3. The Senators made only two hits off Mitchell, the Vernon pitcher, but one of these was a homer by Art Griggs.

The second run for the Senators came in the eighth inning, when the Tiger infield got mixed up on its plays. Easterly walked, took second on Pinelli's bunt; Elliott hit to Mitchell, who headed Easterly off at third; at least that is what the Vernon infielders thought, and they started play to get Elliot going to second. Borton made a wild throw in the tangle after Elliott, and Easterly crossed the plate. Umpire Finney ruled that Easterly had not been touched out. That one run gave the Senators the game.

Mickey Shader made his first appearance in the league season yesterday when he pitched one inning after Calder have way to a pinch hitter. Mickey started right in with his spitter and Jerry Downs clicked the first ball pitched for a single to center. But Mickey held the next two batters to infield balls, and although he hit Brooks to put two on the bases, Mickey pulled out of the hole by striking out O'Doul.

Joe Miller and Eddie Rose Are Added to Card

Tommy Simpson, matchmaker for the Emeryville Athletic Club, is determined to make up for lost time and he is working hard to make Wednesday night's revival meeting at Emeryville one of the best boxing programs that he has ever staged. With this in view he has scratched one of the bouts and substituted what looks like a much stronger one. Joe White and Eddie Rose have been put on the card and Dave Shade and Teddy O'Hara have been taken off. Simpson got a squint at Shade and O'Hara in their workouts and decided that with competition as strong as it is in the fight game these days he could not take a chance on offering the fans that bout. Miller and Rose should put up a rattling good bout and they really give Simpson a card with three special events besides the Murphy-Barrieau main event.

The card as it now shapes up for Wednesday night at Emeryville is as follows: Spud Murphy vs. Frank Barrieau; Jimmy Duffy vs. Jimmy Musson; Joe Leopold vs. Shell McCool; Jerry O'Keefe vs. Johnny Nunes; Kid Carter vs. Wild Willie Webb; Joe Miller vs. Eddie Rose; Billy Shade vs. Young Turner, and Joe Heavy-Hitter vs. Jack Freitas.

Cardoza's Home Run in Ninth Is Melrose Defeat

San Leandro fans were treated to some more good baseball yesterday afternoon when the Melrose and San Leandro Merchants teams met in the first of their game series at the San Leandro park. The fans saw a great pitchers' battle between Al Kogler and Artie Schimpff, with the former having a little the better of the argument until the ninth inning, with the Melrose team leading 1 to 0. Kogler weakened a little and allowed two of the San Leandro runners to get on the bags, and then "Husk" Cardoza, the San Leandro shortstop, put the ball over the left field fence to win for San Leandro, 2 to 1.

Only two runs were needed to win the game, and as the necessary runs were perched on second and third at the time Cardoza made his circuit shot, he only gets credit for a double. But the hit will long rest in the minds of the San Leandro fans who carried their shortstop around the field on their backs after he finished circling the bases.

Kogler and Schimpff were in form to serve the big crowd of fans with as good a game as they might want to witness. Five hits were made off Schimpff, while only four were gathered off Kogler. Three of the hits off Schimpff were made in the seventh inning when Melrose scored their lone run. Gatter opened the inning with a hit to third. O'Connor came through with one to left, Gatter being held at second. Hermle laid down a bunt, but was out for interference. Williams fanned, but Billy Homen came through with a hit to right, scoring Gatter. O'Hara grounded out to close the inning.

Nothing more was done until the ninth when Cardoza sent Melrose home with a beating. Vargas, the San Leandro catcher, singled; Schimpff fouled out, Jerome walked, and then came Cardoza with his long swat which cleared the left field fence by a few inches. The score:

Shipbuilders Want Boxers to Apply in Person for Bouts

Many boxers will be on hand tonight at the meeting of the Shipbuilders' Athletic Association, which will take place in Spalding's Fan Room at 416 Fourteenth street, and at which the selections of contestants for the boxing program of the next shipbuilders' carnival will be made. Many boxers have claimed that they were not being given a chance to show at the carnivals, so the committee requests that all who care to box at the next carnival be on hand at tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock. The carnival will be staged at the Oakland auditorium a week from tomorrow night. Jimmy Dundee and Harry Pelsinger will be rematched for the main event, and a strong list of preliminary bouts will be made up from the boxers at tonight's meeting.

Plans for the opening of the Shipbuilders' League baseball season next Sunday and the big invitational dance which is being planned for next Saturday night at the auditorium will be completed at the meeting. President Gordon M. Gliddon wants every one interested in the shipbuilders' athletic to be on hand, as he is planning a big parade for next Saturday night.

Dorothy Burns On Hand to Defend Her Title, But No Race

The 150-yard back stroke national championship swim that was to have been held at Idora Park yesterday afternoon was postponed. Dorothy Burns of Los Angeles was on hand to defend her title, but all other entrants for the swim failed to show, many of them feeling that the distance of 150 yards was too long. A request will be made that the distance be cut down to 50 or 100 yards, and that the championship meet be held April 28.

The national championship 50-yard swim will be held at Idora April 28 and Claire Galligan and Gladys Boyle of the New York Life Saving Club will participate. They will arrive here for the meet April 19 and will train at Idora.

Just Taking a Cut at 'Em

By C. E. Brazier

Who do you think may be playing first base for the Oaks before many weeks? None other than Chicken Hawks, the speed-burning recruit whom Del Howard picked up from the winter baseball ranks on this side of the day. Just because Rod Allen is out of the running for a job on the first sack does not mean that Rube Gardner has the job cinched. Hawks is out practicing around first before the games these days and with his lightning speed and good throwing arm and long reach he seems to have all the essentials for the job. So it will be up to Rube to keep moving right along all the time or he will find Hawks out there. But at that, Rube would not be a bad man to have on the bench when the old pinch-hit was needed.

Notice how Honus Mitze has been playing this year! Everybody is remarking that the little Oak catcher is showing better form than he has shown for the last two or three years. Honus admits that he is getting old, but says that he is taking better care of himself than ever before and is being rewarded for it by better results. He is certainly showing more speed, better hitting, and better throwing than he did last year, and he looks due right now to put in a strong bid for first honors among the league catchers.

In the morning game yesterday, the fans blamed Murray for not making a throw to second when McKee stole on a third strike. It did look as though Murray figured there were three out instead of two and it kept the inning open long enough for the Seals to tie the score when they might have [illegible] turned back without a score. But Murray is not taking any chances with that throwing arm. He really should not be in there catching. After carrying his arm in a cast most of the winter, it is natural that the use of the arm should be slow in coming back and it is better to let one man get away with a steal, even if it costs a game, than to spoil whatever chances there are of Murray getting back into shape to bear his share of the work as catcher.

Crockett fans were out in force yesterday morning. Upwards of 250 of the baseball enthusiasts from the town that won The TRIBUNE pennant in the Midwinter league came down on a special train and invaded the Oakland park for the morning game. They had tobacco, bats, shoes, spikes, and a lot of other gifts for the ball players who helped out the sugar-town on the map last winter. Roxey Middleton received enough tobacco to last all summer; he also received a pair of shoes, but Foghorn Murphy took them away and presented them to Speed Martin. Harvey Christensen and Bill Prough of the Oaks, and Phil Koerner of the Seals, all of whom played with the Crockett champions, were also remembered. Tom Cahalan, manager of the champions, made a pretty bow out in the center of the diamond when Foghorn Murphy introduced him, but Foggy had to take off Tom's hat. Tom was too busy trying to turn around so that the sun would strike on that TRIBUNE gold championship button that he wears in his coat lapel.

After the game Cahalan announced that he has signed up Red Torkelson and Del Crespi, now with the Quartermasters' team, to pitch for Crockett this summer. He also has Bill Llewellyn, the Seal recruit catcher, on his list. Frank Sears is another name that Cahalan has let leak out.

Crockett was not the only independent baseball town represented yesterday morning. There was a good delegation down from Richmond to root for Harvey Christensen, the graduate from Otto Dietrich's team. And they saw Harvey have a good morning. His single started the Oaks on the way to breaking up a tie score and in the eighth he hit a triple. But his prettiest play was in the seventh when he went out into short centerfield to take a pop fly and make a quick recovery to double up O'Doul off second.

Chris has been going great guns around second since he got in there regularly. The same goes for Ralph Croll in the short patch. With two youngsters around the keystone sack. Oak fans had reason to be a bit dubious, but they have been working together like a couple of veterans.

The Seals have acquired pitcher Tom Seaton and outfielder Harry Wolter and now it remains to be seen whether even with them in there and Roy Corhan back in the lineup, these Seals will look so much more powerful than they did against the Oaks. The Seals looked weak last week, but there was something else that the transbay boys would not admit—the Oaks looked strong. Spider Baum will be a good pitcher for the Seals, but outside of him, even Tom Seaton does not look like such an unusually valuable asset when you stack that Seal pitching staff up against Prough, Martin, Krause, Kremer, etc.

There were two good crowds out at yesterday's games. In the morning there were close to 5000 fans at the Oakland park—a better crowd than on opening day Thursday on this side of the bay. In the afternoon, there must have been close to 7500 fans out on the other side of the bay. And judging from the rooting, there were more Oak fans in the stands across the bay than in a long time. All of which goes to show that Oakland fans will come through strong if they have a club that is up there, winning with the rest of them.

Bill Prough will work against the Bees in the opening game of the series across the bay tomorrow. Harry Krause will probably pitch the Wednesday game. If the Oaks should get off to a good start in these two games, Del Howard will probably start Buz Arlett in the Thursday game on this side of the bay, but if the Oaks should be off to a bad start, Speed Martin will probably work the Thursday game. Anyway ou figure it, the Oaks are well fixed for pitchers for the series with the Bees.

Next Monday the Oaks will be entertained at Neptune Beach. The Oaks play the Bees here this week and then stay home another week to meet Sacramento, so they will spend the day of rest at the beach. Here's hoping that the contemplated celebration does not have the same effect as in some former years and cause the boys to go into a slump that will take all the glory out of the festivities.

Rube Gardner Sets Pace in Extra-Base Hitting Up to Date

Individual batting averages do not count for much in the first few weeks of the season. Good proof of this is found in the first batch of averages for the Coast League, which show Bill Prough batting at a .500 clip with Jacques Fournier of the Angels, one of the most dangerous hitters in the league, far down the list at .222. Mensor and Mitze are right up at the top along with Schick of the Angels for first honors among the run-makers; Rube Ellis and Denny Wille are setting the pace for the base-stealers. Rube Gardner has it on all the boys in extra base hits. Here are the averages for the boys above .200; they do not mean much right now, for the batters who are up on top now may be down around the bottom by the time the season is old enough for things to adjust themselves.

Rube Gardner has three two-baggers and one triple to his credit so far. Harvey Christensen, Hack Miller and Bullet Leifer are the other regular Oaks who are batting in the .300 ranks.

Known for Fifty Years as the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field, are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs, and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system, and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store today. It is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case, write to Medical Director, 442 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

Hanlon Team in Ten-Inning Tie With Maxwells

A big crowd of fans turned out at Bushrod playgrounds to see the Hanlon Shipyard and Maxwell Hardware teams battle. And they saw a real battle, for the teams went ten innings to a 7 to 7 tie, the game being called because time limit on the grounds was up.

Bill Kenworthy, manager of the Hanlon team, presented a strong lineup against the Hardware boys, having such players as Clyde Wares, "Tub" Spencer, Pat Kilhullen, Billy Lane and some high class semi-pro players. The game was a see-saw affair throughout, the Maxwells getting off to a two-run lead in the first inning, only to lose that lead when the ship builders scored four in the third by bunching four hits on "Red" Lydiatt.

The Maxwells found Pitcher Scott of Hanlon's easy pickings, and took the lead by scoring two in each of the fourth and fifth innings, but Hanlons came back with two more in the sixth and Maxwells tied it again for 7 all, with one in the ninth.

Roy Bliss has been signed by Kenworthy for the Hanlon team, and he is expected to share the pitching with Sammy Beer, whom Kenworthy is now angling for. The score:

St. Mary's Phoenix Again Bumped by Quartermasters

The Quartermaster's team of the Presidio slipped over its third straight win on the Phoenix team of St. Mary's college, when yesterday afternoon at the Richmond ball park they scored two runs in the first and one in the seventh for a three to two win. Red Torkelson held the collegians runless until the ninth inning when they put over two runs without the aid of a hit, errors by the Quartermasters cutting a figure. Ted Brandon did the hurling for the Phoenix and got by in good style after the first inning. The score:

Mazzini Hardware Boys Get Good Start by Beating Sailors

The Mazzini Hardware team, which up to last Sunday was playing under the name of Niles, got off to a good start at Lincoln Park yesterday afternoon, by defeating the sailor boys from Yerba Buena Island by a score of 6 to 0 score:

It was the first game for the hardware boys at Lincoln Park, and they made a hit with the Alameda fans right off the jump. Fodder Dolan was in the box for them, and the islanders got only one hit off him, that being made by Artie Black. Layza, who hurled for the sailors, was touched for nine hits and had the breaks of the game against him. The Mazzinis scored two in each of the third and fourth innings, and added another in the sixth.

The sailor boys found Dolan's slants difficult to solve, as the summary will show that Dolan turned fourteen of them back to the bench on strikes. Chase at short for the hardware boys showed up well in his fielding. The score:

Pittsburg is no new scene for Bill McKechnie. Some years ago Bill pastured at first for Fred Clarke, when he managed the Pirates. This year he will hold down third, taking the place of Tony Boeckel, who has gone into the army.

Manager Jack Hendricks is quoted in a St. Louis paper to the effect that the Cardinals will finish fifteen games closer to the pennant than they did last year. The wonder of it is the Mound City scribes didn't claim a pennant for Jack.

Allendale Easily Defeats Brooklyn; Jensen Shows Form

The Brooklyn parlor of Natives team was given a bad beating by the Allendale Merchants at Melrose ground, yesterday afternoon. The Merchants hammered Pitchers Ryland and Swenson for eleven hits, on which they scored as many runs, while Charley Jensen held the Brooklyns to five hits and two runs. Ed. Whittier featured with the willow for the winners by getting two hits, one being for three bases with the bags full. Van Dorn at first and Whittier did some good fielding for the Merchants. Dreisbach at third and Pease at second for Brooklyn had a busy day when it came to handling chances around their respective positions. The score:

Fishing and Other Sports Enjoyed by Local Boys in France

It seems strange to say that the American boys over in France get time to go fishing, play baseball, hold track meets and go to the theaters, but that is what they do, besides fighting the Kaiser, according to a letter received by Ambrose the tailor from Gill Peterson who at one time played on his ball team. Gill also mentions that he got news of the East Bay Cities' Midwinter league by reading The TRIBUNE, which was sent by some friends. The letter follows:

France, Feb. 28, 1918.

Friend Ambrose: Well, I am still farther away from Oakland now. I am in France and like it pretty well, although we are having lots of cold weather, snow, rain and frost.

I have not seen Herrier, Len Hollywood or any of the other boys since I came across the pond. One of the boys here got a couple of TRIBUNES from home. They were of December 10 and 27. In one of them I saw where the Oakland Native Sons' ball team beat the Southern Pacifics, 10 to 4, in the Midwinter league, Speed Martin and Hanush being the battery for the Natives. Keep up the good work. We get out and play a little baseball ourselves.

We had a track meet last Saturday, but I did not go to it, as I have been laid up with the mumps for the last three weeks. I was in bed for about five days, but I am all jake again.

A couple of fellows went out trout fishing last Sunday, but they did not meet with much success. Has any more of the boys been drafted? There is one picture show here. They charge one franc or 20 cents to get in. Everything is in French, so it is hard to understand.

Well, Bro., I think I will close as it is getting time for supper. Remember me to all the boys and ask them to write to me. Regards to all.

Claremont Golfer Is Favorite for Honors in Title Play

Jack Neville and Douglas Grant are out of the running for the 1918 Northern California golf championship on the Beresford links. Vincent Whitney put Grant out of the running, 5 and 4; Dr. James Eaves defeated Neville, one up on the eighteenth. But Eaves was defeated himself in the second round play by Gerald Marx, the young Claremont player, who is now rated as a favorite for the title honors; he defeated Eaves, 6 and 4. D. P. Fredericks and Marx will meet in one-half of the semi-finals next Saturday, and in the other semi-final match Vincent Whitney and Vernon S. Hardy will meet. It looks like Hardy and Marx as favorites for the final match next Sunday

Eddie Stout Wins P. A. A. Run; Roach Gets Nearer Top

Eddie Stout has one more distance run down on his books as a victory as a result of his 43 minutes and 32 seconds performance over the new Visitacion valley course yesterday. Stout took the lead at the start and was never headed by anyone in the field of seventeen starters. Only one of the starters failed to finish the course, which measures approximately six miles. Maurice Roach, the Oakland boy who took high school honors in the last TRIBUNE marathon, continued to show improvement and it will not be long before Roach will be found at the top of the list if he continues to climb the way he has been recently. Yesterday he finished fifth in the P. A. A. run and was only one minute and five seconds behind the winner. Following is the order in which the runners finished with the time of each:

Iron Workers Will Meet Thistles in Final Soccer Play

As was expected, the Union Works' soccer team will be the one to meet the Thistles next Sunday in the final game for the soccer cup tie. Yesterday afternoon at the Ocean Shore grounds, the iron workers defeated the Barbarians 3 goals to 2, but not until after they had to put up a great uphill battle. Covall of the Barbarians made it a hard struggle for the Iron workers, as he was responsible for the two scores of his team. He scored one goal on a penalty kick, and he handled the ball into the net on a pretty passing rush via Paice to Barry to Haig.

Bobby Woods did the big fighting for the winners, and he scored the last two goals for them. Both teams were lacking in their full strength, Otto and Thorp being out of the iron workers' lineup, while McFarlane was missing from the ranks of the Barbs.

Thirty-Four Tech. High Boys Report to Swimming Squad

Technical high school is putting forth great efforts to win the A. C. A. L. swimming meet to be held Saturday, April 20. Captain Melvin Johnson and Manager Milton Buckley are working hard with their squads. They are being coached by C. F. Martin, physical director.

This is the second year of Tech's organization of a swimming team, and it is a banner year as far as interest goes. Thirty-four boys of promising material have registered as members of the California interscholastic federation. At present they are training at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. The number out for the team will be materially increased at the conclusion of track activities. The following are out for the squad:

The Technical boys expect to meet for training purposes teams from Oakland and Berkeley Y. M. C. A., U. C. freshman, Belmont and Stanford freshman. The squad will be given two trips during the season.

HOGES WIN TIGHT GAME.

The Hoge Hardware team defeated the Spalding Juniors in a tight game, the score being 5 to 4. The hard hitting of the hardware boys featured. Krockle, who replaced Culliver in the eighth inning, won the game for the Hoges when he drove a long hit to right to bring in the winning run. The score:

Benham Holds Fruitvale to Only 3 Hits

By EDDIE MURPHY.

The Moore Shipyard baseball team is all primed up to play its first game in the Shipbuilders' League, which will open its season next Sunday. At least it looked to be so at Fruitvale Recreation Park yesterday afternoon, when the Fruitvale Native Sons went down to defeat, 6 to 0. Artie Benham was on the mound for the shipbuilders, and the crooked arm artist was in great trim to out pitch his oldtime rival, Babe Hollis, who hurled for the Natives.

Only three hits were made off Benham by the Fruitvale Natives, while Hollis was bumped for twelve by the Moores. The Moore team of yesterday was a much faster one, than that which lost to San Leandro the Sunday before. Carl Hollings, the lad who was to have reported to the Oaks, played short for the shipbuilders, while Dooley played the full game at second. The presence of these two players in the line up has just about plugged up whatever weak spot was to be found in the team. Hollings played a great game around the short patch and put lots of life into the game.

Benham found much delight in beating his old team mates, and he was sure in great trim to perform the trick. Not once did the little left hander appear to be in any danger, and only once did the Natives threaten to score. That was in the third inning, when Pessano, the only man to reach third base off Benham, was forced to make a try for home when run off the bag by Ross. The entire infield of the Moore team took part in keeping Pessano from scoring.

Some innings, Hollis worked like a big leaguer, while in others the Moores bunched hits to make him look bad. Hollis had plenty of stuff on the ball, which is shown in the ten strikeouts to his credit. But the shipbuilders had their batting eyes with them, especially Clark Boldt, who landed four safe drives out of five trips to the plate.

Benham was given a two-run lead to start off with, when the Moores scored them in the first, on a walk to Bankhead, a double by Tobin and a single by Boldt. Bankhead's double and Starasinich's single in the third gave the ship workers another. Hollis went along fine from the third until the eighth and then the Moores did some more bombarding to score three runs. Beeson singled to center, Boldt followed with his second double of the game to left. Hallings fanned, but Dooley shot a single to left to score Beeson and Boldt. Dooley went to second on the throw to the plate, and scored the last tally, when Benham singled to center.

The only hits made by Fruitvale were gathered by E. Pessano, whom the Moores loaned to the Natives, Scanlon and Sears. Two were made in the third and the other in the seventh. In the eighth inning Benham retired the Natives by fanning three batters in a row.

After the game it was announced that the uniforms of the Fruitvale Natives will be called in and that the name of the Fruitvale Natives' team will not appear in print as playing games until probably next summer. Manager Red Powers is much pleased with the success with which the team met in its long period of spring and summer ball. The score of the game follows:

Satisfaction

The convenience of cooking with gas cannot be too strongly overestimated. It is a never-ending source of satisfaction to the busy housekeeper.

As meal time approaches and she's behind with her work she knows that a "touch" of a match will instantly give a strong, even heat.

John W. Dooley, C.S.B., Of Leeds, England, Speaks In Municipal Theater

Address Was Made Under Auspices of Third Church Of Christ Scientist

John W. Doorly, C. S. B., of Leeds, England, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture on Christian Science to a large audience in the Oakland Municipal Theater yesterday afternoon under the auspices of Third Church of Christ, Scientist, in this city.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I greet you as [illegible] Church of Christ, Scientist, of Oakland, and extend to you a loving welcome.

"Jesus, the Master, said, 'I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.' And so, my friends, Christian Science comes to you, that ye may have life more abundantly, for it teaches, as did the Master, of Life in place of death—of Truth overcoming error—of Love annulling hate and casting out fear and all manner of disease. Like the Master, it teaches, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness,' and 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind.' With John it agrees that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all,' and that this Light is the Light of men. Of the Truth, Life and Love manifested by Jesus it says with Peter, 'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.'

"Jesus also said, 'The words I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life.' The words spoken in Christian Science unfold to us that true Spirit and that true Life. That there may be more of this unfolding is the purpose of the lecture this afternoon, and it is with great pleasure that I now introduce to you Mr. John W. Doorly, C. S. B., of Leeds, England, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts."

Mr. Doorly then spoke as follows:

"Christian Science is exact and scientific in its teaching about God and about Christ, and it declares unswervingly that their true nature can and should be understood practically and intelligently here and now, and indeed that to attain any measure of real health and salvation we must first follow the injunction to 'acquaint now thyself with him (God), and be at peace.'

GOD AND HIS LAW.

"The questions therefore arise: How are we to acquaint ourselves with God? How are we to know that our view of Him is the correct one? To both these questions Christ Jesus, whose teachings all Christians acknowledge as absolute and final, has given direct answers, and Christian Science has proved these answers to be practical, religious, and scientific facts to be used in daily life. To the first question, How are we to acquaint ourselves with God? Christ Jesus replied, 'I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.' In fact he stated that the Father must be known through the Son, and through the Son only. To the second question as to how we were to decide when we had known God aright, his reply is, 'These signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.'

"The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, was raised from [illegible] to be her death-bed through her study of the Scriptures. She had grasped from them somewhat of the true nature of God, and had also perceived that Christ Jesus was not using some specially bestowed power when he performed his marvelous and convincing works, but that through his exact and comprehensive knowledge of God he was simply utilizing the ever-present divine law, which might be unknown to those who were ignorant of the Father's true nature, but which was ever available to all who understood God aright. This divine law had formerly been utilized to some extent by Abraham, by Moses, by the prophets, and later by Christ Jesus and his followers, and it is this law that Paul describes as the 'law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus,' which he declared had made him 'free from the law of sin and death.'

"Christian Science then accepts the fact that there is an ever-present, divine law which, if understood and used, will with scientific certainty make men free from the supposed law of sin and death. It is certain, however, that to appreciate this divine law we must understand the nature of God, the divine lawmaker, the only Father, the one cause.

TRUE NATURE OF GOD.

"How then are we going to understand the nature of God? It is evident that we can never understand God upon a human basis, for according to the testimony of our physical senses we cannot see, hear, touch, taste of smell God: and indeed if we relied wholly upon our five physical senses we would never know that God exists. Christian Science therefore declares that God must be understood spiritually or mentally, and that to know Him aright we must depend upon spiritual understanding. It also declares that it is the habit of relying on our five physical senses for information as to what God is that has hidden the true God from us and has caused us to worship a man-made sense of God. Therefore to understand God aright Christian Science relies on divine reason and revelation.

"What then does Christian Science say about God, basing its conclusions on reason, or correct thinking and revelation? It states that God, to be all-power, all-presence, and all-knowledge, as the Scriptures declare, must be the infinite One, for it is [illegible] that if God were not the infinite One there would be another presence, another power, and some other knowledge. Thus Christian Science teaches that God is the infinite One, the only cause and the one creator.

"Since God is the infinite One, He can never be included in anything, but He Himself includes all being in Himself. Consequently Christian Science says that no man can ever include God in his thought, for to do so he would have to be greater than God; but it says that this infinite One can be understood through thoughts or ideas which reveal His divine nature. So we [illegible] that it is impossible to outline God, or the infinite One, in our thought, but it is possible to understand the nature of God, and this is what St. John meant when he stated that 'no man hath seen God at any time: the only begotten son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.'

"For instance, if you or I should appreciate the fact that God is Spirit, as the Scriptures declare, this would in no way mean that we had included the whole of God in our thought, but it would mean that we had entertained one correct thought or idea about God which revealed His true nature; and so whenever we think truly about God we are only beholding thoughts or ideas which reveal His nature, and we are in no way including the infinite One in our thought, for this would be impossible. In fact Christian Science realizes that it would be just as idolatrous to try to outline God in our thought or to form a mental concept of some great personality and call it Deity, as it would be to make an image of wood or stone from that mental concept and call that Deity; for false views of God, whether they be mental images or material images, are equally idolatrous. When humanity appreciates the great fact that God is the infinite One, it will cease speculating about the personality of God but will begin to understand His nature, and it will then strive intelligently to be godlike.

GOD AS PRINCIPLE.

"Christian Science teaches us to think of God as Principle, and uses this word Principle to show that God is the fundamental and invariable source or cause; that He is the same yesterday, today, and forever. It has sometimes been objected that this word Principle makes God seem distant or cold, but Christian Scientists have found that the knowledge of God as infinite divine Principle, who changeth not, is the rock upon which the waves of error dash themselves in vain. Many Christian Scientists under great stress of sin and disease have gratefully recognized the nearness and dearness of God as ever-available Principle, who cannot fail to heal and to save, and whose divine law is ever operating on behalf of those who will understand and use it.

"Christian Scientists who have learned to know God as Principle are never found trying to change God through their prayers, but are rather found trying to draw nearer to Him through understanding His divine nature and conforming their thoughts and daily lives to the unchangeable nature of this infinite Principle.

"Christian Science teaches likewise that God is Mind, or, as Jesus declared, Spirit; and to be intelligent, God must be Mind. As He is also the infinite One, therefore Christian Science recognizes that Mind is one, and that Mind is creator. This truth forever obliterates the idolatrous human belief that there can be minds many, or that matter, the opposite of Mind, can be a creator.

"To sum up, therefore, Christian Science teaches that God is the infinite One, including [illegible] thing but including all true being in Himself; that He is divine Principle, and that He is also infinite Mind, or Spirit. These are all conclusions which are not only taught by the Scriptures, but, what is equally important, they can be proved in daily life in the same way that Christ Jesus proved them, by any one who is willing to understand these conclusions and to govern his life by them.

"Having gained a correct sense of God, we are now in a position to know what Christ, His expression, must be: for even if Christ Jesus had not revealed to mankind that God and His Christ were 'one,'—that is, one in quality,—it would be evident that the infinite creator, or divine Principle, could only create that which is infinitely like Himself. Christian Science therefore recognizes that the Christ must forever be the emanation or expression of the infinite One, and that he must always be one in quality and essence with the Father; that he was, therefore, 'before Abraham was,' and that he never began and could never end.

ATTITUDE TOWARD JESUS.

"It is sometimes erroneously stated that Christian Scientists do not appreciate Christ Jesus as other religionists do; but is this statement true? Do not Christian Scientists appreciate Christ Jesus and his teachings so fully that they rely on them unreservedly, not only for their own health and happiness, and indeed their very lives, but, what is even more important to them, for the health and happiness of their loved ones? Other religionists who claim that we do not appreciate Christ Jesus, because we have a more practical sense of his life teachings, should remember that they are not willing to do these things.

"It is true that Christian Scientists do not believe that the human Jesus of Nazareth was God, but they know that the spiritual man, or Christ, was the manifestation of God, and is indeed Immanuel, or 'God with us.' They also understand that this real man, or Christ was not the material personality of Jesus, which he himself declared must go away, but that his true Christliness was the Mind or consciousness which was in Christ Jesus, and that this consciousness was his spiritual reality, which, he stated, was forever present, although unseen by the physical senses.

"Is it not evident that the material body of Jesus could not still the tempest when he was asleep in the boat, but that his awakened consciousness stilled it at once? And so in some cases of healing it is recorded that Jesus was far distant from the people he healed, clearly proving that it was not his bodily presence but his consciousness, or what he knew of God and of true being, that healed those cases.

"There is no body of people on earth who recognize more the importance of Christ Jesus as the Saviour of humanity, or who accept his divine Sonship more clearly, or who are more humbly and gratefully conscious of the loving, unparalleled, and selfless sacrifice of Christ Jesus, than are Christian Scientists, and they are trying to prove this not so much by saying 'Lord, Lord,' which mere verbal expression means nothing, but by doing the will of the Father 'which is in heaven.'

"St. Paul declares, 'Henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more,' and can it be said that Christian Scientists do not recognize Christ Jesus fully, because they follow Paul's injunction and understand that the very Christ, the manifestation of God must be wholly spiritual or mental, and not material? It is the understanding that it was Jesus' mentality, or his knowledge of God and of true being, which enabled him to be Jesus the Christ that has now enabled Christian Scientists to accomplish in some measure his works.

SALVATION THROUGH CHRIST.

"Mankind, from its personal point of view, has insisted on regarding the material personality of Jesus as its Saviour, rather than his spiritual individuality, forgetting that Christ Jesus himself perceived this erroneous condition so clearly that he told his followers that if his human personality went not away the Comforter, or spiritual truth, his divine reality, would not come to them, i. e., would not be [illegible] by them. He saw that his followers were relying on his human personality and not on his Christliness or his spiritual individuality. As a matter of fact, the Holy Ghost, or consciousness of spiritual being, did not come to his followers until the human personality of Jesus had disappeared before his full recognition of his divine Sonship.

"On one occasion, when some one more than usually personal addressed Jesus as 'good Master,' Christ Jesus rebuked him with the remark, 'Why callest thou me good? there is none good bue one, that is, God.' He recognized that his questioner was regarding only his human personality, and not his divine reality, or spiritual selfhood, which alone was good, or godlike. Jesus understood more clearly than any one has ever done the nothingness of human personality and the all-importance of spiritual individuality, and he spent his life trying to turn the thoughts of men away from the human to the divine, both with regard to himself and to everything else.

"Upon careful examination it will be found that all the woes and discords of existence are based upon human ignorance of God and of His Christ, or on divergent views upon these subjects. Does any one suppose, for instance, that war would be possible between nations or individuals who understood the teachings of Christ Jesus so that they could apply them as he did? It would be utterly impossible. Therefore it is all important that we should lay aside every wrong preconceived notion about Christ, and gain the one true and therefore scientific sense of him which the Scriptures teach, and which can be proved, for this understanding alone can unite all humanity in one universal brotherhood. This understanding of Christ will bring to pass Samual Longfellow's words:

From eye to eye the signals run,
From heart to heart the bright hope glows;
The seekers of the Light are one.

One in the joy of paths untrod,
One in the heart's perennial youth,
One in the larger thought of God.'

TRUE NATURE OF CHRIST.

"Both Christian Science and the Scriptures teach that the Christ is the full and perfect expression of God, that is, of infinite divine Mind, or Spirit; and to be the full and perfect expression Christ must include all that is true, for if he did not include all that is true then Christ would not be the full expression of God.

"Christian Science therefore accepts the fact, which the Scriptures teach and which is essentially logical, that Christ must include the truth, or the spiritual reality, not only of Christ Jesus but of everybody and of everything. St. Paul clearly states this when he declares, 'There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus.'

"Christian Science thus teaches that the truth or spiritual reality of you and of me and of all things is included in the Christ: and it further states that this spiritual reality of Christ Jesus and of all things is what constitutes God's creation, spiritual and perfect, or is that which God has made and which He declared to be 'very good,' and consequently that the spiritual reality of Christ Jesus, of you, of me, and of all that exists, is what constitutes the Christ.

"Mrs. Eddy illustrates Christ in her writings by a simile, using the sun as a symbol to explain God and His Christ. She says, 'If we say that the sun stands for God, then all his rays collectively stand for Christ, and each separate ray for men and women' (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 344). The Christ, therefore, is that which manifests or expresses God, and this must necessarily be what God has created.

"What then has God created? Since God is infinite Mind, or Spirit, it is evident He could only create that which is the likeness of Mind, or that which is mental and spiritual: and as infinite Mind is that which eternally knows, therefore Mind's creation must be that which always expresses knowledge, or must be conscious existence. Also it is quite clear that infinite Mind, or Spirit, could not create its opposite, finite material things, but that it could only create its likeness, spiritual thoughts or ideas, and that each of these ideas must be eternal in its individuality and perfection, for 'whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever: nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it.' Thus God's own creations must be spiritual thoughts or ideas, each one perfect and eternal, and forever conscious of existence; and this consciousness of true being, or this true conscious being, is what we in a human way call spiritual understanding, or right knowing.

"The Christ, therefore, is that which God has created, and consists of infinite spiritual ideas, each perfect and eternal, and forever conscious of God and of true being: and this true and conscious being, or this consciousness of true being, is spiritual understanding, or right thinking.

JESUS THE CHRIST.

"Christian Science thus teaches that it was his spiritual understanding, or the Mind which was in Christ Jesus, that constituted him Jesus the Christ, and also that spiritual understanding is what always constitutes the Christ. Is it not perfectly clear that every man's individuality or spiritual reality must be what he knows that is true about God and about all being, or is his spiritual understanding?

"Does any one object to the statement that the Christ, the expression of God,—that is of infinite Spirit, or Mind,—must be wholly mental or spiritual, and must therefore be spiritual understanding or true conscious being? Of course if humanity insists on regarding God as glorified human being, it will naturally desire a glorified mortal for its Saviour, and it will remain in the same condition as Thomas, looking for the Christ in matter instead of in Spirit, or Mind: but that is not what the Scriptures teach, nor can it ever help any one to attain the knowledge of God or of true salvation.

"When humanity understands that God is infinite Mind or intelligence, it will naturally perceive that it was his spiritual understanding, or the Mind which was in Christ Jesus, that made him the true likeness of God, and it will then be willing to go a step farther and see that spiritual understanding is always the likeness of God, i. e., of infinite divine Mind, and is therefore always the Christ. Such understanding is, however, as we have seen, really the consciousness of true being, or is true and conscious being, the spiritual reality of Christ Jesus, of you, of me, and of all that God has made: and this is the Christ which is revealed throughout the Scriptures from Genesis to Revelation, the man of God's creating, the spiritual man, including the spiritual realities of all things. This appearing to human consciousness of true being is the forever coming of Christ, with power to heal the sick, reform the sinner, and comfort the sorrowing. This healing and saving power of Christ is clearly defined by Mrs. Eddy when she states that Christ is 'the divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error' (Science and Health, p. 583).

REVELATION OF CHRIST.

"It is Christ which is revealed in the first chapter of Genesis as God's image and likeness, the spiritual man, infinitely good and having dominion over all things. It was his perception of Christ, or of spiritual being, which impelled Abraham to leave the false gods of his fathers and to go out to seek a higher sense of God and a more spiritual sense of being. It was this Christ which he later beheld as Melchisedec, 'without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God,' and to whom he gave obeisance.

"It was the understanding of Christ revealing the divine nature which enabled Jacob to perceive that the truth of his being was always 'Israel,' a prince of God, and not a mortal; and it was the vision of Christ at the burning bush and on Mount Sinai which enabled Moses to guide the Israelites through many trials and to give them a fuller understanding of God and a true sense of His law. It was Christ who appeared to Job and revealed to him the allness of spiritual being and the nothingness and nakedness of material existence; and it was his perception of this Christ or spiritual man which eventually delivered him from his afflictions.

"It was the Christ, or the true sense of being, which enabled the prophets to foretell the eventual appearing of that man who would prove that the spiritual man was the real man, and that the material man was merely the mistaken human concept of man, and who could declare, 'Destroy this temple,' speaking of his material body, 'and in three days I will raise it up,' that is, will prove that the spiritual or true man is the real man, indestructible and eternal. It was also the vision of the Christ, or spiritual man, which enabled the Virgin to perceive the divine fact that God alone is the Father of man, and that the true man was not born of a material father and mother, but forever coexisted with God; and this understanding of Christ enabled her to bring forth the man Christ Jesus.

"It was the complete understanding and attainment of the Christ which later enabled Jesus of Nazareth to admonish, 'Call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven,' and which also enabled him to prove to perfection his eternal unity with the Father. It was this Christ which St. John perceived, and which he so wonderfully describes in Revelation as the holy city, New Jerusalem, the spiritual fact of being. In which he states that there is no temple of material body. It is of this Christ appearing to the spiritually-minded throughout all ages, as they have risen above the mortal sense of being, that the Scriptures are a progressive record.

"It is the revelation and demonstration of Christ which in our day has enabled the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science to perceive that the true man is wholly spiritual, for God is both the Father and the Mother of man, since the Scriptures declare, 'So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them,' and certainly God must have been both Father and Mother to create man in His image, both male and female. Finally, it is the revelation by Christian Science of the fact that Christ is the spiritual reality of all being, or is all that God has made, which has today healed and reformed a mighty multitude. It is not wonderful that Mrs. Eddy, perceiving these things, should write that 'Christ's Christianity is the chain of scientific being reappearing in all ages' (Science and Health, p. 271).

"If therefore spiritual understanding, or the consciousness of true being, is really true conscious being, or is the Christ, the expression or creation of God, then the understanding of true being must express the nature and quality of God and of God only,—that is, it must express infinite power and infinite intelligence. Therefore spiritual understanding, or the Christ, since it must express infinite power and intelligence, can have no difficulty in destroying sin, disease, and death, which are not of God, and which consequently can have in reality neither power nor intelligence. How, then, it may be asked, does the understanding of God and of true being make free from sin, disease, and death, and indeed from [illegible]

MORTAL EXISTENCE DEFINED.

"Christian Science explains, as the Scriptures also do, that all we need to be made free from is the so-called carnal mind and its effect, mortality; and that all sin, disease, and death are but effects of the mistaken belief that there can be a so-called carnal mind opposed to the one infinite Mind, God. These phenomena,—sin, disease, death, and all mortality,—being the effects of a false belief about a so-called mind, must necessarily be mortality or mistakenly mental, or are in fact a false sense.

"This false sense, mortality, seems very real to mortals, trained to believe in it and to think wholly according to the testimony of the mistaken physical senses; but Christ Jesus dismissed mortality from his calculations with the statement that 'the flesh profiteth nothing.'

"Mrs. Eddy in her book 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' dealing with the problem of material existence, answers the question 'What is matter?' in a way that will one day be recognized as supremely scientific and sublimely Christian. She declares (p. 310) that 'matter is made up of suppositions mortal mind-force.'

"It is interesting to note that even physical scientists from their material viewpoint are slowly but surely coming to the conclusion that what we call matter or material existence is but a kind of force, and later they will see that this force which is supposed to constitute material existence is but the suppositional activity of the so-called carnal mind.

"Is it so difficult to perceive that the knowledge of true being or of immortality, which is divinely mental and expresses infinite power and intelligence, can have no difficulty in overcoming mortality, which is mortally or mistakenly mental, and which has neither power nor intelligence? Thus was the way of salvation pointed out by Paul when he stated that 'to be carnally minded'—that is, to believe in the carnal mind and its effect, material existence—'is death; but to be spiritually minded'—that is, to understand one God, infinite Spirit, and His creation, spiritual being—'is life and peace.'

"Now let us take a practical example of this in human experience. I have known many people who would admit that anger had caused a headache, that a shock or fear had caused disease of various kinds, and even that excessive worry had caused bad physical conditions by poisoning the system: that is, they admit that a bad mental condition will produce a bad effect. Now tell these people that a knowledge of God and of true being, or a right mental condition, will remove these physical troubles and will remove them with certainty, and they usually refuse to believe it. In fact, they will admit that evil thinking can have an evil effect, but they cannot admit that right thinking, or spiritual understanding, which is the expression of God, and is the very Christ, and is therefore Mind, or 'God with us,' can have any power or influence at all, either to produce a good effect or to remove an evil one. Yet we call ourselves a Christian people.

"Suppose again that some one has a disease through what is called the law of heredity, that is, because his father or mother or some forebear had the same disease. What is the use of performing a surgical operation to remove that disease? Will not the law of heredity, which originally produced that disease, continue to produce it again and again, until that false law is destroyed by the spiritual understanding that God is the only creator? Also, in the case of heredity, all must admit that the trouble is in the mortal mind, since according to medical theories it is claimed that the material body is entirely altered every seven years, and therefore certainly could not contain an inherited complaint in a person over seven years old, unless it was in the person's mentality.

BASIS OF HEALING.

"Christian Science in its healing differs wholly from every material curative system, in that it deals primarily with the carnal mind, the supposed cause of all evil, instead of dealing only with its effects, sin, disease, and death. Christian Science recognizes the practicality of Jesus' question, 'How can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man?' The strong man is, of course, the carnal mind, the mist, or ignorant false sense that mortal existence, or a false sense of being, is real. Christian Science deals with its harmful effects by first destroying the belief in the so-called carnal mind itself, through the spiritual understanding that there is and can be but one infinite Mind, God, who is all-presence and all-power.

"Material curative systems deal wholly with material effects, and thus they never get to the root of the trouble, although they seem to relieve one belief of the carnal mind, called disease, by another belief of this so-called mind, named material medicine. This is, however, of no permanent benefit to mankind, because it does nothing to destroy the belief in the source of all evil, i. e., in the carnal mind itself, but rather strengthens it; and although this may relieve a mortal temporarily from suffering, it can be of no real benefit to him, and may indeed help him to continue sinning. Can any one believe that a material drug which would relieve a sinner from his disease and permit him to continue in his sin is God's way of healing?

"Christian Science on the other hand, would begin by healing the man of his sin, i. e., of his wrong thinking, of the carnal mind, or if his ignorance of God, and thus of the disease, its effect, and this would be of some permanent value to him. It would do this wholly through [illegible] God. The healing of Christ Jesus, or spiritual healing, is the same as true salvation, because it always relieves mankind from the belief that there is any power opposed to the one infinite Mind, God.

HEALING POWER OF UNDERSTANDING.

"In the presence of spiritual understanding—that is, the consciousness of true being, or of Christ—sin, disease, death, and discord of every kind lose their reality and disappear, because they are seen as falsities, having no reality, although claiming to be real according to the testimony of the five physical senses. In fact they lose their reality in the only place where they ever seemed to have any reality, that is, in the carnal mind, in human experience, or in wrong thinking, just as the belief that two and two are five loses its reality before the understanding that two and two are four.

"The perfect consciousness of true being, or of spiritual being, is not attained at once by mortals, but as day by day the fact becomes manifest to us that there can be but one creator, the divine Mind, perfect and eternal, and one creation, the ideas or thoughts of that Mind, also perfect and eternal, and we accept this fact and make it the governing motive of our daily lives, then the discords of human sense will begin little by little to lose their supposed reality in our thought, and first one and then another of our sins and sicknesses will disappear from our thought, from our experience, and from our bodies. As this fact of spiritual being and man's eternal unity with God becomes more and more real to us, then shall we be accomplishing what St. Paul terms the transforming of the body by the renewing of the mind.

"This ceaseless striving to live above the mortal and to perceive the Life divine, is steadfast communion with God, and is therefore true prayer. This is manifest in its results, for it heals the sick and saves the sinner as nothing else can. When, therefore, some one comes to a Christian Scientist needing help either from sin or from disease, the Christian Scientist at that moment begins to realize the spiritual fact that there is in reality but one cause and one effect, and that the only man there ever can be is the man of God's creating, the spiritual man, who dwells forever in the bosom of the Father, or in the consciousness of divine reality, who is spiritual and perfect, and who knows it. The Christian Scientist continues to realize God's infinite power and presence and the true man's eternal perfection in God, in spite of whatever material sense may say as to man's unlikeness to God.

"The Christian Scientist realizes that since God is Mind, the way of salvation must be through true godlikeness, that is, through right thinking or spiritual understanding, or through the consciousness of true being. He is thus availing himself of the truth about his fellow man, or of God's law; and that which heals, therefore, is the divine law, which operates through spiritual understanding or right mental activity. This law would operate equally well for any one who was willing to avail himself of it, to understand it and to be governed by it. The Christian Scientist's prayer is in fact his spiritual understanding of what God has done,—that is, of spiritual being or true being, or of God's Christ,—and this prayer is the true prayer of faith, or of spiritual understanding.

CHRIST JESUS' MISSION.

"Christ Jesus undoubtedly revealed Christ to humanity, but the great question today is, whether humanity is content, like the nine lepers, when it has felt the healing touch of the Christ, only to go and show itself to the priest, that is, only to adopt a religious belief, or whether, like the one leper, humanity is willing to turn back from religious creeds and to cast the mortal down at the feet of the Christ, the spiritual man, and thus to glorify God, and to be not only cleansed like the nine from physical beliefs, but to be healed like the one from the belief in mortality also. Christian Science healing is in no way associated with the action of the human mind, either as mesmerism or hypnotism, suggestive therapeutics, or any other healing method based on the action of the human or mortal mind, but is purely the result of letting that Mind be in us 'which was also in Christ Jesus,' i. e., of understanding God and His creation aright. Therefore Christian Science healing and reformation is in the highest sense the healing of Christ.

"The practicality of Jesus' work and its applicability to every human condition at once becomes apparent when we perceive that his mission was a constant effort to reveal to mankind the Science of spiritual being, that is, the truth about himself and about everything. Indeed, he himself described the full purpose of his mission when he declared to Pilate, 'To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth.' He lived and practised this Science of spiritual being consistently in order that he might be able to demonstrate it for us, and thus show us how this Science, or exact knowledge of true being, might be used to free the mortal from his mistaken sense of life and existence.

"The motive of Christ Jesus' life was his desire not only to save himself, through this divine way of knowing the truth, but it was to bring salvation to others, and this same motive has been particularly manifested in the life of Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

REVELATION OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

"It is this understanding of true being, of the infinite reality of spiritual being, which Mrs. Eddy discovered, and which years of struggle to live above the mortal had revealed to her. She discovered the Science of spiritual being, or of Christ, because she was the one in this age who was pure enough in thought to perceive it, and because, like all other reformers who had discerned the Christ, she was willing to give up the material and finite sense of being, and to follow that revelation which led her into the light of spiritual being. Mrs. Eddy's many years of suffering and the vicissitudes of her mortal life, combined with her intense longing to know God, all fitted her for this revelation which has done so much to bless mankind and which has already saved a vast multitude from sin, from disease, and even from death.

"After her discovery of Christian Science Mrs. Eddy spent three years studying the Scriptures, and as the true nature of God and His Christ was revealed to her she saw that she too must prove this revelation by healing the sick and the sinning. She therefore turned her attention to this work, in which she healed all manner of sin and disease. As she herself relates in her book 'Unity of Good' (p. 7), 'When I have most clearly seen and most sensibly felt that the infinite recognizes no sin, this has not separated me from God, but has so bound me to Him as to enable me instantaneously to heal a cancer which had eaten its way to the jugular vein. In the same spiritual condition I have been able to replace dislocated joints and raise the dying to speedy health. People are now living who can bear witness to these cures.'

MRS. EDDY STOOD ALONE.

"Mrs. Eddy then wrote her text-book, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' giving to the world her discovery in a clear and concise manner and turning all her followers to the daily study of the Scriptures. This text-book is not only in no way a substitute for the Bible, but it is safe to say that no book has ever been written that has caused a deeper or more consecrated study of the Scriptures than has this book.

"At first Mrs. Eddy stood alone in this mighty work of letting men know of her discovery, but later spiritually-minded men and women, whose longings had not been satisfied by creed or dogma, began to see the logic of her teaching, to study it, and to receive from it the benefits which knowing God aright must ever bring. Today this mighty multitude confesses itself beholden to the teachings of Christian Science about God and about His Christ for their health, their holiness, and their peace of mind: and they feel sure that in time, when the teachings of Christian Science are understood, all men will accord to Mrs. Eddy her rightful place as a consecrated, Christ-like woman, who has described herself (Science and Health, Pref., p. ix) as 'a willing disciple at the heavenly gate, waiting for the Mind of Christ.'

"Christian Scientists are grateful beyond measure to Jesus the Christ for his unique example and lifework, and they recognize in him the Saviour of mankind because of his knowledge of God and of true being; and they know that only as they gain spiritual understanding and live above the mortal will they too be attaining the Mind of Christ, and become fellow-heirs with him.

"In conclusion may I draw your attention to Mrs. Eddy's wonderful description of the Christ as given in one of her poems (Poems, p. 75):—

Saw ye my Saviour? Heard ye the glad sound?
Felt ye the power of the Word?
'Twas the Truth that made us free,
And was found by you and me
In the life and the love of our Lord.

Sinner, it calls you,—'Come to this fountain,
Cleanse the foul senses within;
'Tis the Spirit that makes pure,
That exalts thee, and will cure
All thy sorrow and sickness and sin.'"

Getting Rid of Colds

The easiest and quickest way to get rid of a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. No matter what remedy you use, however, care must be taken not to contract a second cold before you have recovered from the first one, and there is serious danger in this. A man of middle age or older should go to bed and stay in bed until fully recovered. It is better to stay in bed three days at the start than three weeks later on. For sale by Osgood Bros. Certain-teed
Roofing and Shingles

Public opinion has made Certain-teed a product of international prominence and use.

That great force has built up the Certain-teed business from nothing, 14 years ago, to the world's largest roll roofing industry now.

In every community under the sun, Certain-teed Roofing is giving longer and better roofing service, at a lower cost, than other kinds of roofing.

Certain-teed costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain than any other type of roof.

It is weatherproof, water proof, spark proof and fire retarding. It cannot rust or corrode. It cannot melt under the hottest sun. It is not affected by gases, acids, fumes, smoke, etc.

Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness. It is sold by good dealers, everywhere.

Liberty Bonds Interest Street But Trading Is Still Dull

NEW YORK, April 8.—Widespread interest in the new Liberty Loan caused today's stock market to lapse into its recent state of dullness. A few rails and specialties yielded one to two points.

Stocks failed at the outset of today's trading to maintain their gains of last Saturday, rails and industrials forfeiting large fractions. Among specialties like Sumatra Tobacco and minor metals recessions were extensive, National Lead losing 2½ points. Dealings were moderate, probably as a result of the financial community interest in the Liberty drive. Outstanding Liberty Bonds reacted slightly.

The moderate setback of the first half hour was largely overcome later, trading increasing slightly on the rally. Rails continued dull, but moved forward with steels and other equipments. Coppers, as a group, made the best showing and shippings retrieved virtually all the early losses. Indication of a resumption of pool activity was seen in the prominence of low-priced specialties, notably distillers, enameling, American Car and American Ice at variable advices.

Selling of rails, particularly Canadian Pacific and its subsidiary "soo" at recessions of two to almost three points provoked unsettlement in the active list during the mid-session. Prices recorded further recessions in the final hour on the six percent call money rate. The opening was heavy.

The following indicates in greater detail the movements of prices at different periods of the day:

OPENING—Stocks were generally in supply at concessions at the opening with nearly all the active issues showing fractional losses in the first fifteen minutes. Steel common indicated the general market tone, declining ⅝ to 91⅛, and small fractional losses were sustained in other steel industrials. Reading sold lower to 81½ and the same loss was sustained in St. Paul preferred and Chesapeake & Ohio. Marine preferred opened up ⅛ at 94 and then yielded to 93⅜. Mexican Petroleum sold down ⅞ to 94⅛. Industrial Alcohol, which opened at 124½, dropped to 123½. Distillers' Securities, after an opening gain of ¼ to 43¼, declined to 42¾. National Lead was without demand at the opening, selling at 56. Liberty bonds were in good demand, the 3½s selling at 98.80, while the second 4s sold at 96.28.

FORENOON—The tone turned strong soon after the opening, with the specialties becoming the most prominent features. Many of these issues were in urgent demand at advancing prices. Distillers' Securities moved up to a new high of 44¾. American Ice advanced four points to 19½, while the preferred moved up nearly five points to 48. Steel common, after selling down to 91⅛, recovered all its losses, as did most of the other steel industrials. The copper stocks moved up fractionally, while the railroads were quiet, but firm. Baldwin Locomotive was up ½ from the low of 77½. National Enamel moved up over one point to 52¾ and Marine preferred, after selling down one point to 92¾, advanced to 92⅞. Money loaning at 4 per cent.

AFTERNOON—Heavy selling of Liberty second 4s on which those bonds declined from 96.30 to 96, had an influence on trading in the stock market in the late afternoon. Distillers' Securities yielded one point to 43¾. Canadien Pacific sold down to 136¼, a loss in all of two points. Studebaker dropped over one point to 38½. Marine preferred sustained a loss of one point, selling at 93.

CLOSING—The market closed quiet. Government bonds were unchanged; railroad and other bonds steady. There was moderate recession throughout the list during late dealings. Distillers dropped 1⅝ to 43, and Baldwin one to 76½. Steel common sold of to 91. Sales, 228,600 shares; bonds, $4,205,000.

N. Y. Sun Review

NEW YORK, April 8.—The New York Sun financial review today said:

Today's session of the stock market reverted to the dullness which prevailed most of last week. The undertone of the general list was firm, although prices swayed backward and forward, leaving net changes but slight for a good part of the day. Among the strong issues were Baldwin, Distillers, Anaconda, National Enameling, American Ice, common and preferred, and one or two others. Studebaker was one of the few distinctly weak features. Rails were soft and thin. General Motors and Studebaker developed weakness in the last hour.

Note—Stations marked * are afternoon reports of preceding day.

A wireless was received from the steamer Costa Rica on Saturday stating that the vessel had met with heavy weather and was short of fuel. She is on her way to this port from Calcutta, under charter to Fred Linderman of Alameda, and has a full cargo of freight. A tug has been sent out from Honolulu to locate the craft and tow her into port. The Costa Rica was formerly a Pacific Mail liner, but was sold to L. A. Pedersen, who overhauled the craft at Oakland and placed her in the Alaska salmon trade. She returned home on September 8 last with 23,200 cases of salmon and the cannery employees.

Now that only a few Alaska craft are left in Oakland harbor, men along the waterfront are not so plentiful as a few weeks ago. The steamers Unimak of the Alaska Packers, will remain here this season and will be sold. The Unimak was formerly the steamer Redwood City and was built in Alameda 16 years ago. She was purchased by the packers and used as a cannery tender under command of Magnus Hansen for nearly 14 years. Hansen this season was given command of the steamer Chilkat and is on his way to Alaska.

SUMMER TERM IS OPENED.

The summer term of the Public Navigation School opens tonight at 7:15 o'clock at the San Francisco Ferry building. This class is absolutely free as to tuitions. All that the students are required to buy is their instruction book. There is no limit to age, and men from all bay cities are welcome as members.

The liquor which was aboard the Dutch steamship seized in this bay, has been removed and the craft now under control of the United States Shipping Board are bone dry. The liquor was turned over to the government officials. Each steamer was well supplied, all being imported from foreign countries.

W. L. Comyn, president of the San Francisco Shipbuilding Company, building concrete ships, left for Washington, D. C. today to confer with the United States Shipping board, and expects to return home within a month with three contracts for the construction of concrete craft, as he is sure the first concrete craft, the Faith, will be a success.

Major H. W. Patten, editor of the Hoquiam Daily Washingtonian, sails as a guest of Captain Ralph Peasley on the schooner Fred J. Wood. The craft is loaded with lumber and is to sail for the South Seas; the trip will take about six months.

SOUTH COAST HITS DOCK.

The steamer South Coast was damaged yesterday while coming down from Port Costa, having ran into the dock. It will take a few days to repair her. The South Coast is one of the first steam schooners built on this coast thirty-one years ago and has always been considered a very lucky craft, until the past few years when she has met with disaster. One voyage a few months ago, she came into port minus her main mast, and another trip later she arrived with half of her deck-load of lumber lost.

Change of masters registered at the United States Custom House: Captain N. P. Neilson, bark Emily F. Whitney; Captain H. P. Jensen, ship Bohemia; Captain J. A. Rumsey, steamer Richmond; Captain E. E. Lapahia, steamer La Primera.

(688) California—San Francisco Bay—Oakland Harbor—South Jetty Light destroyed—Provisional light.—On March 4, 1918, Oakland Harbor South Jetty Light was detroyed. A temporary fixed red light of 10 candlepower is exhibited 25 feet above the water, from the western dolphin, about 75 yards 225 degrees from the position of the destroyed light, in 16 feet of water.

WINTER WHEAT GROWTH SHOWN

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Winter wheat production this year will be 560,000,000 bushels, the Department of Agriculture estimated today in its report showing the condition of the crop on April 1 to be 78.6 per cent of a normal.

IDENTITY OF HOTEL THIEF ESTABLISHED

That the identity of the mysterious burglar who has been operating in the Hotel Oakland for several weeks, has been learned, and that he is a guest, is the belief of the police and the hotel management today, following an attack made upon Mrs. A. G. Kelly, a guest who intercepted a man whom she met leaving her room. Mrs. Kelly is the daughter of Hugh Craig, former Mayor of Piedmont.

Mrs. Kelly had left her room for a few minutes and on her return saw the man leaving. According to her verson of the circumstance, the man made an excuse that he had gotten into the wrong room. She insinuated otherwise and claims that she grasped him by the arm. He turned and stabbed her on the arms and knocked her down with his fist, leaving her in a dazed condition as he fled through the corridors.

Screams from the plucky woman attracted the attention of James Couwenberger, a bell boy, who saw and followed the man to the seventh floor from the fifth floor where the attack occurred. There he lost trail of him.

That subsequent negligence on the part of Manager Maurice Shenick frustrated the police in their effort to capture the suspect and allowed him to leave the hotel two hours later, was charged today by Captain of Inspectors Harry E. Green, following reports made of the case by Inspectors Thomas Wood and Thomas Pardee.

According to the inspectors, Manager Shenick refused to permit the officers to search the rooms of transients on the seventh floor and discouraged them from remaining in the hostelry. He also, it is said, refused to follow the police suggestion that the bell boy who had seen the man, remain in the lobby in plain clothes in an effort to identify him.

Subsequent investigation disclosed the fact that there was blood on a doorknob on the seventh floor in a room occupied by a guest who is suspected. A maid, Margie Brown, reported that she had taken bloody towels from the room. The same guest departed from the hotel, wearing a different suit than the one he was wearing at the time of the attack, the hotel management says.

Manager Shenick denied today that he had interfered with the plans of the police for capturing the thief. He stated that he believes the seventh floor guest is the same man who has registered there several times recently on which occasions rooms have been robbed.

DEMON RUM IS' NOT WELCOMED IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—Only the most elusive quart of whisky reaches Portland.

Two hundred and forty-three such quarts started for this city on the steamer Rose City, and although four of them arrived, not one reached its intended destination.

The Rose City was first searched at Astoria, where 239 quarts were discovered and confiscated. It was searched again upon arriving here and four quarts were found. Later a third searching party visited the vessel.

ENGINEERS NEED MEN FOR FRANCE

Enlistments can now be taken at the Oakland recruiting station for the new inland waterways regiment of engineers being organized by Colonel James F. Bell, with headquarters at Laurel, Maryland. This regiment is to operate barges and boats on the rivers and canals of France, the most highly developed inland waterways system in the world.

The work, it is pointed out by the officers in charge, offers special opportunities to qualified men, and men of experience as steersmen, bargemen, ship carpenters, blacksmiths, gas engineers, saddlers, sailmakers and a few clerks. Men must pass regular military examination, and drafted men cannot be accepted, although they may have opportunity later to transfer to the regiment.

Recruiting officers here have authority to enlist qualified men without approval of the colonel of the regiment. Further information may, however, be obtained by addressing Colonel James F. Bell, Engineers, N. A. Laurel, Maryland.

Martial Law Will Quell Revolution

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, April 8.—The Costa Rican Congress has proclaimed martial law in connection with the revolutionary outbreak on the southern border and the government is taking necessary steps to capture or disband the rebels. It was thought that Jorge Vilio, the rebel leader, who is a priest, and his followers had been disarmed by the Panaman government.

May Exile Former Czar Into Urals

LONDON, April 8.—A Reuter's despatch from Moscow confirms the report recently published in the Petrograd newspapers that the Bolshevik government has decided to remove the former imperial family from Tobolsk to a town in the Ural mountains.

FEAR DANGER IN CLOSING OF ESTUARY AT 4

Declaring that industrial interests in the upper estuary valued at millions of dollars were being placed in jeopardy by fire hazard through the county's handling of the three estuary bridges at Park and High streets and Fruitvale avenue, the American Dredging Company today filed formal protest with the Board of Supervisors against the closing of the channel to ship traffic after 4 p. m. and during night hours.

Under the present arrangement the bridges in question are controlled from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. After that hour, according to the dredging concern, the channel is closed to vessels of any save the smallest draft. This prevents, it is alleged, the protection of manufacturing industries above the bridges by fire tugs. The dredging company points out that such a condition not only places in jeopardy established industries but property of their own as well which is shortly to be established above the bridges.

WANT MOTORCYCLIST.

Suggestion is made that a single bridge operator equipped with a motorcycle could operate all three bridges by running ahead of incoming or outgoing craft and operating all three bridges during the night hours when such operation was necessary. The communication was filed and an investigation ordered. If it develops that need exists for operation of the three bridges in question along the lines outlined by the dredging company, it was announced that provision would be made.

The board today awarded bids for the alteration and construction of additions to the county courthouse to James H. Pedgrift. Pedgrift's bid was $2294. An award of a contract for $1125 for furnishings and fittings for the county auditor's office was awarded to Schnebley & Hostrawser.

APPROVE CHANGES.

Changes in the contracts covering alterations in the Hall of Records were approved today by the board. Lester H. Stock was granted an increase of $93, the Fay Engineering Company $27.50, for necessary changes in the general construction work. Robert Dalziel Jr., the third contractor on the work, received no increase.

The supervisors authorized the purchase of the following property, properly appraised and approved, for the bascule bridge approaches, in the following amounts: Anna F. Lane, $12,250; A. J. Galbreath Real Estate Company, $9000; P. T. Butler, $4500.

J. J. Hagerty, county live stock inspector, filed his report with the board, asserting that he had traveled 413 miles in the past month, and in that time had inspected 1954 cattle, 320 horses, 760 sheep, forty-seven dogs, of which three had rabies. He reported on one case of hog cholera only, which he declared had been prevented from spreading by prompt vaccination.

Road work in Castro Valley, totaling $1387, was appproved and contractors' claims ordered paid. The work was on the Castro Valley roadway from East Fourteenth street to Kelly avenue.

LODGE ASKS MONEY.

The Knights of Pythias requested, in formal communication, the appropriation of $300 from the county entertainment fund for the reception of delegates to the fraternal convention of the order and its women's auxiliaries, which opens in Oakland on May 20 with 600 accredited delegates in attendance. The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

Vacancies in the Newark fire district, caused by the removal of F. Falk without the district and the death of Ross Ingraham, were filled by the board by the appointment of Frank Jones and J. D. Silva Jr. to fill the positions, respectively.

Orin Page, Tom Wilson and M. Copman were employed at a salary of $3.50 a day for six days to rearrange certain books and records in the basement of the Hall of Records.

A report filed on the condition of the tuberculosis patients at the county infirmary showed that all had been transferred to the Arroyo sanitarium but four, who refused to leave and refused to give any reason therefor. The board ordered an investigation. At the present time, according to the report, there are forty-seven at Arroyo and twenty-five at San Leandro, who would be disposed of within a short period. Conditions were said to be better than usual.

Behind Tragedy Is Love Triangle Again

DENVER, Colo., April 8. — John Schaedel, 38, is dead today, a victim of the eternal triangle, and Edward Thompson, 56, is being held on a homicide charge, following the shooting of Schaedel at his home here. Mrs. Minnie Thompson, 39, wife of the prisoner, who was housekeeper for Schaedel, told police officials, they say, that her husband called Schaedel to the front door of the latter's home, and after accusing him of breaking up the Thompson home, fired two shots into his breast.

PICTURES WILL EMPHASIZE PLEA

Appeals illustrated with moving pictures and colored war scenes will be made this evening by the Oakland War Service League at the Emerson, Lockwood and McChesney schools. At each auditorium there will be patriotic entertainments and short talks by Four Minute Men and others.

The first quarterly report of the War Service League has been issued and shows that there are now 19,876 members who have signed the patriotic pledge of the organization. Twenty-one clubs have been formed in different parts of the city and regular meetings are held every week in the auditoriums of the public schools. The report of Secretary Charles D. Haines says:

"The purpose for which the League was formed is being most effectively and practically carried out. Its powerful organization renders every assistance to war patriotic movements throughout the city. It is now giving its best efforts, in connection with the Liberty Bond campaign, to secure the quickest and largest results, and has mailed a special plea to each of its members. The weekly entertainments of the various clubs are made highly interesting and instructive by the assistance of the Federal Government in providing the League with colored slides of a military and patriotic nature.

The effect of our efforts to uncover disloyalty has been very successful and has met with the approval of the federal authorities. The membership is steadily growing and in some precincts it includes every resident."

Next Thursday evening, Rev. E. C. Phillco, a national orator on war service work, will speak at a meeting of the League in the Garfield school, on Twenty-third avenue. In connection with Dr. Phillco's lecture Colonel Higgens, well known war lecturer, will display an entirely new set of colored slides of actual war scenes, supplied by the war department. Patriotic songs and music will complete the program, to which the public is invited.

Soldier Near Death As Result of Dive

CAMP KEARNY, San Diego, April 8.—Private Willard Best of the 144th field artillery (California Grizzlies) sustained a fracture of the spine when he dived into a shallow pool of water, it became known today. Best's battery was on a field hike and several of the men went swimming in a stream near Miramar. Best thought the water was deep and dived into it from a height of about eight feet, but found the depth to be less than a foot.

The injured man was removed to the base hospital here and was operated on. His condition tonight is said to be favorable for recovery. His father, P. N. Best, of Potholes, Cal., is on his way here.

Advertising Club to Hear About English

The British labor situation will be the topic of discussion tomorrow before the Advertising Club of the Chamber of Commerce, when Professor Graham A. Laing of the University of California will speak on British conditions. Invitations have been sent to local union labor leaders to attend the luncheon, and the Commonweal Committee, composed of shipbuilding heads and labor leaders, will attend in a body.

Jury Tampering Inquiry Is Dropped

CHICAGO, April 8—Federal Judge Landis announced today he has decided to drop his proposed inquiry into the prosecution's charges of jury tampering in the I. W. W. sedition trial here. District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, whose charges resulted in a sudden stop to the examination of veniremen late Saturday, and postponement of the trial until next Monday, withheld announcement of his plans to press action against the I. W. W. jury investigators.

Joins Army; Dies on Second Day in Camp

TACOMA, Wash., April 8.—After having served but one day in the national army, Walter Hay, private in 17th Company, 177th depot brigade, died at Camp Lewis base hospital. He came from Los Angeles.

Wilford Gergeant, 22, private in 364th machine gun battalion died at the base hospital. The body will be sent to Hoytsville, Utah, where his parents reide.

Mrs. Nat Goodwin V Presses Divorce Suit

NEW YORK, April 8.—Margaret Moreland hasn't made it up with Nat Goodwin, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The fifth Mrs. Nat is going right ahead with her suit for divorce, regardless of the fact that she helped Nat win a recent suit.

Mrs. Nat No. 5 names a number of girls in her suit, but insists they interest no one but herself. "Nat had a good time, any way," she charges.

BELGIUM TO DERIVE HELP FROM SALES

Many hundreds of dollars will be added to the fund for the relief of the Belgian women and babies by tonight when the Forget-Me-Not drive closes at midnight. All over the east bay cities today both real and artificial flowers were sold and pretty baskets were emptied and refilled as fast as the headquarters could supply the scores of matrons and young girls who assisted in the sale of the blooms. Mrs. Oscar Sutro of Piedmont was captain of the corps and her lieutenants, leaders in east bay society, were stationed wherever the crowds assembled at the morning and noon hours.

Tonight the drive will continue in the theaters in the city and at the hour when commuters return from the trans-bay cities.

A dozen or more girls from Miss Ransom's school were stationed during the early morning hours at the Key Route Inn and Fortieth street station and up to 10 a. m. the former had returns of more than $100 to show for their endeavor.

Among those who presided in the downtown district were Mrs. Allen Chickering, Mrs. William Ede, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton, Mrs. Augustus Bray, Mrs. Clinton Walker. Some of those who participated in the drive were Mrs. Percival Walker, Mrs. Burr Eastwood, Mrs. Lulu Rued Webster, Mrs. Harold Aydelotte, Mrs. Carl Warnecke, Miss Elva Ghirardelli, Miss Helen Rodolph and scores of others.

The drive was carried on for the benefit of the California committee for relief in Belgium and France, Piedmont Chapter, of which Miss Marion Ransom is chairman.

Stay of Execution Granted Bolo Pasha

PARIS, April 8.—Shortly following the action of President Poincare in refusing clemency to Bolo Pasha, convicted of treason in acting as the agent of German propaganda in France, which caused the expectation that his execution would not be long delayed, it was announced today that the military judicial authorities had granted Bolo a reprieve. Their action was based upon the representation of his attorney, Albert Salles, that the convicted man had revelations to make to the authorities.

The length of the reprieve is not given in the official announcement, which in making public the fact of the reprieve, states that it is granted "for the moment."

SHOTS A MYSTERY

Investigation made by the police early this morning into the cause and source of four shots that were heard in the vicinity of Boehmer street, East Oakland, was fruitless, according to a report today.

Red Blood—
The Driving Force of Life

Rich, pure blood is the driving force of life. When you are truly red-blooded, you can move mountains. Without red blood, you are defeated before you start the race.

Now one of the most conspicuous facts about Nature is her health-restoring power. Ordinarily she requires your help, not in the form of medicine but in the form of exercise, fresh air, sleep and a well-balanced diet. However, men and women often find it impossible to keep up a diet so perfectly balanced that it provides all the elements necessary for the proper feeding of the body and brain. It is then that they feel the need of a blood food—such as

Perhaps you already are taking Gude's Pepto-Mangan—under your physician's orders. For thousands of doctors regularly use and prescribe Gude's Pepto-Mangan in cases where blood poverty is apparent.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan builds the body by building the blood. It supplies the red blood cells with just the elements they need, and increases their power to carry nourishment—in the form of oxygen—from the lungs to all the body cells and tissues. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a splendid general tonic and appetizer. It digests easily, and is exceedingly pleasant to taste either in its normal form or in milk, water, or sherry.

FRIENDLY WARNING: There are many imitations of Pepto-Mangan on the market, but you can be sure of getting the genuine if it bears the name "Gude" and is put up in the bottle and sealed package as pictured here. Ask for it by its full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan." For sale at all drug stores.
